SCENE OF HORROR.

Smash on English Electric Line.

Train from Liverpool Strikes an Empty Train at Hall Road Station.

Twenty-three People Killed and Many Injured, but Few Fatally Hurt.

Wreckage Takes Fire—Spectators Overcome by the Spectacle.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LIVERPOOL, July 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] An electric train on the Lancashire and Yorkshire road, bound from Liverpool to Southport, collided this evening with an empty stationary train at the Hall Road station, causing the death of twenty-three persons and the injury of many. The car of the express, which was crowded, was smashed to pieces, and only six of its occupants escaped. The road was recently given an electric equipment.

This is the first serious accident that has occurred on an electric railway in England, and it filled with horror the numerous waiting passengers standing at the railroad station, who were spectators of the disaster.

The collision lifted the first car of the express completely off the steel frame and crashed it down again on the unfortunate passengers, twenty of whom were killed outright. More of them would have been killed, but for the presence of mind of a Liverpool architect who, seeing that a collision was inevitable, shouted to his fellow-passengers to throw themselves upon the floor of the car.

Almost immediately after the crash the wreckage burst into flames. The mangled bodies of the dead and the cries of the injured vainly beseeching that they be extricated from the burning wreckage greatly affected the spectators. Many women on the platform fainted.

The victims included several women and children. Fortunately, the number of fatally injured is comparatively few. The cause of the collision is unknown.

APPROVED BY PARLIAMENT.

SWEDISH REPORT ON THE CRISIS ADOPTED.

Recommendation Regarding Negotiations for Dissolution Adopted Unanimously—Objection in the Second Chamber to the Proposed Loan of Twenty-five Million Dollars.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STOCKHOLM (Sweden) July 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Both houses of the Swedish Parliament today approved of the report of the special committee appointed by Parliament to deal with the crisis between Sweden and Norway. In the first chamber, the report was adopted without debate.

In the second chamber, the recommendation in the report regarding negotiations for a dissolution was adopted unanimously, but there was some objection to the proposed loan of $25,000,000 to meet the new conditions. About a score of members voted against the loan, the Social Democrat leader, Herr Branting, pointing out the danger of militarism, and declaring that the proposed loan was contrary to the political spirit of the recommendation to negotiate. It was a dangerous precedent, he said, for Sweden never heretofore had borrowed money for military purposes, and he feared Norway would regard it as being in a nature of a threat of war.

This view was contested by other speakers, who pointed out that the Riksdag, by its unanimous approval of the conditions of dissolution, has voiced its willingness to dissolve the union and its desire for peace, both in the present and in the future.

The number of fatalities has not been established.

WRITING HISTORY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 27.—Tatischeff, formerly Russian financial agent in London and now a member of the Bureau of Press Administration, is writing for the government a history of the revolutionary movement in Russia. The work has now been brought up to the year 1896.

GREGORIAN CHANT.

Decree of Pope Pius X Ordering Its Restoration is Summons for International Congress.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. J. B. Young, S. J., of St. Francis Xavier's Church, has made public a formal invitation to the International Congress for Gregorian Chant to be held at Strasburg, in Alsace, from August 16 to 19.

The congress is the outcome of Pope Pius Tenth's decree ordering the restoration of the traditional Gregorian chant in Roman Catholic churches throughout the world, and the exclusion of women from the choir. The invitation embraces the clergy and all laymen interested in church music, and the purpose is to crystallize sentiment in support of the Papal measure, to promote its execution, and to extend familiarity with the Gregorian Chant.

BUZZING OF BEE FROM OMAHA.

HARRIMAN HAS HIS EYE ON PROJECTED ENTERPRISES.

Lively Gossip from the Nebraska Railroad Center About the "New Road to San Francisco" and the Huntington Electric Lines Along Southern Sunny Seashores.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Bee tonight says that one of the objects of E. H. Harriman's coming visit to the West is to look into the projected construction of five great tunnels through the Sierra Nevada mountains to take the place of 41 miles of snowsheds which protect the Southern Pacific as it traverses the great divide.

It says, further, that Harriman is to meet D. H. Moffat at Denver, presumably to confer with him about the future of the new road from Denver to Salt Lake City. There is much talk in railroad circles, it says, to the effect that the new road may be continued on to San Francisco, and if the Gould people have not already acquired a controlling interest in it, the Harriman interests will seek to do so.

The Bee continues: "H. E. Huntington is said to have a gold mine in the traffic which his motor lines carry between Los Angeles and Redondo, and Mr. Harriman is said to have his eye on Coronado Beach or another rival of Redondo, and to have determined on extensive investments in electric-line property in Southern California as a competitor of Huntington. Huntington's revenues have been materially swelled by the entrance of the San Pedro road, and on the theory that Harriman controls this road, it is argued that he is too shrewd to allow the fruits of his skillful labors to be garnered entirely by others."

KEEP STATUES WARM.

CHICAGO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the pretentious garden of art which he has planned to adjoin his Oak Park home, Banker John Farson will cover the statues of Venus and Diana, Sundays, with pink and blue kimonos and gingham sunbonnets, and the male statues will be garbed in pajamas Sunday. Farson has purchased six lots on which to build his garden. Another "hanging garden," of the kind that suited the fancy of Nebuchadnezzar, will be built. This garden will be enclosed in glass in winter.

RADIUM CHEAPENED.

BERLIN, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The German scientific world is much interested in the discovery made by Herr Erfeurt, a chemist, who has succeeded in transmitting the qualities of radium to a substance he calls "radiopher." Radiopher can be made cheaply. It is of great use in medical practice, for it can be injected under the skin and in other parts of the body. It is said to possess all the qualities of original radium.

SHONTS INSPECTS CANAL.

PANAMA, July 27.—President Shonts and a party of canal officials went today to inspect the route from Panama to Culebra. Among the subjects which President Shonts has discussed with Gov. Magoon was the construction of quarters and places for the recreation of employés, to which much importance is attached.

MORGAN'S MANY SUITS.

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. P. Morgan likes to be well dressed, so he is coming back to New York presently from London with 127 suits of clothing, which, piled on top of each other, would reach to the fourth story of a Wall-street office building. They cost him something over $10,000.

FOUR KILLED IN FREIGHT WRECK

HELENA (Mont.) July 27.—Four men have been killed by the wrecking of an east-bound freight train on the Northern Pacific, between Meyers and Big Horn, about seventy miles east of Billings. The washing out of an iron bridge over a small stream caused the engine and four cars to plunge into the stream. The dead are: James Wilson, engineer, Forsyth; Edward Lucifer, fireman, Forsyth, and two unknown tramps. The injured are John Campbell, brakeman, Forsyth, and one unknown man. The company is making every effort to clear the track for through traffic.

THE GREAT WAR.

JAPANESE ADVANCING UPON VLADIVOSTOK.

Light on Komura's Appointment as Peace Commissioner Shows Japan's Programme is for Oyama to Strike Decisive Blow at Linevitch Before Negotiations Begin. Envoys Pass Day at Oyster Bay.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

KUANCHANGTSU, (Manchuria) July 27.—[By Asiatic Cable]. According to reports from Korea, the Japanese continue advancing along a forty mile front. Their vanguard is now about eighty miles from the mouth of Tumen River. The Koreans estimate the strength of the Japanese at about 40,000 men. Their main force is concentrated at Kenchen.

LANDING CONFIRMED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 27.—Gen. Linevitch confirms the report that Japanese destroyers landed a battalion of infantry at Dastier July 24, occupied the lighthouse and hoisted the Japanese flag.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—An interesting story is current in diplomatic circles regarding the selection of Baron Komura as Japan's chief plenipotentiary. According to this story, Japan had hardly less trouble than did Russia in finding an official willing to undertake this delicate mission. Baron Komura was finally induced to accept it, with the stipulation that before the conference assembled the following things should be done:

First, the flotation of a new loan, in order that Japan should be prepared to continue the war in event the effort for peace failed.

Second, the occupation of the island of Sakhalin.

Third, an advance against Vladivostok.

Fourth, that Oyama should strike a decisive blow at the Russian army in Manchuria.

The fact that the first three stipulations have been fulfilled, while advices from the front indicate the imminence of a general engagement, would indicate that the story is well founded.

STARTLING PROPOSAL.

As a clearer idea is gained of Japan's peace terms, the character of which was outlined in the Associated Press last night, the skepticism with which Washington received the European reports that Japan would demand the neutralization of Vladivostok has lessened. In fact, it is learned that not only is this likely to constitute one of Japan's demands, but it will be accompanied by a startling proposal. In effect, according to seemingly well informed sources, Japan will propose, in return for the neutralization of this last Russian fortress on the Pacific, not to fortify Port Arthur. Should this information prove correct, it will change entirely the view which has prevailed in official circles that the question of Vladivostok's neutralization could not reasonably be made a part of Japan's peace price.

"It is pointed out that, while the war has demonstrated that Port Arthur was a military blunder, nevertheless, this great fortification constitutes a tremendous political influence on the Far Eastern question and its abandonment as a stronghold is a concession of such magnitude that it is not felt that Russia can afford to refuse to receive it. On the other hand, the sacrifice would not be as great as appears at first glance because the fortification of the Straits of Korea would offset the loss of Port Arthur as a strategic point.

It is believed here that the question of Vladivostok will prove one of the most difficult which the conference will face, as Russia has not concealed her disinclination to permit it to enter into the negotiations.

A subject for the plenipotentiaries to settle will be the surrender of all the Russian ships now interned in neutral ports. Some are inclined to believe that this demand will form one of the "essentials," while others claim ground for believing that Russia may induce Japan to take these in part payment of the indemnity.

NO ARMISTICE.

Little progress has been made in the direction of an armistice. London has not seen its way clear to aid the President in his efforts to this end, and Japan has in the most determined manner indicated its unwillingness to consent to an armistice until her plenipotentiaries have met the Russians in the conference. The object of this, it is explained in an authoritative quarter, is because Japan wishes to be assured that Russia is prepared to negotiate in seriousness for peace before Oyama yields any ground or gives the Russians time to increase their forces at the front.

COLLECTING INDEMNITY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERLIN, July 27.—In view of the probability of an early peace between Russia and Japan, the terms of which will involve the payment of a very heavy indemnity by Russia, the financiers of Europe have been holding conferences to the end that the indemnity may be paid without seriously disturbing the finances of the world.

The Mendelssohns, the Berlin bankers, who have been for many years the representatives on the continent of the Russian government and who have negotiated many of the Russian loans, have formed an alliance with the Rothschilds in respect to the matter, and have held communications with all the leading financial institutions both on the continent and in England. They are about to send their representatives to New York, with a view to enlisting the coöperation of the larger financiers of the United States.

It is likely that a Russian loan for the purpose of paying the indemnity will be scattered and that a considerable portion will be taken in the United States. J. Pierpont Morgan, after having conferred with a number of financiers of England, is sailing today for New York.

TREASURY BILLS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—Consul-General Uchida has received the following cablegram from Tokio: "The Japanese government will issue treasury bills of $12,500,000 tomorrow and deliver them to the Bank of Japan, to renew bills falling due for the same amount issued in April last."

GERMANY PERIL TO OUR FARMS.

EXCESSIVE DUTIES NEXT MARCH SHOWN IN TRUE LIGHT.

Judging from Numbers Who Will Attend Coming Reciprocity Conference America is Awakening to the Menace Which Threatens Her Agricultural Prosperity.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER, July 27.—J. H. Gwinn, secretary of the National Livestock Association, says the most encouraging returns are pouring in from the invitations sent out to the stock organizations of the country to attend the reciprocity conference to be held in Chicago August 16 and 17. He has also received word from Alvin H. Sanders, chairman of the reciprocity committee, that fully 5000 responses have been received in Chicago from the various prominent trade organizations and individuals who intend to be present.

Said Mr. Gwinn: "Surely agricultural America will awaken to the fact that a serious menace to our prosperity impends in the shape of the new European policy, and an appeal is made to all who have the interests of our producing class at heart to coöperate in making the Chicago conference the starter of an agitation which will be heard in the District of Columbia.

"Notice has been served upon us by the German government that in March next the leading products of American farms will be subjected to such excessive duties in German market as to practically prohibit our competitive trade in that country. In 1904, we sold Germany our products to the extent of $216,000,000 in value and got from her $106,000,00 of her products.

"That trade was secured under the commercial agreement of July 13, 1900, authorized by the Dingley Bill, which opened the German market for American goods. Such a market is surely worth keeping and I would like to see it expanded."

COTTON KING'S CAUTION.

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cotton King Price today indignantly denied the reports circulated in financial circles that, following his extraordinary recuperation in Wall street, he had deeded $1,000,000 to his wife. Price does not deny that he has made several times that sum in cotton gambling, but declares he has no intention of following in the steps of his lamented predecessor, Sully.

ALL UNDER ONE HEAD.

Belmont to Unite the Street Railways of New York—Tammany Booming McClellan.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tammany's grip on the city's throat and the utter subserviency of powerful interests to Boss Murphy is well illustrated by a report from high authority that Belmont, who is head of the Interborough Company, is at the head of a syndicate formed to put all roads in New York under one head. Boss Murphy has blocked all Belmont's attempts to secure franchises in the new territory, holding them up, it is declared, in behalf of the Metropolitan Company, for the purpose of enhancing Metropolitan stock and forcing the Inter-borough to buy the Metropolitan out.

M'CLELLAN'S BOOM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The World, in discussing Tammany's plans for the coming campaign, says Charles F. Fornes, president of the Board of Aldermen, looms up as an important figure. Charles F. Murphy feels there is nothing to beat McClellan for reëlection for the four-year term. He figures that in 1906, the Democrats will have to come to the city for a candidate for governor and that McClellan will be the logical candidate. In case of his election, he would have the inside track for the Democratic presidential nomination. Should he be elected, there would be a vacancy in the office of mayor, and Fornes would step into the place.

"DOUBLE CROSS" BY HARRIMAN.

SALT LAKE ROAD TIED UP BY A SLICK ARRANGEMENT.

Clark's Cars Cannot be Switched Over the Southern Pacific Tracks in Southern California for Loading and Delivery of Through Freight, but Only for Local Traffic.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The dispute in the switching rights of the Salt Lake road in the southern part of the State are to be made the subject of another conference between the traffic officials of the Salt Lake road and the Southern Pacific in this city Monday next. It will be an important meeting, for upon its results will depend a matter of grave importance to the Clark road. The conference is expected to settle the question of whether or not the Clark road shall have the right to receive from and deliver to the Southern Pacific Company through freight originating at or destined to points on the latter's lines in Southern California.

It is a matter of common gossip in local railroad circles that Clark was given the "double cross" by Harriman in the settlement of the Salt Lake-Oregon Short Line deal. Harriman sold the southern branch of the Oregon Short Line to the Clark road, taking in payment a half-interest in the Clark company. Coincident with this deal, the Southern Pacific entered into an arrangement with the Salt Lake road, under which the latter's cars were switched over the Southern Pacific system in Southern California for loading and delivery of freight.

Under the terms and conditions of the contract, the Salt Lake road was bound not to build any branch lines or feeders into Southern Pacific territory, in the southern part of the State. It was a beautiful arrangement from the standpoint of the Clark interests, and it worked with entire satisfaction until the Clark road completed its gap in Nevada and started to operate its short line to Salt Lake.

With the opening of the Clark road, the officials of the company were not long in finding out that they placed different interpretations on the switching arrangements than did the traffic officials of the Southern Pacific. The latter held that the switching arrangement was entered into when the Salt Lake road was a local line running between San Pedro, Los Angeles and Riverside, handling only local freight, and that the contract was never intended to cover the switching of through freight.

In other words, the Southern Pacific took the stand that it could not permit the Salt Lake road to solicit traffic that was controlled by the Southern Pacific and situated on Southern Pacific rails.

USE FOR GUNBOATS.

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An officer of the Brooklyn navy yard, who was among the most ardent advocates of the plan of turning the gunboats of the Bennington type over to the States or cutter service, said today: "There is continual complaint from the States on account of inadequate boat facilities for building up the naval militia of Brooklyn alone. All it has is the little yacht Aileen, which is a toy when considered in the light of a training ship for those who may be among the future defenders of the nation on the sea. So it is throughout the United States. The training of State sailors is not worthy of the name of instruction in many instances, because of the ancient craft placed at the disposal of the States."

DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Equitable Makes a Pension Cut.

Widows of Hyde and Alexander Exempt Because of Business Reasons.

Morton Says They Have Surrendered Certain Contracts to the Society.

Figures from the Report of the Auditor Show That Assets Increased.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The directors of the Equitable society today voted to abolish several pensions paid by the society, and to reduce as many more, effecting a saving of $25,000 a year. It was decided that no pensions paid by the Equitable to retired employés should be equivalent to more than 50 per cent. of the salary of said employés when in the active service of the society.

Two Equitable annuities which were made exempt from this ruling were that enjoyed by the widow of Henry B. Hyde, and that to be paid to the widow of James W. Alexander at his death. In announcing the result of the three hours' conference of the Equitable directors, President Morton made it known that Mrs. Alexander's pension was to be $18,000 a year, and Mrs. Hyde's is to remain at its present figure of $25,000.

"These sums," said Morton, "are not pensions, but annuities made over to Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. Alexander in consideration of the surrender by them of certain contracts to the society. The question of the legality of these annuities has been referred to my special counsel and, of course, should they find the society is not bound in law to pay them, they will be discontinued. George F. Victor and Ernest B. Kruttschnitt were elected directors, and upon my resignation as chairman of the Board of Directors, that office was abolished."

It was rumored in Wall Street this afternoon that Alton B. Parker is to be chief counsel for the Legislative committee which is to investigate the affairs of the Equitable society. It is said that a majority of the committee favors the appointment of Parker as its candidate.

As if to accentuate that serious dispute between Tarbell and General Agent Haynes, who has been the best insurance getter for the Equitable Society, it became known today on indisputable authority that Ralph C. Haynes, son of Archibald C. Haynes and general manager of his father's agency business, has severed his alliance with the Equitable and has opened offices in the Broad Exchange Building, in which he will conduct a free-lance agency business on his own account.

AUDITOR'S FIGURES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—The Equitable Life Assurance Society's income for the first six months of 1905 was $38,998,318, an increase of $2,386,810 over the corresponding six months of last year, according to a statement which was submitted to the Board of Directors yesterday. The figures, which were made up from the auditor's regular report for the president to submit to the board, give the assets on December 31, 1904, as $413,953,020 and assets June 30, 1905, as $421,949,272, an increase during the last six months of $7,296,252. The income for the first six months of 1904 was $36,412,327, while the income for the first six months of 1905 was $38,799,138, an increase of $2,383,811.

The report also gives the following figures: Policies issued first six months of 1904, 65,592, assuring $166,129,321; policies issued for first six months of 1905, 61,048, assuring $150,706,993; policies terminating first six months 1904, 36,144, assuring $100,278,199; policies terminated first six months 1905, 42,123, assuring $119,813,146; assurance in force December 31, 1904, 564,584 policies; assuring $1,495,452,892; assurance in force June 30, 1905, 583,554 policies, assuring $1,526,424,739; increase in assurance in force during last six months 18,960 policies, assuring $31,941,847.

CATCHING AT ASSETS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—In the form of an amended complaint to a bill filed last April, suit was begun today in the United States Circuit Court for the Southern New York district to throw the entire $421,000,000 of the assets of the Equitable Life Assurance Society into the hands of receivers, who shall "take possession of all the funds, assets and property held by the defendant society of every character and description and administer the same as they may be directed by the court."

More than forty policy holders in the Equitable, representing a dozen different States, are included as complainants in the present suit, which is based in part upon the allegation that the society has no funds with which to meet its enormous losses and is insolvent.

With J. Wilcox Brown of Maryland, the holder of $25,000 policy, as complainant, papers were filed last April to compel a distribution of the $34,000,000 surplus fund of the society, to compel the management to make an accounting to the policy holders, and for the appointment of receivers for the surplus fund, pending judicial ascertainment of the rights of the policy holders thereto.

AGAINST THE MUTUAL.

STARTLING CHARGES MADE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) July 27.—Concealment of judgments against the company amounting to $182,767, exaggeration of its surplus by over $300,000 and a fixed policy of delay in settling claims, are some of the charges made against the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company by Chief Examiner Isaac Vanderpool in his report submitted to State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks and made public today by him.

The examination was begun last December, and covers a period back to 1896. The company has headquarters in New York City, and claims assets of between five and six millions. Examiner Vanderpool says that the management of the company made no mention of these judgments in the item of liabilities reported for the year 1904.

"Of the $184,913 reported by the company in its last annual statement as being due or accrued for salaries, rents, office expenses, taxes, bills, accounts, etc.," says he, "$182,767 consisted of judgments entered against this company. I am constrained to believe that the return of this item after the manner stated, could not have been the result of an inadvertence, and certainly constituted a concealment of facts sufficient to render the company's sworn statement for 1904 materially inaccurate.

"Further variations in addition to those appearing in credit assets and policy reserve, as between the figures published in the company's last annual statement and similar items embodied in this report, are produced in the item of unpaid death claims since December 31, 1904. They are returned in the annual statement of the company at $794,704. As the result of this examination the amount is shown to be $821,430.

"The company's last annual statement," says the report, "produce a so-called surplus of unassigned funds amounting to $359,212. The examination just completed fixes this item at $38,492."

The report shows in detail how insurance amounting to at one time $1,943,000 finally yielded its beneficiaries $906,656, there having been deducted $293,658 on account of an indebtedness ascertained by the company to exist against the assured, with a further deduction of $722,686 retained by the company for various alleged violations of contract by the insured.

"Making allowance for the time it may occupy to thoroughly investigate all questionable death claims," says the examiner, "I think that as the result of this examination it is quite clearly in evidence that the company has adopted a settled policy of delay in withholding the approval necessary to constitute an admission by it of the receipt of satisfactory evidence of death in the case of all claims under policies or certificates issued while the company was operating under article 6 of the insurance law. From the date of such approval ninety days is the specified time within which payment is to be made. The average period elapsing between the filing of proofs of death, which were upon 'investigation' ultimately found to be valid claims, is so lengthy as to properly subject the company to the severest criticism in its treatment of those beneficiaries, many of whom must be subjected to no little suffering and distress by this seemingly inexcusable procrastination on the company's part in the payment of its just debts to policy-holders. 'In 1896 the department recommended that the company establish a sinking fund to offset the depreciation of leases.'

"The suggestion was adopted, but," says the Examiner, "the fund appears to have been abandoned some time, for in ten years it has reached but $56,-949. The sum of $42,000 has, however, been borrowed from this fund and is charged to mortuary account.

"The balance, therefore, after the loan to the latter account, reduces the sinking fund to $14,949, instead of $165,-000, the amount which should now be represented under the recommendation made in 1895 by the appraiser of the insurance department."

The report alleges that commissions paid by the Mutual Reserve Fund for securing the membership of the Northwestern Life Insurance Company of Chicago in 1900 "never seem to have been received by it."

The receiver's report since the reinsurance was effected shows no revenue from this source. The commission went to third parties. Frederick A. Burnham is president of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary Hayes-Chynoweth.

SAN JOSE, July 27.—Mrs. Mary Hayes-Chynoweth, mother of Congressman C. M. Hayes and J. O. Hayes, proprietors of the Mercury and Herald of this city, died at 10 o'clock this morning. She had been ill for three months. She was the daughter of Rev. Abraham and Myriam Folsom, and was born in Holland, N. Y., October 2, 1825. At the age of 23 she married A. E. Hayes, a cousin of President Hayes, and several years after his death she became the wife of T. B. Chynoweth of this city, who died a year later. She owned a magnificent estate at Edenvale, near this city. Her life was devoted to spiritual teaching and healing. She was the founder of the True Life Church, of which she was chosen pastor for life.

CLAIMS SEATS NOT ASSETS.

CINCINNATI, July 27.—In the examination by Referee Grove in the bankruptcy proceedings of the firm of Holtsman & Company, brokers, Charles Henrotin, the Chicago member of the firm, claimed the seats on the New York Stock Exchange and the New York Cotton Exchange as his personal property and insisted that at no time had these been a portion of the assets of the firm. If this contention is upheld, the largest item of assets will be taken from the creditors, who represent liabilities amounting to about $750,000, with assets of but a few thousand dollars which may be developed from the equity in stocks and other collateral pledged to banks.

CAN'T INVADE MASSACHUSETTS.

MONTREAL, July 27.—The proposed excursion of the Forty-third Regiment, Duke of Cornwall's Own Rifles, of Ottawa, to Providence, R. I., to participate in a celebration, has been abandoned. Though the regiment received permission from the Federal authorities to cross the boundary, the laws of Massachusetts definitely prohibit invasion of the State by a foreign armed military force, except permission be granted through a special legislative act.

HAS YELLOW JACK AT BAY.

Science Scores in the Fight at New Orleans.

Dread Plague May be Blessing in Disguise.

Aggregate Number of Cases to Date is Two Hundred.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW ORLEANS, July 27.—All forces engaged in the battle against the yellow fever scourge today joined in expressing the belief that, while the situation has been and is serious enough, sufficient success has already been achieved in the application of the methods applied—as the result of the work of the Reed Commission in Cuba—to justify the hope that, for the first time in the history of the country, what threatened to be a malignant epidemic of yellow fever will be stamped out before frost comes and that New Orleans will be spared the horrors of previous epidemics.

It is the opinion of Dr. J. H. White, in charge of the Marine Hospital forces and of the State and local health officials, that, if destruction of the stegoya checks the spread of the disease and enables the gradual eradication of the cases in hand, those which may be expected to appear for some time to come, in the infected sections, that the present visitation of the plague will have been a blessing in disguise, since it will have demonstrated the ability of science to control the most virulent outbreak of the fever in the South.

With the cases reported today, the aggregate since July 13, runs close to 200. These are included in twenty to twenty-five foci, foci No. 1 including the section around the French Market, where the fever first appeared and where a large proportion of the fatalities have occurred. This section runs from St. Ann to Barrack street and from Chartres street to the river, including about forty blocks. Italians here are notoriously prone to avoid physicians, and the fever got a foothold in the district before it became known to the authorities.

NO PRECAUTIONS.

No precautions were taken to destroy the mosquito, and the scourge spread with such rapidity that out of the cheap and crowded lodging-houses the Italians who could get away fled, some going to friends in other sections of the city, some by rail to surrounding towns and some by luggers into settlements along the coast. The result is the appearance of cases of fever in various parts of the city, but principally below Canal street, in neighborhoods of the poorer classes. Almost every instance of a new foci outside the French Market district is that of an Italian who escaped therefrom or of some one of a different nationality whose business was in the section.

As far as the health authorities were able to discover today, no case has thus far developed outside of any of the foully-infected districts, and, with a very few exceptions, the deaths have been among the Italians. Illustrating this fact, a report for twenty-four hours, made officially by the State board, shows thirteen cases and six deaths, nearly all of them being Italians.

A great cleaning up has begun. Every ward has been thoroughly organized with precinct organizations radiating from the major body.

WASTED ENERGY.

"Cleaning up streets and removing dirt from gutters is energy all thrown away," declared President Konke of the City Board of Health to a committee of citizens who called to consult him on the subject. "Screen cisterns and drain standing water from premises where it abounds," said he.

The Emergency Hospital, which has been fitted out for the care of yellow fever patients, was in full operation today. It is an old three-story building in the heart of the French quarter. The hospital will be operated at its full capacity, patients being removed to it from all sections of the city in a screened ambulance already provided.

A visit to the French market section gave little visible evidence of the serious epidemic that has prevailed in that quarter. Two weeks of hard work by the public cleaning gangs showed in the general cleanliness of the surroundings, but there was no excitement among the residents.

EVERY EGRESS CLOSED.

Every avenue of egress from the city has been closed by the rigid quarantine and uninfected sections of the city are discouraging any further invasion by Italians. It is considered wiser for them to remain where they are at present and where they are to be charitably cared for if in distress and nursed if ill.

The detention camps established by the Marine Hospital Service in order to enable persons to leave the city who want to get into sections quarantined against New Orleans, were opened today. Permits to enter these camps are to be obtained from the headquarters of the Marine Hospital Service here. This is to be required in order that each applicant may be examined, the hospital service not desiring to send into the detention camps persons who are likely to become ill, thereby establishing new centers of infection.

There is a very slight exodus of New Orleans people. Some heads of families are sending their wives and children elsewhere, and men whose business has suffered by the appearance of the fever are taking advantage of the opportunity to take summer vacations now.

EVERY PASSENGER EXAMINED.

It is next to impossible to get into Mississippi, Alabama, Texas or Louisiana towns without detention. Quarantines are being made constantly more rigid since the board of health began to make public the number of cases and deaths. Mississippi is sending her inspectors right into New Orleans. Every passenger is examined and the ticket of through passengers scrutinized to prevent anyone from attempting to get into the State by surreptitious means. The Louisville and Nashville guards appear at the State line, the doors of the cars are locked and there is no chance given a passenger to leave the train until the line is reached. No attempt is being made by passengers except those bound through to go out over either the Texas & Pacific or the Southern Pacific.

In many country towns there was a disposition among the medical men to accept the mosquito theory and therefore to modify the quarantine regulations. The masses of the people, however, have not been sufficiently educated and the fact that there are 200 cases in New Orleans has been sufficiently terrorizing to force them to demand that there shall be absolutely no communication with infected points.

ONE CASE AT TAMPA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TAMPA (Fla.) July 27.—Dr. Joseph Y. Porter, state health officer, has issued an official statement to the effect that Victor Vitello, an Italian, who arrived here last Saturday from New Orleans, is suffering from a mild attack of yellow fever.

CASES IN MISSISSIPPI.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SHREVEPORT (La.) July 26.—A special from New Orleans to the Times says: "A report to the Marine Hospital Service tonight from Bay St. Louis, Miss., states that ten suspicious cases of yellow fever have developed at Back Bay, in that section. A Federal surgeon will be sent there early in the morning. It is said a lugger load of Italians escaped from here and went to the bay, where fever developed."

WYMAN IN CHARGE SOON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Surgeon-General Wyman of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service returned to the city today and will take charge of the service's campaign against yellow fever at New Orleans.

UNITED STATES VS. W. A. CLARK.

LAND CASE INVOLVING SENATOR DOCKETED IN COURT.

Good Progress Made Before Federal Tribunal at Helena in Trial of Cobban, Who Deeded Lands Secured by Alleged Collusion — Congressman Williams's Trial at Portland.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The case of the United States against Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, involving a charge of defrauding the United States in the appropriation of timber in public lands, was docketed in the Supreme Court of the United States today. The record is very columninous, covering 7000 printed pages.

GOOD PROGRESS AT HELENA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HELENA (Mont.) July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the Federal Court before Judge Hunt, good progress was made today in the trial of R. M. Cobban, one of about ninety defendants indicted by the Federal grand jury on the charge of perjury and subornation of perjury in what are known as the Western Montana timber cases.

It is alleged by the government that these persons secured lands from the government under the Timber and Stone Act, under a prearranged plan and turned them over to Cobban, who in turn, deeded them to Senator W. A. Clark. Senator Clark, however, was awarded a clear title by Judge Knowles and this was affirmed by the Court of Appeals at San Francisco, thus absolving the Senator from collusion. The lands are very valuable for timber purposes.

The trial began yesterday and included among the defendants are persons in all walks of life. The government is represented by Special Counsel F. E. Maynard of Michigan.

WILLIAMSON WAS THERE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 27.—Testimony today in the trial of Williamson-Gessner-Biggs for alleged subornation of perjury showed, beyond question, that Williamson was in Prineville from June 20 to June 24, 1902. This point was disputed by the defendant at the former trial.

TOKIO BANKERS ENTERTAIN TAFT.

MINISTER GRISCOM GIVES A GREAT GARDEN PARTY.

Thronged Streets Cheer Miss Roosevelt and Brilliant Displays of Fireworks Add to Splendor of the Illuminated Capital—Most Remarkable Demonstrations.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, July 27.—[By Pacific Cable.] Minister Griscom gave a garden party in honor of Secretary Taft this afternoon. About one thousand persons were present, including Princes Fushimi, Sr., Fushimi Jr., and Kanin, Princesses Nashimato, Higashi and Fushimi, the Elder Statesmen, Premier Katsura, members of the Cabinet and other high officials, besides members of the American colony.

Crowds surrounded the legation and watched the assemblage of the party. Minister Griscom, with his wife and Miss Roosevelt received the party in an embowered collonade on the lawn. Following the reception the party was amused by an entertainment of fencing, conjuring and daylight fireworks. Refreshments were served under a large marque. Secretary Taft, Miss Roosevelt, Minister Griscom and the legation staff lunched with Prince Fushimi. A number of distinguished Japanese were present.

The bankers and merchants of Tokio entertained Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt at the Maple Club tonight at a Japanese dinner, during which there was geisha dancing. The clubhouse was handsomely decorated and illuminated and American and Japanese flags, crossed, were displayed throughout the building.

Shiba Park, surrounding the clubhouse, was illuminated and the driveways were thronged with crowds that cheered Miss Roosevelt and Secretary Taft as they arrived at and departed from the clubhouse. The streets in the center of the capital were illuminated and there was a brilliant display of fireworks in honor of the Americans.

The popular demonstrations and official and private courtesies shown the visitors have been the most remarkable ever shown foreigners.

PROTEST AGAINST QUARANTINE.

HONOLULU, July 27.—There is a protest here against quarantining Hawaiian cargoes at San Francisco. L. E. Cofer, United States Surgeon in the Marine Hospital Service, says the San Francisco authorities were not advised by him that the health conditions here were such as to warrant the action taken there and has cabled the Marine Hospital authorities at Washington that there is no need of quarantining cargoes from Hawaii. It is believed that the fumigation at the quarantine station will injure the cargoes of sugar.

FRENCH STEAMER ASHORE.

GUERNSEY (Channel Island) July 27.—A large French steamer went ashore today on the west coast of this island. It is believed that the vessel, the name of which is not known, will be a total wreck. There was no loss of life. It was at first reported that the steamer was a trans-Atlantic liner. The fog continues.

CHINESE FORCING THE BOYCOTT FIGHT.

Shanghai Bankers Calling a Meeting to Put the International Banking Corporation Out of Business in the Flowery Kingdom.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SHANGHAI, July 27.—[By Asiatic Cable.] The native bankers here are calling a meeting to discuss the proposal to boycott the International Banking Corporation.

The International Banking Corporation was organized in June, 1901, under the laws of Connecticut, receiving its charter by a special act of the Legislature. It was then the only American banking institution formed for doing business entirely in foreign countries with authority to establish branches. The corporation was made the agent of the United States government for the receipt of payments to this government on account of the Chinese Boxer indemnity. The stockholders of the corporation were carefully selected from among the leading American manufacturers, exporters and importers of the United States. The corporation was capitalized at $2,000,000, with a surplus of $3,000,000. Among the cities represented in the concern were New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Dayton, Cleveland, Columbus, Philadelphia, Detroit, Milwaukee, Chicago and St. Louis. The Southern and Pacific Coast cities were equally well represented.

The president of the corporation when it was made the agent of the United States government, in 1902, was Marcellus Hartley. John J. McCook was the corporation attorney and James S. Fearson was its agent at Shanghai. The present officers are Thomas H. Hubbard, chairman of the Board of Directors, and President James S. Fearson, and J. B. Lee, general manager. The main offices of the corporation are at No. 1 Wall street New York. The directors include Sir H. Montague Allen, George Crocker, James S. Pearson, Edwin Gould, Isaac Guggenheim, E. H. Harriman, Thomas H. Hubbard, H. P. Huntington and Sir William Van Horn.

BANKING OFFICIALS SURPRISED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—Local officials of the International Banking Corporation expressed surprise at the news from Shanghai. In response to a cable sent to Shanghai yesterday by the London branch of the corporation, a cable was received here today to the effect that the system of boycott has not interfered with business. J. S. Fearson, president of the International Banking Corporation, is the senior member of the importing house of Fearson, Daniel & Co. of this city whose main branch is at Shanghai. Fearson, Daniel & Co. today received a Shanghai cable touching upon boycott troubles there, and stated that the result is not expected to be serious.

SAN FRANCISCO INTERESTED.

IT'S MATTER OF TRADE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Local merchants interested in trade with China have been rather anxious over a rumor afloat that the Chinese boycott against American goods had gone into effect and that all the big milling and flour companies had received stop orders from their agents in the Orient, and that existing contracts had been canceled. This simmered down, upon investigation, to the action of a big Chinese importing firm countermanding its orders given to local milling companies for shipments by the next steamer for the Orient, the reason given being the receipt of "stop orders" from China.

Other local firms assert that the Chinese boycott does not interfere with the trade, and the volume of exports remains the same. China buys about $250,000,000 worth of foreign goods annually. Of this amount, about $20,-000,000 comes from the United States, of which about $9,000,000 comes from San Francisco. Of the latter amount nearly one-third is flour, about 500,000 barrels being exported.

GEN. HUBBARD'S OPINION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—Gen. Thomas Hubbard, of the International Banking Corporation, said: "Of course it is well known that the boycott is not in consequence to any objection to our corporation, but is due to the resentment of the Chinese against the United States, caused by the Chinese exclusion act."

ANOTHER TREATY DOUBTFUL

CHINA FEELS DISGRACED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Some doubt is expressed in official circles whether it will be possible to obtain China's consent to another treaty with the United States, providing even for the exclusion of Chinese laborers from this country. The State Department is aware of ill-feeling throughout China on the whole subject, and now that the immigration treaty with China has been allowed to lapse without the negotiation of the new agreement, reports have reached here that China is inclined hereafter to refuse to sign any similar convention.

China's position appears to be that the exclusion of Chinese citizens from a friendly country is in itself a disgrace, and while she cannot ignore the laws of a foreign power providing for such exclusion, she can refuse to sanction it or become part of it by concluding a treaty involving such restrictions. A year ago, it is said, it would have been easy to conduct negotiations with China for the exclusion of Chinese laborers only. Now, however, it is understood the Chinese officials are disposed to regard the signing of such a treaty beneath the dignity of their government.

The reason for the assumption of Peking of this new attitude is not quite clear to the officials here, though in some circles it is attributed to the influence of foreign powers.

WANT TO OUST KING GEORGE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The schooner William Olsen, here from the Friendly Islands, brings news that a movement is on foot among the English residents to force King George, the ruler of the islands, to abdicate. The islands, being under the protection of Great Britain, King George has gone to New Zealand to plead before King Edward's representatives that the government of the island be undisturbed and that he be secured on his throne.

FIERCE ATTACK ON HERRICK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HAMILTON (O.) July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The convention of the People's Societies of the Second Synod of the United Presbyterian Church, embracing most of six States, adopted resolutions fiercely attacking Gov. Herrick. His renomination is called "an insult to Christian citizenship," and the Governor himself is referred to as "one who has proven himself the enemy to decency and sobriety."

MAHAN'S AIRSHIP.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From Chicago to Washington in ten hours in an airship of his own invention is the dream and the promise of Frank M. Mahan of this city. Mahan, who is known as an engineer all over the country, says he has been a student of aerial navigation for sixteen years and has found its solution beyond the peradventure of a doubt. Mahan says he proposes to construct an airship which will travel from 125 to 150 miles an hour. He declares that the aeroplane can never be made to fly, and he will construct a genuine flying machine. That craft, he says, will have wings like those of a bird, and will be operated by gasoline engines.

CORPORATION ASSESSMENTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The State Executive Council today completed the assessment of corporation property in Iowa. While the actual assessed valuation of railroad property was increased $2,637,400, as compared with 1903, the farm lands of the State have been reduced $52,415,364.

TOP OF MT. RAINIER.

Club Safely Reaches Its Lofty Crater.

Los Angeles Persons Take Part in Climb.

(SPECIAL WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

TACOMA, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Word comes down from Mt. Rainier today that sixty-one members of the Mazama Club of California safely reached the crater of Mt. Rainier this morning, constituting one of the largest parties that ever ascended this mountain as a body. Hazy weather prevailed, signaling to Seattle and Portland from the summit by heliograph today or by red fire last night.

The climbing column was divided into companies, moving with military precision, each headed by a competent guide or captain. Willoughby Sharpless, of Los Angeles, had charge of Company B, the members of which were Dr. Johnson, E. Johnson, Mary E. Haskell, E. C. Haskell, R. P. Blake, Mrs. L. Blake, Miss Roberts, Thomas Pilkington, Jr., Esq., of Los Angeles, captain of Company C. The members in command were E. Caddington, Miss Estrella, W. H. Radcliffe, Miss Sampson, V. E. Radcliffe, Miss Kasson Avery, Lucy B. Avery, L. W. Carr.

Traveling with the party were Prof. Alexander of the University of California, Prof. McAdie, Chief of the United States Weather Bureau at San Francisco, who took observations, establishing the fact that the height of Mt. Rainier is 14,525 feet, twenty feet higher than Mt. Whitney, heretofore considered the highest peak in the United States.

Many hardships and dangers were encountered in the ascent, but everything went the trip well. The ascent was commenced in the afternoon, to be made by easy stages. The Mazama Club, made up of mountaineers from Washington and Oregon, expected to reach the crest today.

MAN DEXTER MINE.

RENEWED ACTIVITY IN TUSCARA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.)

TUSCARA (Nev.) July 27.—For the past week a party of New York and Boston mining experts in this district, one of the greatest mining districts in Nevada, exporting ores. Recently they took a sample of the biggest property for examining, to the surface, work was begun on it, and a few days ago work was resumed in Commonwealth. The ore body is being installed with machinery in the mine is to be worked. A big flow of water was struck, and it is said that mine severs' former attempt had failed to work the mine.

DISASTER BREAKING UP.

WRECK OF NORWEGIAN SHIP.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.)

LONDON, July 27.—Reports from Scilly indicate that the Norwegian ship Tricolor, ashore at Bishop Rock, will not much longer hold together, which are breaking up. The position is shifting and her cargo is dropping out of the hull, which is being ground out on the rocks. Much of cargo will have to be thrown lighten the craft, when, it is thought, she will be thrown farther on the beach and quickly be broken by the heavy seas. The crew of the vessel shows that they are heavily toward the shore. Wreckage is beginning to go ashore and the ship has not lost its attractiveness to the Indians and residents of the islands.

Captain Cutter, Hugh McCulloch and the officers of the ship went to San Francisco. The remainder of the crew who decided to go back to Norway, will be sent without expense, to the nearest port by the Norwegian consul. Those who may elect to remain in the country will be paid off in full and the proportion of their wages allowance from San Francisco to Norway will be given them.

GOLD MEDAL OF MERIT."

PRIZE FOR $12,000.

[SPECIAL WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. E. McLaughlin, who owns the St. Francis Hotel here, left yesterday for the East and gave him a wallet which he was to government bonds and $291 in cash. When he arrived here he missed the pocketbook and returned back. When he met the porter he was half dead with fright. The head porter, Walter Lloyd, said to him, "What kind of you to keep it from me? Now you have a glass of wine." He said he was strictly a temperance man. Then McLaughlin took a cigar and handed it to him. Gibbons smelt the cigar, shook his head and handed the "smoke" to a Chinaman who was sweeping out the hall. The Chinaman glanced at the cigar doubtfully, and said he had "a friend."

WON'T ACCEPT BISHOPRIC.

DR. LLOYD ASKS INVESTIGATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 27.—A telegram has been received here by Rev. George B. Van Waters, president of the Standing Committee of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Oregon, from Rev. F. E. J. Lloyd of Uniontown, Pa., who was recently elected coadjutor bishop of Oregon, stating that he had demanded an investigation by the presiding bishop of charges preferred in a protest against Dr. Lloyd's confirmation as coadjutor bishop.

The protest to which Dr. Lloyd takes exception was one made by several of the local clergy and laymen, referring to his qualifications in a business way to hold the office. Dr. Lloyd withdrew his acceptance of the coadjutorship, pending investigation. The bishop to whom the demand for the investigation has been made, is Daniel S. Tuttle of St. Louis, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

THROWS HERSELF ON RAILS.

YOUNG WIFE'S AWFUL SUICIDE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Mrs. Winifred Yunker, 25 years of age, the wife of Louis Yunker, a painter of this city, threw herself in front of a northbound Southern Pacific passenger train near Ocean View station today and was ground to death.

According to the statements of Hallock Formley, engineer of the train and other eye-witnesses of the tragic suicide, the young woman, who was walking on the track, disregarded the warning whistles of the approaching train, turned and walked toward it and deliberately threw herself on the rails. The distance was too short for the engineer to stop the train when he perceived her actions.

Yunker stated that there was no reason for his wife committing suicide and believes that her death was accidental. Mrs. Yunker was visiting at Ocean View.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S SURPRISE.

Private Jones, Who Will be Examined as to His Sanity, Wrote Her a Sharp Note.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—Private James G. Jones of the regular army, who has been serving a term of imprisonment on Governor's Island for desertion from his command at Fort Banks, Mass., has been removed from Castle William on a special order, to be examined by a board of lunacy.

Although great secrecy has been maintained, the World states that it was learned yesterday that Private Jones had been sending love letters to Miss Roosevelt. More than a score are said to have reached her through the mail. The matter was placed in the hands of the Secret Service agents when Jones finally sent a sharp note to Mrs. Roosevelt in which he charged the latter with standing between the President's daughter and himself.

The Secret Service men soon located the writer of the letters, but were unable to learn how he managed to mail them. Some of them expressed the belief that he was feigning insanity.

ZIONIST CONGRESS OPENS.

BASLE (Switzerland) July 27.—The seventh annual congress of Zionists opened here today in the grand hall of the Casino De Laville, in the presence of over a thousand delegates, representing the leading forces of the Zionist movement throughout the world, including an unusually strong delegation from the United States. After the delivery of addresses of welcome in behalf of the city, Max Nordau pronounced an eloquent eulogy in memory of Dr. Theodore Herzl, this being the first anniversary of his death. The session was suspended at 11 o'clock as a mark of respect to the deceased leader. The selection of a successor to Dr. Herzl attracts great interest, as does also the proposed establishment of a Jewish colony in British East Africa.

A slight earthquake shock was felt at Bellingham, Wash., Wednesday night at 10:20. No damage is reported.

ARE RETICENT AFTER VISIT

Japanese Peace Envoys Back from Oyster Bay.

The President Also Not Productive of News.

Failure to Secure Armistice for Russia Presumed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) July 27.—President Roosevelt entertained at luncheon today Baron Jutaro Komura, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Kogoro Takahira, Minister to the United States, the Japanese envoys to the Washington peace conference. Subsequently, he had a long interview with them, at which all phases of the approaching negotiations were considered. Neither the President nor his Japanese visitors cared to discuss for publication the nature of their conference, except in the most general terms.

Arrangements for the visit to the President were made yesterday by Minister Takahira. The President expressed his pleasure at the prospect of meeting Baron Komura, whom he had known several years ago, and who, in addition, is a fellow-graduate of Harvard. Baron Komura and Minister Takahira arrived here on the 12:20 o'clock Long Island Railroad train, to which had been attached a special chair car for their accommodation. They were the only occupants of the car, both entrances to which were guarded by railroad porters. No one was permitted to enter the car.

The visitors were met by confidential messengers of the President, who escorted them to an open surrey, secured by the President to convey them to Sagamore Hill.

Baron Komura bowed gravely to the newspaper men, who made themselves known, but smilingly declined to talk. Minister Takahira shook hands with one or two of his newspaper friends, but said there was nothing of importance he could say at that time.

The envoys were driven directly to Sagamore Hill, attracting much attention as they passed through the village. They remained with the President until 3:30 o'clock and then were driven to the station.

Minister Takahira, speaking for both Baron Komura and himself, said they had a pleasant and satisfactory visit and talk with the President. Baron Komura, he said, had desired to pay his respects to the President and on behalf of the Emperor to thank him for his efforts to bring about peace in the Far East. This mission had been accomplished. In response to inquiries, Minister Takahira said it might be inferred that they discussed the pending peace negotiations, but added:

"It would not be proper for me to give to you the nature of the discussion. I could not do that."

The Minister declined to say whether the subject of the terms Japan proposed to make to the Russian plenipotentiaries was one of the matters considered, and would not indicate whether there was a probability of the arrangement of an armistice during the sitting of the conference.

While Minister Takahira was chatting with the newspaper men, Baron Komura stood on the platform of his car, smiling interestedly. A photographer asked the Minister to pose an instant with Baron Komura on the rear car platform, but the diplomat shook his head emphatically and both he and the Baron entered the car rather precipitately. The door was locked after them by the porter. The train left at 4:20 o'clock for New York.

The President, when interrogated this evening about the conference, replied that it was a subject which he did not feel at liberty to discuss for publication.

It is expected that soon after the arrival of M. Witte, the principal envoy of Russia, he, too, will make a formal call on the President, in advance of the presentation to the President, August 5, of the two sets of plenipotentiaries and their suites.

The President does not conceal his deep interest in the approaching conference of the envoys, but lets it be understood that his interest will not lead him to interfere, even by indirection, with the work of the conferences. He had hoped that an early armistice might be arranged between the contending armies in Manchuria, pending the conclusion of the work of the conferees. It is not unlikely that the subject of an armistice may be one of the first questions considered after the arrival of the envoys at Portsmouth, but thus far no intimation of their possible action on that subject has been given. The plenipotentiaries have full authority to negotiate a temporary peace protocol, but whether they will do so or not, will depend largely on the situation at the time they begin their discussion.

CRUISERS FOR ENVOYS.

Peace Plenipotentiaries Will be Escorted to Portsmouth by Strong Naval Division from Rear Admiral Sigsbee's Squadron.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Arrangments were completed here today for conveying the peace envoys of Russia and Japan from New York to Oyster Bay, where they will be received by the President, and from there to Portsmouth, N. H. The details were arranged at a conference participated in by Acting Secretary of State Peirce, who had been commissioned by the President to arrange for the meeting of the envoys; Acting Secretary of the Navy Darling, Rear-Admiral Converse, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation; Rear-Admiral Sigsbee, commanding the squadron of the North Atlantic fleet, from which vessels have been selected for the conveyance of the plenipotentiaries, and Commander C. McR. Winslow, commander of the Mayflower.

According to the official announcement subsequently made, the Russian plenipotentiaries and suites will embark on the cruiser Chattanooga, commanded by Commander Sharp, at the foot of Twenty-third street, New York, at 9 a. m., August 5, the Japanese plenipotentiaries embarking on the cruiser Tacoma, commanded by Commander R. F. Nicholson, an hour later, arriving at Oyster Bay within half an hour of each other.

After luncheon to be given by the President on the Mayflower is over and the President has departed, the Japanese plenipotentiaries and suite will embark on the Dolphin, commanded by Commander Gibson, the Russian plenipotentiaries and suite remaining on the Mayflower, when they will proceed to Portsmouth, convoyed by the cruiser Galveston, commanded by Commander W. G. Cutler, which will arrive off Oyster Bay on the evening of August 4. A slow run north will be made so that Portsmouth will be reached on the morning of August 7, where they will be received by the admiral commanding the Portsmouth Navy Yard, within which the negotiations for peace are to be conducted. Assistant Secretary Peirce will go from New York to Oyster Bay on the Sylph. The cruisers are sister ships and are now being prepared for the coming mission, having just arrived from France in company with the cruiser Brooklyn, which brought back the body of John Paul Jones.

Rear-Admiral Sigsbee, to whose squadron the Tacoma, the Chattanooga and the Galveston are attached, returned to New York City today and will issue the necessary orders to carry into effect the programme announced.

AT OYSTER BAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OYSTER BAY (L. I.) July 27.—The President will formally receive the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries on board the Mayflower Saturday, August 5, at 1:30 p.m. The Mayflower will be anchored at the entrance to Oyster Bay. The vessel's draft is so great that it cannot enter the bay itself.

The President will go aboard the Mayflower soon after the arrival of the cruisers bearing the plenipotentiaries. At the hour set for the reception, the envoys will be carried from their respective vessels to the Mayflower. It is expected that their formal presentation will be made by Elihu Root, Secretary of State, who will be on board the Mayflower. Formal presentation of the members of each commission will then be made to the members of the other. This probably will be the first meeting of the two sets of envoys.

WITTE SAILS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHERBOURG, July 27.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, with Count Witte and his party on board, sailed for New York from here today at 1:30 p.m. The departure was delayed owing to the denseness of the fog. Count Witte appeared somewhat annoyed at the delay, the Russian peace party being already late when compared with the Japanese.

The Russians were most interested in reading the press dispatches describing the arrival in New York of Baron Komura and his party and expressed the hope that the Japanese conditions would really be as moderate as set forth in the dispatches received.

Count Witte's family accompanied him on board the steamer, where he received his mail and several telegrams. After taking leave of his family, M. Witte said smilingly: "I hope to return soon." Mme. Witte soon afterward left for Brussels.

EVIDENCE OF SYMPATHY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HARBIN, July 27.—The rank and file of the army view the United States' mediation as evidence of good will and sympathy with Russia. Some of the higher ranks, however, are not so appreciative of the American action.

WASHINGTON.

RELATIONS WITH THE GERMANS.

COMMERCIAL TREATY WITH THIS COUNTRY AT STAKE.

Officials Believe the Senate Will Consent to the Ratification of a Convention Which Will Make Reductions in the Tariff Productive of Reciprocal Advantages.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Germany's commercial relations with the United States will be among the most important subjects to come before the Senate at the next session of Congress. Having negotiated new commercial arrangements with Belgium, Italy, Russia, Roumania and Servia, Germany is anxious to make a similar convention with the United States.

The new treaties already concluded become effective March 1, and preliminary notice has been received that the German treaty with this country will be allowed to lapse about November 10. A thorough understanding exists, however, between Washington and Berlin regarding the reasons for ending this treaty. The matter has been discussed at length by the President and Baron Speck Von Sternberg, the German Ambassador, the latter having communicated Germany's earnest wish to conclude a new treaty with this country which will be equally helpful to the trade of each country.

Upon his return to Washington in the autumn, Baron Speck Von Sternberg will have full instructions for the programme to be followed, and upon the execution of these will depend in a measure the policy to be followed by this government. The lapse of the treaty, coming late in November, it is believed will bring the subject to consideration by the Senate. Because of the effect upon American exports which without a treaty, will be obliged to pay the maximum rates of the German tariff, the officials here believe the Senate will consent to the ratification of a treaty which, in return for certain reductions of German imports, will give advantageous schedules to American goods entering Germany.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Reception for St. Louis.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The State Department has in preparation the arrangement of the reception of Prince Louis of Battenburg, who will come to this country in October in command of an armored cruiser squadron to pay a visit of courtesy. The Prince will be received at the White House October 3 by the President, who will give a state dinner that evening. Dinners in his honor will also be given to the Prince by Sir Mortimer Durand, the British Ambassador, who will come from Lennox to present him to the President.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The War Department today relieved Brig.-Gen. W. H. Carter from command of the Department of Visayas, Philippine Islands, and assigned him to the command of the Department of the Lakes. Brig.-Gen. James A. Buchanan, now in the Philippines, is ordered to command the Department of the Visayas. Brig.-Gen. W. N. Edgerly, who is relieved of command of the Department of Luzon by Gen. Tasker, is ordered to report to the commanding general of the Philippines division for assignment to duty.

Topeka Bank's Assets.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The first report of the receiver of the First National Bank of Topeka, Kan., which closed its doors July 3, has been received by the Comptroller of the Currency. The receiver classified the assets of the bank as follows: Good, $756,684; doubtful, $1,222,425; worthless, $139,156; liabilities, individual deposits, $1,122,737; certificates of deposit, $318,956; due to national banks, $99,334; due to other banks and bankers, $12,114; unpaid drafts outstanding, $106,809; other liabilities, $600; total, $1,660,557.

Philippine Securities.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Secretary Shaw authorized the statement that on and after August 1, 1905, and until further notice, Philippine land-purchase 4-per-cent. bonds (issue $7,000,000,) Philippine one-year certificates (amount outstanding $3,000,000,) Philippine public works and improvement bonds (issue $1,000,000,) will be accepted as securities for existing deposits of public money in national banks, in substitution for United States bonds now held as security for such deposits, on condition that the government bonds thus released be immediately used as a basis for additional bank-note circulation. This additional circulation need not necessarily be taken out by the particular bank whose bonds are thus released, but they can be used for an increase of circulation in any existing banks, the purpose being to stimulate an increase of circulation preparatory to the crop-moving periods.

Estimates on Crops.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—August 10, 1905, the crop-estimating board of the Department of Agriculture will meet at 8 a.m. and, beginning at 12, noon, will give out the estimates on condition for the United States as a whole as rapidly as they are completed for the corn, spring wheat and oats crops, which will be taken up in the order named. The detailed estimates regarding the above-mentioned crops and other crops embraced by the August estimates will be issued at 4 o'clock p.m. on the date named.

Error in the Estimate.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—In the revised cotton report issued yesterday by the Department of Agriculture, an error was committed in the second paragraph which made it appear that the June estimate by Hyde was made "lower" than the facts at hand warranted, when in fact it was made "higher." The erroneous statement has been corrected by the department.

FLASHES FROM THE WIRES

A report is current on the Continent of Europe of a collision between German troops and French Soudanese soldiers on the Cameron and French Congo frontier.

The revenue cutter McCulloch is making port of San Francisco with the crew of the wrecked Tricolor on board. The men were taken off the wreck on the Mendocino shore.

"Blueheard" Hoch will be hanged today for wife murder. Appeal to the State Board of Pardons was without avail. Gov. Deneen had previously declined to further interfere.

It is reported that the Norwegian government will propose to the Storthing holding a referendum on the dissolution of the union with Sweden. The vote probably will be taken August 13.

A woman about twenty-five years of age deliberately threw herself in front of a Southern Pacific train at Ocean View yesterday and was instantly killed. Her identity has not yet been determined.

Drs. Thomas and Nims, the San Francisco physicians accused with malpractice in the case of Gladys Cunningham, the 19-year-old girl of San José, were arraigned yesterday in the police court at San Francisco and given a continuance of two weeks.

A large barn filled with hay, on the Franscioni Ranch, near King City, has been destroyed by fire, with several head of horses and cattle and some farming implements. Several other small buildings were burned. The flames swept over four hundred acres, causing a loss of $4000, fully insured.

The meeting of the Kansas Executive Council was held late yesterday afternoon. At noon, Gov. Hoch stated that State Treasurer Kelly's bond for $940,000 seemed good and would be approved. Other members of the Executive Council spoke in the same way.

Charged with embezzling $10,000 from a Bremen bank, Herman Schadow was arrested as he stepped from the steamship Maine, at New York, yesterday. The prisoner declared his willingness to return to Germany and was committed to the Tombs to await extradition papers.

President T. B. Wilcox of the Trans-Mississippi Congress has received a telegram from Hon. John Barrett, former Minister to Panama, accepting an invitation to deliver an address before the congress, which meets at Portland between August 16 and 19, on the subject of "Oriental Trade."

A Detroit Tribune special from Ironwood, Mich., says that a passenger train is reported wrecked near there on the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railroad. It is feared that fifty people have been killed. Most of the passengers were Finns, on their way to a temperance convention in Ironwood. The story was not confirmed.

At a conference in Baltimore yesterday between officials of the National River and Harbor Congress and a committee appointed by the National Waterways Convention, recently held in Cincinnati, a resolution was adopted asking the Executive Committee to call a meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress early next year.

Mrs. Kate Hueter, who shot and killed her husband, Gustav Hueter, a few weeks ago at San José, has asked for letters of administration on the estate, which consists of real estate in San Francisco and Santa Clara counties and personal property, all estimated at $115,000. Hueter left no will, and there are four children to inherit the estate.

A New York dispatch says that an interesting passenger in the first cabin of the steamship Teutonic was W. L. D. Cary, the Oakland, Cal., millionaire, who enjoys the distinction of being the sole proprietor and ruler of an island in British waters, but over which Great Britain has no jurisdiction, and on which he is exempt from paying taxes, either to Great Britain or any other country.

George A. Hensley, accompanied by A. H. Piepenburg, H. D. Ryus and Gus Seigfried left San Francisco at 10:15 last night for Los Angeles in an automobile in an effort to break the auto-mobile record of 24 hours and 50 minutes between the two cities. The party took the route to San José by way of Alameda.

Emilio Bazzoni, the five-year-old son of E. Bazzoni, a drayman of San Francisco, was run over by a heavy truck on Sansome street yesterday and killed. The little fellow was trying to climb on the truck while in motion and fell off. One wheel passed over him, crushing him to death.

The funeral of Mrs. Hayes-Chynoweth will be a public service from the First Methodist Church, San José, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Interment will be at Oak Hill Cemetery. The family is receiving hundreds of messages of condolence from all parts of the United States.

The charge made against George D. Collins, a fugitive, whose extradition to San Francisco for perjury is sought, of tampering with a witness of the prosecution, was not pressed when Judge Lampman resumed sitting yesterday at Victoria, B. C.

At Victoria, B. C., Assistant District Attorney Whiting of San Francisco was again cross-examined by George D. Collins, on trial for alleged perjury committed at San Francisco when the court resumed yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Balfour will give a luncheon in honor of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts in the House of Commons today. Ambassador Reid will give a dinner in honor of Senator Lodge, Gen. Miles and Assistant Secretary of State Loomis.

C. E. Grace, a recent arrival at Red Bluff from Stockton, who had been employed at Bend Colony, north of that city, fell downstairs at the home of W. S. McCullough, at that place, some time during Wednesday night, breaking his neck.

Mrs. Harry Norton was arrested at Shawnee, Okla., yesterday for the murder of Mrs. Kate James, near Weatherford, Okla., July 4, and within an hour committed suicide by taking poison. She denied being guilty of the crime.

J. Pierpont Morgan was among the passengers who sailed from Liverpool Thursday for New York on board the White Star line steamer Oceanic.

After the return of Chief Engineer John F. Stevens from the tour of inspection on the canal, he informed the Associated Press, yesterday, that he found the work progressing slowly, though the American steam shovels were working splendidly. In order to actively push the work, Stevens will recommend an increase in number of laborers employed, and also an increase in the machinery.

LABOR.

OPEN SHOP IN OMAHA SOON.

EMPLOYING PRINTERS DECIDE ON A NEW ERA.

Seattle Court Refuses to Modify Injunction Against Rainier Beer Boycotters—Strikers' Idea of Moral Suasion Synonymous With Coercion, and There the Matter Stands.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] January 1 is the date Omaha printers have set to put into effect the eight-hour day. In the meantime, the Omaha employing printers on the one side and the union printers on the other are preparing for a fight. The contracts calling for a nine-hour day expire October 5, and after that date the employers propose to run "open shops."

A. T. Klopp, president of the Klopp & Bartlett Company, proprietors of the largest job printing house here, today said: "We are fortifying ourselves for the time when our contracts with the union men expire. After October 5, this plant and all others will be 'open shops.' We will resist the eight-hour day as will all other employers in the printing trade."

The employers have laid off a number of strong union men wherever opportunity offered on account of "slack work" and those whose union sympathies are not very strong are being retained. The employers look for serious trouble, but they are prepared for it and declare they will win.

INJUNCTION NOT MODIFIED.

BOYCOTTERS REBUFFED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge Hanford of the Federal Court has refused to modify the language of the temporary injunction issued by him restraining nine labor union "leaders" and all persons acting under them from acts tending to boycott the Seattle Brewing and Malting Company.

The order specifically states that the the parties mentioned in the complaint are restrained and enjoined from attempting directly or indirectly to coerce, intimidate or persuade any present or future employé of the Seattle Brewing and Malting Company from continuing in their present or future employment, or from using such means to intimidate or persuade any persons having business relations with the complainant to discontinue such relations, from circulating posters, placards or other written or printed matter making false or malicious assertions against the quality or wholesomeness of the product manufactured by the Seattle Brewing and Malting Company, or calling upon the public to refrain from use of the product.

Attorneys representing the strikers attempted to have the restraining order modified by the elimination of the word "persuade," but the court would not be persuaded that the strikers' idea of moral suasion was not synonymous with coercion, so the motion to modify the terms of the injunction was denied, and it remains in full force, covering all points touched in the prayer of the plaintiff.

Company to Supply Greek Labor.

OGDEN (Utah) July 27.—A scheme is on foot here to establish a labor-controlling body for the purpose of supplying Greek labor to contractors in the West. Many prominent Greeks in this city and vicinity have agreed to subscribe for shares in the new company, which will be incorporated under the laws of Missouri. The shares have a par value of $50. It is claimed that under this plan the newly-arrived immigrant can be protected, and that it insures a better class of labor to the employer.

BRITISH STEAMER HELD UP.

PORT SAID (Egypt) July 27.—The Russian auxiliary cruiser Kuban stopped and examined the British steamer Fazilka (from London July 9 for Calcutta) in the Red Sea July 25. The Fazilka was allowed to proceed after her papers had been examined.

BRITISH FLEET WILL GO TO THE BALTIC.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, July 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The British channel fleet will sail for the Baltic Sea August 20 and will remain there through September.

As it has been years since a British fleet appeared in that sea, the announcement is connected in the public mind with Emperor William's recent tour and the visit of the German squadron to Scandinavian waters.

The cruise of the British fleet is regarded as designed to counteract the preponderance of German influence in Scandinavian politics.

The admiralty, however, discourages the idea of politics having any bearing on the cruise and says that the Baltic is an open sea and that the fleet is simply going there to execute maneuvers, a ceremonious visit not being contemplated.

GERMANS DENY REPORT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERLIN, July 27.—The German Foreign Office denies utterly the report published by the correspondent of a London paper at Stockholm to the effect that Emperor William, in his recent interview with the Russian Emperor, sought to obtain the consent of the latter for a Prince of the House of Hohenzollern to ascend the throne of Norway.

REFERENDUM PROPOSED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHRISTIANIA (Norway) July 27.—The Norwegian government today proposed to the Storthing the holding of a referendum on the dissolution of the union with Sweden. The proposal was referred to a special committee.

DEAD FLIES KILL ZOO PETS.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Efforts to rid Bronx Zoological Park of a pest of flies which has made life almost unbearable for the animals since the warm weather began, have caused the death of six animals, including some rare species. Their loss in every case is assigned to their having eaten the dead flies, killed by drinking from a solution of arsenic, and which fell into the cages. Examination of the dead animals showed that they had eaten the poisoned flies. Many other animals and birds were taken with convulsions, but were saved by prompt treatment.

FEUD FACTIONS ARE SHOT UP.

DESPERATE ENCOUNTER ON THE KENTUCKY BORDER.

Leader of the Mullins Killed, William Mullins Wounded and One Rival Gun Expert Fatally Hurt—Leader of the Flemings Flees to the Mountains.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OWENSVILLE (Ky.) July 27.—In a desperate encounter between the Mullins and Fleming factions of feudists, Sol Mullins, leader of the Mullins faction, has been killed, William Mullins wounded and Jeff Fleming fatally hurt. The battle took place on Boon Fork, near the border of Letcher and Pike counties. Sheriff Thacker of Mercer county went to the scene with a posse and arrested three of the Mullins faction. Sol Fleming, leader of the Flemings, refused to submit to arrest and fled with his men to the mountains.

CARLTON DEFIES POLICE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Talking much and saying nothing, Frederick E. Carlton, under arrest, charged with several heinous crimes, had a sportive hour with Inspector Cross, today, in the Brooklyn police headquarters. He laughed at the head of the force's literary bureau, and defied him to prove that he had murdered any of his wives.

PARTY TO COUNTERFEITING.

PAINT MERCHANT ARRESTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) July 27.—L. B. Talley, a paint merchant of Centralia, has been arrested by Capt. Bell of the secret service, upon the charge of aiding and abetting counterfeiting.

It is claimed that Talley agreed to locate for the officer, for a reward, a band of counterfeiters who were making spurious $5 gold pieces. He was put off, and an investigation showed the authorities that he himself was a party to the counterfeiters. His arrest followed. Talley declared his arrest is quite work, because, after he received a letter from Bell, he was unable to locate the counterfeiters.

Bell left for Centralia today with three warrants, said to be for a banker, a saloon man and a retired merchant, all of that place.

Hoodlums Must Answer.

Max Kriegelstein, a youth of No. 728 Jackson street, will probably appear in Police Court today for his rough treatment of pretty Vera Duncan of No. 722 Jackson street. J. C. Duncan, father of the girl, will swear out a warrant for young Kriegelstein this morning on a charge of battery, and several other youngsters on Boyle Heights will also be haled into court.

Last night Kriegelstein and several companions insulted and abused Vera Duncan near her father's residence, and when the father came to his daughter's rescue some members of the party of young hoodlums assaulted him.

The young girl and her father told their story to the police last night, and warrants for the arrest of the culprits will be asked of the District Attorney this morning.

Baleful Baron Munchausen.

BERKELEY, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It developed tonight that Richmond Flint, the lad of 14, who Sunday turned the town upside down with his tale of holdup and chloroforming in broad daylight on the university campus, is simply a Baron Munchausen in embryo. Tonight, he confessed his thrilling story was entirely a figment of his imagination, and that he had invented and told it to shield himself from punishment for absenting himself from his employer's work for three hours. The police are greatly disgusted, as they spent a whole day running down clews and arresting suspects.

Led Double Life.

CHICAGO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charges that Eugene H. Macoy, president of the National Printing and Engraving Company, for years has led a double life in Chicago, have been made in court, where Mrs. Mary Macoy has been suit for annulment of the marriage. The judge has tied up by injunction $500,000 worth of Macoy's property. In the Macoy suit, there is presented the spectacle of a woman once wealthy, struggling to clear her name and that of her daughter, and to secure restitution of rights through a court of equity.

Opium Smokers in Portland.

PORTLAND (Or.) July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As the result of investigations made by detectives in a fashionable boarding house opposite the courthouse, six persons were arrested for vagrancy for smoking opium, and a complete outfit of counterfeiter's tools was discovered. F. A. Child, one of the boarders, reported that $50 had been stolen from his room. After taking their prisoners to jail, the detectives returned and found the counterfeiter's outfit while searching for opium.

COMING IN IRONS.

Former Actor Quillinan to be Brought from San Francisco to Face Grand Larceny Charge.

Edward Quillinan, former actor, former newspaper subscription solicitor, former "high roller" among those who frequent the tenderloin, will reach Los Angeles Sunday night from San Francisco, will be met at the depot by Detective automobile and will be conducted to a big stone building on West Fifth street near Hill, there to be accommodated until at some future date he is accorded an official reception by Judges of the Justices of the Police Court. The accompanying him will be Secretary Heffernan of the police department. The occasion for the coming of the former actor is to enable him to reply to certain allegations contained in a complaint filed by former Manager Hamilton of the Ulrich Stock Company. The latter says that such allegations, if true, in court must result in the return of Quillinan to the North to a cell provided by the State—to wit, a penitentiary.

The charge of grand larceny preferred against Rice has preferred against him should fail, the police say there are other charges which they will prefer, but they decline to say what they are. Quillinan was to be married August 16 to a young woman of San Francisco, and now the wedding is indefinitely postponed and the girl he was engaged to the altar accuses him of stealing her watch from her and pawning it. The ticket for the timepiece was found in Quillinan's possession when he was searched at the San Francisco City Prison, along with letters from his fiancée.

Quillinan declares he knows nothing wrong done in the South that would warrant the police on his trail. He says he understand the grand larceny charge is inasmuch as last time he was in Los Angeles was when he trod the boards as a member of the Florence Stock company, a year ago.

WARM FIGHTING IN ISLAND OF SAKHALIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, July 27, 5 p.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] It is officially reported that a Japanese detachment which was protecting the landing of troops on Sakhalin Island dislodged the enemy from Aikova and vicinity, occupied the first line of defenses at Polovin, and then the second line, at Aikova. The Russian strength consisted of one battalion of infantry, recently dispatched to the scene, besides several hundred volunteers, with eight field pieces from Alexandrovsk, placed on the hills in the direction of Luikoof.

Before this, one detachment of Japanese infantry, dispatched under the protection of torpedo boats toward the pier at Alexandrovsk, dispersed a body of Russians attempting to burn the pier, which was captured intact.

A detachment helped by a torpedo boat landed at Mugati, dislodged the Russians and captured 40,000 tons of coal and light railway materials.

Another detachment occupied the third line of defenses at Aikova, on the same afternoon. Continuing, the advance, Alexandrovsk was taken and entered on the same evening, after some resistance. The Russians continued their resistance at the redoubts east of the town and on an eminence to the northeast. Stubborn resistance was offered and the fighting did not cease from sundown to dawn, the Russians holding their position east of Alexandrovsk. The Japanese then attacked, pursuing the Russians toward Novomnachaiakao, and completely occupying that place. Alexandrovsk escaped being destroyed by a conflagration.

Two hundred prisoners were taken. Gun carriages, ammunition and provisions were also captured.

WASHINGTON ADVICES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The Japanese Legation has received the following dispatch from Tokio, dated today, detailing the operations of the Japanese army on Sakhalin Island:

"Imperial headquarters reports our Sakhalin army began landing near Aikova, 9 a. m., July 24, without much opposition. Admiral Kataoka, commanding squadron dispatched north, reports squadron left base as prearranged, convoying military transports. Previously advanced detachment under Admiral Dewa reconnoitered east, conducting dragging operations, to predetermine landing place near Alexandrovsk. Transports convoyed landward as dragging operations progressed. Marines landed without resistance and occupied points necessary for landing; afterward, landing of troops commenced. Enemy burned Dumina, set fire to Aikova; Alexandrovsk unburned. Japanese flag flying from Governor's office at Alexandrovsk and houses in town. No damage to ships or crew."

KEY TO POSSIET BAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, July 26.—Military critics, in discussing the situation in North Korea, predict that the Russians will vigorously defend Kyongcheung, to the south of Tumen River. This town is regarded as most important from a strategical standpoint, as it controls Possiet Bay. Kyongchung is also regarded as the outer line of the defenses of Vladivostok.

FALLS INTO JAPANESE HANDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) July 27.—Steamship men of this city believe that the steamer Centennial, carrying a contraband cargo for the Russians, has been captured by Japanese cruisers. She sailed from San Francisco for Nikolaievsk, near the mouth of Amur River, early in June, and was due to return here the first week in July. The fact that she has not been reported gives reason to believe that she failed to escape the Japanese warships.

JAPS SEIZE GERMAN SHIP.

TOKIO, July 28, 11 a. m.—The German steamer Lydia, of 1059 tons, has been seized by the Japanese near Loochoo.

TREASURES FOR METROPOLITAN.

LONDON, July 27—Sir Purdon Clarke, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, has returned here from Paris, where, accompanied by Robert de Forrest, one of the trustees of the museum, he has been inspecting art objects offered for sale to the Metropolitan Museum. Director Clarke made important selections, but he would not divulge their nature because the deals have not yet been concluded. It is announced that 12 panels by Donato d'Arnolo Bramante, the celebrated Italian painter, architect, and military engineer, recently sold at auction at Christie's were bought.

CHEERED BY THEIR CHIEF.

Admiral Goodrich Visits the Bennington's Injured.

Affectionately Greeted by Men Who are Dying.

Official Investigation of the Disaster Begins.

SAN DIEGO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery announced this afternoon that at the government's expense, the bodies of any of the Bennington's sixty-two dead, and eventually of any of the other six or more survivors who are slowly but surely dying, will be shipped to relatives upon request, provided such requests are made within a reasonable time, so that the health laws of California, governing the exhuming of bodies are not conflicted with.

In an official report made to Admiral Goodrich tonight, it is announced that the bodies of C. O. McKeon, machinists' mate of the second class, and of Ward Kennedy, apprentice seaman, and of John Barchus, ordinary seaman, are being shipped to relatives at government expense.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, Admiral Goodrich, accompanied by Commander Young of the Bennington, Commander Moore of the Chicago, Surgeon C. G. Smith, Flag Lieutenant Sargent of the Chicago and Aide Goodrich, came ashore from the crippled gunboat and were taken in mule-drawn vehicles from Fort Rosecrans, on a tour of inspection of the barracks hospital and Agnew and St. Joseph's Sanatoriums.

FORTY-FIVE UNDER TREATMENT.

In the barracks, thirty-four wounded sailors are being cared for; at Agnews, nine, and at St. Joseph, two, all who were able to be moved, having been transferred from Agnew and St. Joseph's to the hastily-fitted-up barracks—until a few days ago, an abandoned building. Dr. D. M. Lewis, Sr., senior surgeon, and Dr. C. P. Kennelberger, junior surgeon, are in general charge of all the forty-five wounded, assisted by Dr. McCulloch. The latter two are directly in control of the barracks hospital.

At Agnew Sanatorium Dr. Arthur E. Shepard of Chicago, Dr. Charlotte Baker and Dr. B. V. Franklin, of San Diego, remain in charge from among the twenty-one civilian physicians and surgeons who so nobly came to the front in the awful emergency and labored day and night, many of them without sleep for a long stretch, and with only a scant mouthful of food snatched between cases, to sustain them. At St. Joseph's the white-frilled Sisters of Mercy and House Surgeon Remondino are taking care of the two survivors who still tarry, too badly off to be moved.

Those who in all likelihood will die are six among the nine sailors remaining at Agnew: Dart Sullivan, F. J. Muller, P. Nieman, seaman; Holly and L. A. Gries.

WHAT THE ADMIRAL SAW.

A strange scene met the eyes of the admiral and his staff when they entered the immense, garret-like room which covers the entire second floor of the barracks—or if not strange to fighting men and officers, at least, weirdly unfamiliar to civilian gaze.

Up and down the two sides of that great, bare, cheerless chamber thirty-four army cots are ranged, on each of them reclining a sort of human chrysanthemum—a bandaged, masked and bewound sailor, the lint and cotton and muslin enswathing him saturated with picric acid, than which not even yellow ochre is yellower.

Junior Surgeon Kennelberger, stripped of his braided coat, guiltless of linen collar and enveloped from heels to head in blue overalls and jumper, with rubber gloves casing his skillful hands and uprolled sleeves exposing to view his magnificently muscular forearms, had just finished the rebandaging of a scalded face, letting picric acid gurgle from a huge inverted bottle onto the thirsty lints when the group of immaculate officers entered.

Out at Agnew Sanatorium, half an hour later, the admiral and party were received on behalf of civilian surgeons, by Dr. Shepard, and on behalf of the nursing fraternity by Head Nurse, Craik, a tall and splendidly capable girl, whom many a tortured Jackie will remember in backward glances throughout the rest of his days.

Admiral Goodrich, having been reassured by Dr. Shepard that a visit from the chief of the Pacific squadron not only would not endanger the condition of the wounded men, but that to his coming many of them had been looking forward eagerly, the inspection of thirty-five rooms was begun.

DYING MAN HUMORED.

On one of the cots lay Sailor Nieman, like a grewsome saturated mummy. He has only one eye since the explosion, and there is hardly a portion of him unpeeled by the scalding steam. With his one remaining eye, the left one, shining darkly in the oasis of white lint that hid a mutilated human face, he flashed a recognition to his admiral; for all that he was dying, the poor devil in bandages and the great man in blue and gold struck up what Jackies irreverently would call a chinning match. The Admiral, reminded by the sufferer, recalled that Nieman had sailed with him on board the cruiser Concord, years ago, when Goodrich was a commander, and they told each other how the ship had run her keel onto the mud flats that pester the mouth of the Yellow River at Hongkong.

"And a brave, devoted crew I had," remarked their former captain.

"Admiral," mumbled Nieman, "won't you kindly tell them, sir, to let me have some beer? I want it so."

"My Boy," replied the Admiral, "you were brought up on good beer, weren't you?"

"Yes, sir," spoke up the dying man; "I was born and raised in England."

The Admiral lifted his eyebrows to the attending surgeon. That mediator nodded—for, as he told me afterward, he believes in humoring a dying man—and the Admiral said: "Indeed, you shall have it, my boy."

"And, Admiral," mumbled the blackened lips, a moment later, "please, sir, let me join my ship in the morning."

"You shall. I will personally see to it," was the soothing response; for he spoke to a man in delirium.

GOOD WORK APPRECIATED.

Before the departure of the officers from the Agnew, Admiral Goodrich said to Dr. Shepard:

"Doctor, I want you to accept for yourself and convey to the other physicians and surgeons of San Diego, my heartfelt thanks and the sincere appreciation of the government for the splendid and self-sacrificing work of the medical men during this time."

In behalf of his brother and sister surgeons, Dr. Shepard briefly replied, expressing the satisfaction felt by himself and all of them in having been of prompt and opportune service.

The tour of inspection closed with a visit to St. Joseph's, where the Sister Superior and her aides showed the party through the sanatorium, and where Admiral Goodrich again expressed his and the nation's appreciation.

INVESTIGATION IS UNDER WAY.

BOARD OF SURVEY NAMED BY ADMIRAL GOODRICH.

Officers of Flagship Chicago Will Make Official Inquiry Into Cause of Explosion of Bennington Boilers. Despicable Methods of Hearst Representatives Resented.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In Rear-Admiral C. F. Goodrich, commander of the North Pacific Squadron, the Secretary of the Navy has placed upon the scene of the Bennington disaster a man of ability and silence. The prospect tonight is that very few official secrets will escape to the public, through the press, from the net of "official discretion" with which the gray-haired seadog has surrounded the Bennington investigation.

Navy regulations require that such reports as the one in view here be transmitted to Washington and departmentally passed upon prior to being laid before the people.

STOLE OFFICIAL LETTER.

Apart from this impediment, the newspaper correspondents on the field find themselves up against a red-tape, tin-foiled reticence brought about by a disgraceful application of Hearst methods in the gathering of news.

The whole naval staff here—that is, the officers of the cruiser Chicago and the gunboat Bennington—is "sore," and justly so, over the sneaking theft of an official letter from the cabin of Commander Lucien Young by an authorized representative of the Los Angeles Examiner. He slipped below on the Bennington the morning after the explosion, when backs were trustingly turned, and abstracted from Capt. Young's letter book an official letter written by that officer to Admiral Goodrich. This he sent to his paper, which published it with the false and flimsy statement that it had been "picked up from among a lot of waste papers on the Bennington's deck."

This miserable incident has brought suspicion on the whole corps of correspondents here, unjustly, of course, and yet, from the navy officers' view, naturally.

The protected cruiser Chicago, flagship of the squadron, bearing Admiral Goodrich, entered the harbor of San Diego at 6 o'clock this morning, not at 11 o'clock last night, as erroneously reported, after an exceptionally fast run from San Francisco. Her arrival terminated the local supervision of Capt. Drake, captain of the Mare Island Navy Yard, and transferred the Bennington investigation to the ranking officer of the Pacific station.

An hour after the flagship dropped anchor in the stream, off the foot of H street, a telephone message to the Brewster Hotel apprised Capt. Drake of thearrival of his superior, and soon afterward he went aboard. At 8 o'clock Commander Young and several of his officers of the Bennington put off from that vessel and boarded the Chicago to pay their respects to the admiral and report. A brief conference in the latter's cabin followed.

The wheels of investigation, which had stopped with precision when the Chicago hove in sight under a full head of steam, were set going again by Admiral Goodrich without delay. Early in the morning his 10 o'clock bulletin to the newspaper men—he has inaugurated a 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. bulletin service for the correspondents—announced the appointment of the following officers, to constitute with himself as advisory head, the official head of investigation into the Bennington disaster: Lieutenant-Commander F. W. Bartlett and Lieutenant-Commander Halstead, both of the Chicago, and Lieut. Moody of the Bennington, to whom the report of the preliminary boards appointed by Capt. Drake has been presented.

Before noon the new board had gotten to work on the ill-starred gunboat. And at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon Admiral Goodrich, Commander E. K Moore of the Chicago, Capt. Drake, Capt. Young, Flag Lieutenant L. S. Sargent and Aide C. Goodrich (the latter a son of the admiral,) together with several other officers and the members of the board of investigation, boarded the Bennington, put on overalls and jumpers over their service uniforms, and went below to inspect the ship and her wrecked boilers. They were a grim sight as they trod the gundeck of the scarred and ash-covered vessel.

Pumped out and relieved of much of her armament the listed Bennington has regained her keel. Divers are at work on her, plugging from the outside the boiler intake pipes, preparatory to the towing to San Francisco, where the injured gunboat will be overhauled and refitted at the Mare Island navy yard.

WITH FULL NAVAL HONORS.

FUNERAL OF ENSIGN PERRY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At 10:30 o'clock tomorrow (Friday) morning, one week to a minute since the explosion on board the Bennington, will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in this city the funeral service for Ensign Newman K. Perry, the only officer killed among the sixty-two men who thus far have died as a result of the bursting of one of the gunboat's boilers.

The rector, the Rev. J. A. M. Richey, together with Bishop Johnson of Los Angeles, will conduct the services, and it is likely they will be assisted by Chaplain Stone of the flagship Chicago. The body of Ensign Perry will be taken to the home of his mother at Stockbridge, Mass., for burial.

The dead officer's widow and three-weeks-old babe are staying at the Hotel Robinson. With the bereaved woman is the ensign's mother, who has just reached San Diego after a hurried trip across the continent.

The funeral arrangements are under the direction of Maj. Rolfe of the engineer branch of the service, stationed at Fort Rosecrans. The following persons and organizations have been invited to seats in St. Paul's: Commander Young and surviving officers and men of the gunboat Bennington; Admiral Goodrich and staff, Commander Moore and officers of the flagship Chicago, Capt. Drake of the Mare Island Navy Yard, and officers of the tug Fortune and supply ship Iris; navy surgeons attending the wounded; Capt. Scott, commanding Fort Rosecrans, and the officers of the One Hundred and Fifteenth Coast Artillery; all resident and retired officers of the army and navy; officers of the San Diego Naval Reserves; Mayor Sehon and principal city officials; local government officers not already mentioned; civilian surgeons and nurses who cared for the Bennington's wounded; San Diego Chamber of Commerce, and others.

Commodore Stevenson Coming.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—In order that an officer of rank might be available for duty as a member of the Bennington court of inquiry, the Navy Department today ordered Commodore H. N. Stevenson, recently retired, to proceed to San Diego and report to Admiral Goodrich. Commodore Stevenson has been on duty as inspector of machinery for ships building at San Francisco. In addition, the captain of the Chicago and Capt. Drake will be available for appointment on the court.

ANOTHER GAME MAY BE ADDED.

PLAN TO INCLUDE HANDBALL IN COLLEGE TOURNAMENTS.

Athletes at University of Southern California Find it Excellent Training for the More Strenuous Games. Colleges and High Schools May Adopt It for Practice Work.

Handball is fast becoming one of the popular games in local amateur athletic circles and practice games and tournaments are being played.

The game is adapted to either indoor or outdoor playing and the exercise afforded from batting the tiny ball against the backstop and sending it bouncing back into the court brings into play nearly all the muscles of the body.

The game consists of batting with the bare hand, a tennis ball against the side of a building, or specially built backstop, which is usually about ten feet in height. The bounds of safety where the ball may strike is inside a space 10x10 feet on the backstop and within the same space on the court. The man who begins the play bounces the ball and then sends it with force against the backstop. If the ball bounces back into the court the other player must return it against the backstop and so on until one or the other fails. The game is twenty-one points.

At the University of Southern California a tournament is in progress which will probably continue throughout the week. Coach Holmes is busying himself conducting the contest which is calculated to put ginger into some of the big men needed for fall football.

The games at U.S.C. are played indoors in the gymnasium where splendid courts have been laid out on the polished floors. Ample room is provided for the extra efforts of the players. Thus far Prof. Holmes is the star player and his quick returns cannot be overcome. He has never been defeated in a series of games. Cristy is also a good player and with Prior will make a strong team.

There is a disposition on the part of those who are interested in the game to urge upon the faculties of colleges and High Schools in the Southland the advisability of including handball in their curriculum of sports. They claim the game will not call for the outlay of any money and will result in added interest in sports. Their plan is to play off a handball tournament in connection with an interscholastic or intercollegiate tennis tourney. There would be plenty of time to sandwich in the lively little tournament of handball and the men who are becoming experts should put up a fast contest.

The introduction of handball into the schedule of games and the coupling of the game with tennis would result, many believe, in a revival of interest in tennis among the schools and colleges. As there are many men in college who cannot engage in the more strenuous games, the opportunity would be offered for healthful exercises where the elements of danger are entirly eliminated.

Should the schools and colleges at the beginning of the season arrange for local handball tournaments among their athletes, the contests could be carried on in connection with football practice without infringing upon the rules of the most exacting coach, and the best handballers from each school could be picked to represent the college in an annual match without any extra trouble. The men could come together in the spring at the time of the scheduled tennis tourneys and much sport would be afforded by the games.

Bart is Recovering.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Eugene F. Bert, lawyer and president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, who shot himself ten days ago, is improving. He will, it is now believed, recover. When his condition warrants it, he will be operated on for an internal trouble with which he has been afflicted for some time past.

Northwestern Tennis.

DEEP HAVEN (Lake Minnetonka, Minn.) July 27.—In the doubles of the northwestern tennis tournament, today Collins and Waldner of Chicago beat Hunt of California and Burton of Minneapolis, 3-6, 6-0, 6-2, 9-6.

Challenge for Canadian Cup.

TORONTO (Ont.) July 27.—Nicholas Temariere has been chosen as the challenger for the Canadian cup, now held by the Rochester Yacht Club. The races for possession of the cup will begin August 12, off Ontario Beach, near Rochester. Temariere was designed by Fyfe, the Scotch expert.

Latonia Results.

CINCINNATI, July 27.—Seven furlongs: Crescerton won, Two Penny second, Algonquin third; time 1:28 3-5.

Five furlongs: Jilletto won, Vickinney second, Hostility third; time 1:01.

NEW FIRE BOXES.

The following new fire alarm boxes are reported in service by City Electrician Manahan: Box No. 255, Douglas and Kensington road; No. 615, Sixteenth and Grammercy streets.

Origin of the Guinea.

The guinea was first coined in Charles II's reign, together with the 5 guineas, 2 guineas and half-guinea pieces, and came to be so called because many of the new coins were minted from gold brought from Guinea by the company of Royal Adventurers of England Trading into Africa. The royal order to the mint added that these pieces were to be marked "with a little elephant in such convenient place as you shall judge fitting, which Wee intend as a marke of distinction, and an encouragement unto the said company in the importing of gold and silver to be coined." It may interest omnibus drivers to hear that a castle was sometimes added to the elephant.—[Notes and Queries.

Bank Stock for Sale

AT ONLY $5 PER SHARE

Plan to Secure 1000 Stockholders No One Allowed to Purchase More Than $500 of Stock.

The people of Los Angeles can now buy bank stock at only $5 per share. No one will be allowed to purchase more than $500 of stock. Capital is to be increased to $500,000, making bank of a thousand small stockholders, thereby becoming the people's bank of Los Angeles. The Consolidated Bank of Los Angeles has decided to place its stock with the people, believing that in securing a thousand stockholders it will secure a thousand depositors at the same time. Investors can purchase such stock with absolute safety as to perfect security, and realize a handsome profit therefrom, as has been done by the owners of stock in the various other banks of Los Angeles. This is the only opportunity ever offered the general public to buy stock in a Los Angeles bank at $5 per share. We would rather have 5000 stockholders of $100 as the more stockholders there are each than 1000 of $500 each. We want the greatest number of stockholders, the stronger the bank. All stock fully paid up at Five Dollars per share. Purchasers can buy from 1 to 100 shares at $5 per share, but no one can buy more than $500 of stock. Subscription books just opened. Purchasers can subscribe for 100 shares and pay for the same in weekly payments of Five Dollars, and receive one share of paid-up stock as each $5 payment is made. We want the people to become the stockholders in the people's bank of Los Angeles. Officers: William H. Carlson (Ex-Mayor of the City of San Diego,) President; J. G. Estudillo (Ex-State Treasurer of California,) First Vice-President; F. H. Dixon (Ex-State Harbor Commissioner of California,) Second Vice-President; A. W. Carver, Cashier. Call or write for further information. Pamphlets, etc., mailed free on application. CONSOLIDATED BANK, 124 South Broadway, (Ground Floor Chamber of Commerce Building.) Los Angeles, Cal.

By taking the entire lot of one thousand pairs, we got them at a special price which enables us to offer you your choice of the assortment at only $2.85. Every pair of these trousers would sell in a regular way at $4.00 or $5.00. They are all choice new up-to-date patterns in striped worsteds and come in every size from 30 to 42 inch waist measure. The materials are first class and the trousers are well made and perfect in fit. Here's your opportunity to get an extra pair or two to go with your extra coats. On sale at both stores.

$18 and $20 Suits $15

Our sales of $15.00 suits have been something phenomenal this season and we find we're running short of the regular $15.00 grade. To make up this deficiency, we've taken about 350 of the best $18.00 and $20.00 suits and put them in the $15.00 class. Both double and single breasted styles in a big variety of patterns. Many of them made by Stein-Bloch Co., L. Adler Bros. & Co., and the famous "College Brand." Wouldn't you be willing to buy a suit for $15.00 rather than pay $18.00 or $20.00 for the same thing? VAUGHAN'S STORY.

"The deal for the sale of the Lincoln to Mrs. McWilliams," said Dr. Vaughan, "was arranged in this way. The price was to be $8000. Mrs. McWilliams was to pay $6900 in cash and $1100 represented by the place at No. 309 South Hill street.

"I had made my home for a long time at the Lincoln and had become friendly with Montgomery. I advanced him money; I cared for him when he was unable for various reasons to care for himself. He had become heavily involved by mortgaging furnishings upon which he had nothing but a lease. To help him out of worse difficulties, I arranged for a sale of the hotel.

"When the matter came to a climax, the proposition was made that the bill of sale be made for $6900 and that the Hill street house pass to me without any record, so that the creditors would have no knowledge of it. This $1100 was to cover what was due me for money I had advanced and services I had rendered. I did not like the plan, but I entered into it because it appeared to be the only way I could get anything out of the affair.

"I was to have nominal charge of the lodging house and Mrs. McWilliams was to take charge of the Lincoln.

"When the deal finally went through, Mrs. McWilliams got the Lincoln for $6900 and then ordered me out of the lodging house, so I'm out of what justly is my due and furthermore haven't a home."

"ALL A SCHEME," SHE SAYS.

"I believe this is all a scheme of certain persons to get possession of Montgomery's property while he is in a position where he cannot protect his interests," said Mrs. McWilliams. "The man was 'doped' with drugs and put in such a condition that he could not care for himself. He is no more insane than I am.

"I never agreed to pay more than $6900 for the hotel, and that was an advance of $400 over my original offer. The Hill street lodging house did not enter into the negotiations in any form."

Attorney Cook of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company says he forwarded the bill of sale for the Hill street house to the husband of Mrs. McWilliams, who is manager of a hotel at Almagirda, N. M., to be signed, so that the property could be sold at $1100, as agreed, he says, by the sellers of the Lincoln.

As to the "doping" of Montgomery, Dr. Vaughan says the man was given certain mild and harmless sedatives at times when liquor had upset his naturally excitable temperament.

Whatever may be the merits of the various conflicting stories, Attorney Craig says the matter will be sifted to the bottom and that, if any wrongdoings be discovered, the guilty persons will be punished.

He declares positively that the Hill street lodging house must figure as the property of Montgomery's creditors.

ARIZONA.

PHOENIX BONDS OFFERED AGAIN.

CINCINNATI BIDDERS PROVE COY ON PURCHASE.

General Run of Securities of the Territory are at Such a Premium That Gov. Kibbey Believes That Four Per Cent. Will be Enough to Pay in the Future.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) July 26.—The City Council has determined to call a special election to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mayor J. C. Adams. The election will probably be held late in August. The Council has rejected the bid of Todd & Co. of Cincinnati, for the $300,000 of municipal water bonds. Todd & Co. manifested a coyness about coming forward with a sufficient deposit to insure their taking the bonds when prepared, so the Council is in the market again for bond buyers. The paper will bear 5 per cent. interest.

Arizona bonds of the general run are now at such a premium that Gov. Kibbey is of the opinion that 4 per cent. will be enough for the Territory to pay for money in the future. This is the rate that has been secured for the refunded Tucson and Globe narrow gauge bonds of Pima county, and now it will be demanded for an issue of $5000 of Pima county bonds, that will be issued in place of bonds maturing June 30. At present Territorial 5 per cents. range about 109 on the market.

MOVE LAND OFFICE.

It has been definitely announced from Washington that the land offices at Tucson and Prescott are to be closed and a joint office established at Phoenix, as a geographical center. This action has the approval of the people of Prescott, but arouses violent wrath in the Tucson neighborhood. Phoenix has practically made no effort to secure the consolidated office. It balances the loss of the United States Marshal's office, ordered moved to Tucson.

RUSHING BIG RETAINER.

Rapid progress is being made with work at the Roosevelt dam. The 650-foot penstock tunnel below the dam has been completed through the hardest of rock, and is ready for its steel lining. At its lower end, preparations are being made for the erection of the power house, which is to be placed forty feet above the river. It is designed to furnish 5000 to 7000 horse power. The sluicing tunnel around the dam was finished some time ago, and now the gate shaft to the hilltop is done, ready for the great gates that are being made in the Llewellyn Iron Works in Los Angeles. The power canal will be done on September 1, nothing now being left to do but straight excavatoin work. Much of this canal is being lined with cement, from the cement works, which are being pushed to supply the needs of the contractors.

Roosevelt is one camp maintained in Arizona without liquor, and its reputation for peace is the best within the Territory. Many Apache Indians are employed on the works, and, though the Indian is noted for his taste for firewater, the tribesmen themselves are prompt in reporting to Chief Engineer Hill any departure of their red brothers from strict sobriety.

MAVERICKS OF NEWS.

A hard legal nut will be up soon for cracking in a claim of the Phoenix Light and Power Company for the right to take through its canal water belonging to one of the south side canals. Heretofore the power company has delivered the water just above the south side head. On account of changes made in the channel of the river by the floods of the spring, the canal heading has been moved above the delivery of the power ditch and the canal company has elected to get its water supply straight from the river. Whereupon the power company insists that vested rights have been damaged.

Another legal matter that seems to call for a Solomon on the bench is a suit of a New Orleans firm against a local grocer for payment for sugar shipped. The grocer found the sugar full of ants, and refused to accept it. The ants, were of a species not found in this neighborhood, and are assumed to have come from New Orleans. Justice Burnett gave judgment for defendant, but the case will be carried up.

A delegation of ladies belonging to an evangelical mission in Phoenix has asked of Gov. Kibbey the pardon of Zach Booth, sentenced to hang at Globe for the wanton murder of a sheepherder. The only reason given was that Booth had become a Christian, and it would be decidedly wrong to hang a professor of religion. The Governor seems to thing otherwise.

The Southern Methodist churches of the valley will join in an old-fashioned camp meeting in the outskirts of Phoenix for a season beginning August 10.

The National Guard of Arizona will go into camp near Prescott August 3, for a week. About 260 men will be in attendance. The guard has been thoroughly equipped and armed and is in excellent condition.

A late interview with Frank Murphy, president of the Arizona and California Railroad, gives Bengal on the Santa Fé-Pacific as the western terminus of the new line. This would dispose of the rumor that the road is headed for San Diego.

A party of forty-two stockholders in the Mormon Girl mine, in Cave Creek district north of Phoenix, is now at the mine, investigating the property.

The wheat crop of the southern side of the Salt River Valley has practically been ruined by rust and smut. The thrasher reports show that many fields have not been worth the heading.

The traveling salesmen of a shoe house making a trade-marked shoe for women found such reluctant audiences among dealers that they protested to their house. Being live and modern salesmen, they suggested that advertising in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL would change this condition. The manufacturer being amenable to reason and in touch with the times, accepted the suggestion. The process was a simple one. A fifty-six line ad was placed in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL for September, 1903, to run four months. A good business-getting catalogue was sent out to a very large list of dealers. The inside front cover of this catalogue had a reproduction of the four-inch advertisement, and the statement that that advertisement would be read four times in a million homes; that these million homes included almost every town and village in the United States; that the dealer who was prepared to answer calls for these trade-marked shoes would undoubtedly get business.

Now that manufacturer is seriously considering plans for building a larger factory. Between that time and now other magazinss were used, but that campaign started in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL, and the advertising still appears in the same publication.

Cannon Made from Rocks.

Most people are aware that the fortifications at Malta were cut out of the solid rock, but it is not generally known that rock cannon were used to defend the place when the knights held it.

The knights shaped and bored rocks in the form of gigantic cannon, which, when loaded, contained a whole barrel of gun-powder. This shoveled in, the cannon mouths were plugged with pieces of wood as wadding, and loaded up with cannon balls and shells.

Many of these cannon, of which fifty commanded the spots where hostile ships were likely to approach, were able to throw ten-thousand-pound weight of balls.

Nothing surpassed these natural cannon in the days of the knights, and they were unknown anywhere else in the world.—[Pearson's Weekly.

At Somerset, O., former State Senator William E. Fink and wife were fatally burned yesterday in a natural gas explosion that wrecked their home.

ATTRACTIVE RESIDENCES IN THE WESTLAKE DISTRICT.

ATTRACTIVE RESIDENCES IN THE WESTLAKE DISTRICT.

We have listed five very desirable Westlake homes. These attractive residences occupy beautiful locations in this exclusive section of Los Angeles, and at the very moderate prices we quote today are exceptional bargains.

They are all 9-room houses with the exception of one, which contains ten fine rooms. All are finished in the same substantial style in Flemish oak and white enamel. They are paneled and beam ceilings in some of the rooms, handsome oak entrances, plate glass windows, hardwood floors downstairs with rock maple floors upstairs. There are also large living-rooms, fine, good-sized dining-rooms, cosy corners, window seats, handsome buffets. A billiard-room in some of the houses. All have fine lots—some of them elevated above street. None of these houses are exact duplicates in style of architecture or arrangement. They are similar in finish and in the fine workmanship employed in building. Lighting fixtures are very unique and handsome in every instance. This is the opportunity for anyone looking for a residence in the Westlake section. We can quote most attractive figures on every house. The locations of the five houses are—673 Bonnie Brae; 1636 Alvarado; 1633 Alvarado; 630 Bonnie Brae and 634 Bonnie Brae.

Take your first opportunity and go out and see these houses. Call at Althouse Bros. for the key.

FOR SALE—HOUSES— For easy terms.

We offer for sale a house located in the south west. No. 2627 Lasalle ave. This modern house has just been completed, and is one of the nicest homes we have built this year. Every part of the house is the best of its kind. Large living-room, pressed-brick mantel and seats; large dining-room with plenty of windows and handsome built-in buffet; maple floors; gas and electricity; nickel-plated plumbing; shades and laws and other features make this house desirable.

We will make a special price and special terms to anyone desiring this thoroughly modern home place.

We would be glad to show you through the house

We have a modern residence of ten rooms at 122 N. Broad st.; this house must be seen to be appreciated.

The house contains combination lighting fixtures, built-in buffet and writing desk, plumbing and other conveniences that the up-to-date woman is looking for.

You will make a mistake if you do not take advantage of our low price on this house. All rooms are large, and there is plenty of light. Let us show you through the house.

We want to call your attention to a home which is positively the cheapest house in the city, taking everything into consideration.

This modern home is being built at No. 1718 Lenox ave., and will have 7 rooms, with 11x30 with ingle nook, bookcase and seats, and a dining-room 11x17 with a very elaborate buffet. This room is paneled five feet high, in plate rail and maple floors; has the living-room, large windows throughout.

This house when finished will be complete in every detail. Take a look at it later and if you care to buy it we will allow you to select the tints.

We offer for sale a new, modern residence at No. 1257 East 15th st. This property has all the conveniences that a person would care for, and is in a district that would be called choice.

We will give a low price on this property if taken shortly.

We will take one or more lots as part payment on any of these houses.

FOR SALE—BARGAIN! BARGAIN!

ONLY $135 per acre for 22½ acres of the very finest kind of soil, located 7½ miles north of Hollywood and within 5¼ miles of the center of Los Angeles; 6-room California house on the property. We have just sold the land immediately adjoining, and one-half of it will be planted to walnuts this coming season. The soil cannot be surpassed for growing walnuts, alfalfa, berries or vegetables of any kind, and we will put it against any ranch property to be bought in Los Angeles county at from $250 to $300 per acre. It can be planted to walnuts or alfalfa at little expense, and will be worth double its cost within six months after planting. Will grow 12 tons of alfalfa or 130 sacks of Irish potatoes per acre per year. The new electric road now building to Burbank will increase its value very much within the next few months. This is without question one of the best ranch bargains on the market.

FOR SALE—
about the suburbs of Los Angeles; since the admirable system of electric car service has been inaugurated many of these are reached in less time than lots within the city. Glendale is above all others in this respect and a most beautiful place in which to live.

GLENDALE BOULEVARD TRACT is a new subdivision in the foothills, with beautiful views and climate. There is a boulevard 120 feet wide running through the center, where the car line is situated.

The soil is adapted for all small fruits, and the temperature allows strawberries and tomatoes to ripen early in the winter.

We have 50-foot lots for sale as low as $200, and acreage from $400 an acre; some of the land is vacant, some in prunes, apricots or oranges, plenty of choice, with mountain water piped to the lots.

Our agent is on the ground. Take the Glendale car from Sixth and Main sts. and go to the end of the line; but if you will call at our office we will furnish maps, particulars and, if you wish it, free transportation.

END OF PINCH OF SALT LAKE.

Final Conference Called on Trackage Trouble.

Satisfactory Basis About to be Reached.

Fast Through Train Into the Utah Capital.

A conference of the traffic officials of the Southern Pacific, Oregon Short Line, Union Pacific and the Salt Lake has been called to meet at San Francisco, Monday, July 31, for the purpose of settling finally the question of trackage and switching rights of the Salt Lake at its Los Angeles terminal.

This conference is the direct outcome of the recent meeting in New York of Senator Clark and E. H. Harriman, and is taken by Salt Lake officials to indicate that the freight lockout practically enforced against them by the Southern Pacific, and the Santa Fé in their refusal to let the Clark road in on any basis of switching and trackage rights and transfer of cars will soon be terminated.

While refusing to discuss the probable basis upon which the matter will be settled in this conference, J. Ross Clark, third vice-president of the Salt Lake, who returned yesterday morning from New York, says he has no doubt the settlement will be entirely satisfactory to the Salt Lake and to the Southern Pacific, as well. For a pecuniary or mutual exchange of traffic, the Salt Lake will be allowed the use of Southern Pacific tracks, both terminal and industrial, and will enjoy a free and unrestricted interchange of cars both with the Southern Pacific, the Oregon Short Line and the Union Pacific.

This will practically give the Salt Lake all that it has asked from the Southern Pacific. Any arrangements, if any are made with the Santa Fé, will be considered later. It is believed by the officials of the Salt Lake that if they can effect a satisfactory compromise with the Southern Pacific they will be in a position, the better to make terms with the Santa Fé.

J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, who has undertaken to draft the basis of the agreement under which a settlement of the situation is hoped to be made, has advised that he will probably not be able to attend the Frisco conference, but will send a representative.

J. A. Munroe, freight traffic manager of the Union Pacific will probably represent that road, while Vice-President Clark, and General Freight and Passenger Agent E. W. Gillett will represent the Salt Lake.

The conference will probably extend over several days, as a number of questions of prime importance to all parties concerned will have to be thrashed over.

Railway traffic men are unanimous in the opinion that whatever arrangement is made will have the effect directly of diverting considerable traffic from the Southern Pacific, but this on the other hand will be more than made up by the gains of the Union Pacific through an unrestricted traffic agreement with the Salt Lake.

To the Santa Fé, also, the letting the Salt Lake in on the ground floor of the freight business to and from the Pacific Coast will be a severe blow, the more so since it will be powerless to stand in the way, should the Southern Pacific accede, for at the Los Angeles terminal the Santa Fé possesses few industrial tracks of importance that are not likewise reached by the Southern Pacific. It is probable, therefore, that when an agreement is effected between the Salt Lake and the Southern Pacific, the Santa Fé will be ready to come in on the most advantageous traffic agreement which it may be able to secure.

FAST SALT LAKE.
WILL SHORTEN TIME.

J. Ross Clark, third vice-president of the Salt Lake, who returned yesterday from an extended conference with Senator Clark at New York, says one of the decisions reached at that meeting was the determination to put on a fast through train between Los Angeles and Salt Lake just as soon as the ballasting of the road and the substitution of heavy steel along the sections not yet relaid is completed. This will be accomplished early in the fall, and the roadbed will be thoroughly oiled for the entire distance at the same time.

The through service will cut the time between Los Angeles and Salt Lake to thirty hours, or possibly less, and this train, which will not affect the present service save in the matter of through travel, will carry Pullmans for Chicago by way of the Union Pacific and Northwestern through Omaha and the Rio Grande through Denver.

Mr. Clark says the Senator is well pleased with the showing thus far made by his road, and is desirous of doing everything possible to make it one of the most popular and heavily patronized routes of transcontinental travel.

Senator Clark is fully recovered from his operation, says his brother, and will be ready to set sail for Europe the last of the month.

RATE SLASHING CONTINUES.

The eastern rate war of the differential lines between Chicago and New York is still waged briskly and with no sign of a compromise or treaty.

Local passenger offices yesterday received advices that the old differential lines in their fight against the Vanderbilt system had lowered the rate between the two cities to $14, and had made a rate of $13 to Boston. It is believed that the rate between Chicago and New York will touch $10 unless the Wall Street interests speedily take a hand and demand that the old differential lines and the Michigan Central of the Vanderbilt system make up their differences. This, it is believed, can be accomplished only when the Michigan Central agrees to withdraw from the differential class, and go back to its former place as one of the standard lines.

The old differential lines contend, that with the Michigan Central landing its passengers at the Grand Central station at New York and carrying a daily tourist sleeper to Boston, which New York passengers may use as far as Albany, that it is impossible for them to compete on the basis of the differential tariffs, and that there will be no let up in the rate war until the Michigan Central announces its withdrawal.

A special train will be run over the Salt Lake from Long Beach to Terminal Island tonight for the benefit of those who attend the meeting for the discussion of the annexation of the two towns.

Harry Brandt, of Spokane, has been appointed to the position of district passenger agent of the Merchants' Independent line of steamers and not of the Pacific Coast line, as erroneously announced in a dispatch from Spokane. W. R. Meech, of Los Angeles is district passenger agent of the Pacific Coast line.

VISITOR ON "RUBBER MONEY."

Col. Thomas H. Kingsley, district passenger agent of the Louisville and Nashville, with headquarters at Dallas Tex., is spending his vacation at Los Angeles. Kingsley is one of the veteran railroad men of Texas and worked for the old Sunset route before it became the Southern Pacific years ago when men like Traffic Manager McMillan of the Pacific Electric were merry boys in the service.

The colonel recalls the time when all employés of the road were paid in gutta percha meal checks, which passed current as legal tender all along the length of the line. They served not only for meals and beds at the eating-houses, but were good for the purchase of clothing and the payment of freight bills and the purchase of railway tickets, and were received by the local banks on deposit as currency.

This all worked very nicely until a number of sharks came out from the East with thousands of bogus meal checks, all stamped with the rising sun and "Sunset Route," and flooded the market with $25,000 worth of bogus rubber money. The railroad was then compelled to call in this very elastic currency, and discovered when all had been cashed in that they had been compelled to redeem three times the amount which had been rightfully issued.

Both Kingsley and McMillan sport gold-mounted charms of the old Sunset "little chips," and yesterday swapped numerous yarns recalled of old times when money was scarce and when the entire force of a railroad was content to work for its "board."

NOTHING IN IT.
HUNTINGTON ON "CLASH."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] H. E. Huntington tonight at the Metropolitan Club denied emphatically that there has been any clash between him and E. H. Harriman, over the Southern Pacific feeder to Port Los Angeles or over anything else.

"If any story has been printed to that effect," said Huntington, "Say for me unqualifiedly that it is a lie, made out of whole cloth."

Both Sides Deny Reports.

The above is Mr. Huntington's repeated refutation of the story that he and Harriman had disagreed on the question of the electrizing of the Port Los Angeles branch of the Southern Pacific. It was reported that Harriman, on account of the alleged unprofitable operation of this branch as a steam road, wished to electrize the line, against the opposition of Huntington.

This is but a part of the reports connecting Huntington's name with the contemplated purchase of the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway.

Recently the business of the Los Angeles-Pacific has increased so greatly as to tax the rolling equipment of the road to the uttermost to handle it, and the report has been persistently circulated that Mr. Huntington was negotiating for its purchase to complete his extensive system of electric railways to all of the principal beach resorts and outlying towns.

These reports are emphatically denied both by Mr. Huntington and by the management of the Los Angeles-Pacific.

CALIFORNIA ASSESSMENTS.
IMPORTANT STATEMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—The State Board of Equalization was in session today to consider railroad assessments.

The Lake Tahoe road has eighteen miles of track, valued at $26,767.50, and its rolling stock is valued at $27,280. Its gross receipts for the year were $31,634.84. Its operating expenses were $22,341.45, leaving a net income of $9293.39. Interest and taxes amounted to $3836.25, leaving a surplus of $5457.

The Boca and Loyalton has fifty-six miles of road, valued at $13,965. A valuation of $13,965 is placed on its rolling stock, and its gross earnings for the year are given as $173,407, while the operating expenses were $93,012.47, leaving a net income of $80,394.95. Interest and taxes amounted to $43,219.89, which, being deducted, leaves a surplus of $17,175.07.

The Sierra Railroad, which was also slated for this afternoon, has eighty-four miles of track, valued at $263,769. Its rolling stock is valued at $35,457. Its gross earnings were $364,420.59; its operating expenses, $245,242.66, leaving a net income of $121,187.93. Interest and taxes amounted to $100,934.17, leaving a surplus of $20,253.79.

Inimitable "Bob" Burdette.

Again readers of The Times may enjoy the quaint humor in the writings of this famous newspaper paragrapher, lecturer and preacher. Now journeying on an extended European tour, Mr. Burdette will write one of his inimitable letters for The Times each Sunday during his journey.

BRAVE BOY'S NERVY CHASE.

Los Angeles Lad Drives a Criminal to Bay.

Despite Danger He Pursues Man for Miles.

Stops Only When Threatened With Instant Death.

Alva Blake, a Los Angeles boy, aged 17, whose home is No. 215 West Sixteenth street, has distinguished himself in Salt Lake, has won the praise of public officials and of the press and the plaudits of all good citizens because he risked his life in an effort to effect the capture of a vile criminal. It was only when the fugitive was about to kill him that the boy abandoned the trail. Even then he did what he could to continue pursuit.

The boy is the son of H. T. Blake. He went to Salt Lake several weeks ago to spend his vacation with relatives. He will return to Los Angeles in time to resume his studies in the schools. After his thrilling experience, the brave lad did not even inform his parents here, but through other persons they learned the facts.

A week ago Saturday young Blake was walking along State street in Salt Lake when he was accosted by a frantic woman who pointed to a man running from her and informed the boy that the man had attempted a crime against her six-year-old daughter. The mother had chased the man out of a vacant lot, and saw that the criminal would easily distance her. Almost out of breath, the woman asked Blake to take up the chase and point out the man to a policeman. She gave him her address and Blake started.

Keeping the fugitive within sight, Blake pursued the man over a zigzag course through the outskirts of Salt Lake. Several times the rascal turned and warned the boy to go back, but Blake kept within safe distance and never lost sight of the quarry.

After they had run a mile or more, the criminal picked up a piece of 2x4 timber and faced about, threatening to brain the boy. This halt only served to enable the youthful pursuer to regain his breath, and he followed with renewed energy. At another point the man, armed with a club, lay in wait behind a haystack, but the boy saw him in time to escape the weapon hurled at him.

Meeting a citizen, Blake asked him to telephone for the police. The message was sent and a patrol wagon loaded with officers was hurried to that part of the city, but pursuer and pursued were ahead a mile or more away.

Before the arrival of the officers, the fugitive leaped aboard a slow freight train, thinking thereby he would shake off his youthful pursuer, but Blake caught another car on the same train.

Out of breath he hung to the step on the side of a box car before mounting, and told the trainmen. As he hung there he heard a noise above him. Looking up he saw the man with a revolver leveled at him.

"Jump," was commanded, "or I'll blow your head off."

To remain where he was meant death, and the boy dropped from the train. Running to a cement works near by, he telephoned to the police to watch the train as it approached the yards.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Bright Light for Excavations.

Work on the foundation for the Hellman block at Third and Main streets is being rushed, and gangs of men are kept busy at night on the excavation. Powerful electric lights have been installed in order to aid the operations of the workmen.

Distinguished Rabbi Here.

Rev. Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, one of the most distinguished ministers of the Jewish faith, arrived from Chicago yesterday, and is staying during his visit here at the Van Nuys. About 100 prominent Jews here will give Dr. Hirsch a complimentary banquet at the Angelus this evening.

Edendale Improvement.

The Edendale Improvement Association gave a social last night at Edendale Hall. Music was furnished by the Inez orchestra and the Davis' Ladies Lyceum orchestra. Percy D. Hammond spoke on municipal improvement in general. There were about one hundred and fifty persons present.

Las Vegas Failure.

Fred I. Kramer, freighter, blacksmith and dealer in general merchandise at Las Vegas, Nev., has made an assignment to the Wholesalers' Board of Trade of Los Angeles, his liabilities being given at $35,000 and his assets at the same amount. Kramer has been in business in Las Vegas since last January.

Underground Conduits.

Gangs of men are laying the underground conduits for the Sunset Telephone Company along Jefferson street west from Grand avenue. The work will be continued under the present contract as far as Wesley avenue, but the company plans to lay the conduits throughout the University district. When the work is completed the poles will be removed.

Accused of Striking Woman.

Frederic Bertrand, a burly Frenchman who runs a hotel on Alameda street, was arrested yesterday charged with striking a woman. Mrs. Nancy Maynard has a daughter who formerly worked for Bertrand. She went around yesterday to collect money alleged to be due her, and says that Bertrand slammed the door in her face after striking her. He will be tried Monday.

Coronado's Baby Show.

W. H. Moore, representing the Coronado Beach Company, is in town securing prize cups for the "Tent City Baby Show," which is to be held at Coronado on August 9. The management promises the biggest and daintiest baby show "ever," and proud parents are requested to send in names, age and sex, with address of parents. No entry fee charged for this little human race.

For Independent Norway.

Members of the Norwegian colony in this city pledged themselves never to forget old Norway, at an enthusiastic meeting held yesterday evening at Central Hall No. 121 South Broadway. Dainty maids in quaint costumes sang the songs of the Norseland and others told in patriotic addresses the story of the struggle for independence. The attendance was large and at the conclusion of the interesting programme the national hymn was sung with fervor.

Not Mattox, Says Watkins.

Joe Watkins, a horse dealer doing business at No. 1502 South Main street, has made a denial of the assertion that his place is one of the dopey-horse stations maintained by William Mattox for the bleeding of trusting suckers. One of Mattox's famous crop of bogus horses was sold at that address not long ago, but Watkins states the place has come into his hands since. It is said that Mattox, whose operations were exposed by The Times, is known among horsemen as "Gypsy Bill."

Naval Militia Medal Drill.

The Engineer Division, N.M.C., Lieut. A. H. Woodbine commanding, held an interesting competitive medal drill last evening at their armory, No. 175 North Spring street. As the result of some very snappy drilling Machinist Mate Fay Stephenson will wear the beautiful medal for three months, when he will have to defend it. After the drill refreshments and dancing were enjoyed. Scott Johnson gave an exhibition of a sailor's bedtime, slinging hammock, etc. The decorations and social programme were in charge of Mrs. Gruman, assisted by Misses Richards and Knight. About 200 were present.

Helping Hand.

The home for boys instituted under the auspices of the Helping Hand Society at No. 437 Turner street, about three months ago, is to be moved. Through donations received from Charles Stimson and others the society has within that period assisted about twenty-five boys, for most of whom employment has been obtained. It has been decided to remove to a more suitable location. Until a new one has been obtained, the headquarters will be at No. 316 North Broadway. Pending the selection of a place temporary arrangements will be made for the care of the boys.

Suffragists Here.

Miss Susan B. Anthony, Rev. Anna Shaw and their party arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning. Miss Anthony, Rev. Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Emily V. Groos are visiting Mrs. Charlotte L. Wills, No. 601 Buena Vista street. Miss Jessie Anthony of this city, who is cousin of Miss Anthony, will entertain as her guests Miss Lucy Anthony, Miss Mary A. Anthony and Dr. Mary Hussy of Chicago, will be guests of Mrs. Caroline M. Severance of No. 806 West Adams street. On Tuesday afternoon the visiting suffragists will go to Venice in a special car and there a programme will be given under the auspices of the County Suffrage Association.

Honors for Degree Team.

Celebrating the return of the degree team which won honors at the recent national encampment of the Modern Woodmen of the World held at Milwaukee, Wis., Pacific Camp, No. 9662, entertained with a social and dance yesterday evening at No. 125½ South Spring street. A beautiful art bronze clock, won by the team for having the largest delegation coming from the greatest distance, was presented to the local camp by R. J. Adcock. Addresses were made by Capt. J. I. McKenna, Capt. Archie Newton of Golden State Camp, No. 7110, and E. S. Hammel. The Reception Committee was E. A. Coles, S. McCahill and Judge Earle. The chairman for the evening was Dr. J. S. Jones. Refreshments were served.

CARE NOTHING FOR VICTIMS.

Reckless Automobilists Cause Serious Wreck.

Brutally Leave Three Injured Lying in Street.

Wrecked Buggy Hurled Against Electric Car.

Two men in an automobile which was being driven at a speed of at least thirty miles an hour caused a serious runaway, painful injuries to two people, and the wreck of a buggy in front of a Long Beach car at Ceres avenue and East Ninth street.

Totally oblivious to the damage they had caused the men sped away in their auto car never deigning to look behind. Pedestrians and passengers on the Long Beach car were indignant and if the two culprits had been captured at the time the crowd might have handled them roughly.

Eye witnesses who saw only the flash of the auto as it wheeled into East Ninth street and hurled the buggy and its occupants in front of a car say the number of the machine appeared to be "880 Cal;" indicating that the number had been registered with the Secretary of State. The police are trying to locate the machine and owner and when they do arrests will follow.

As a result of the accident Miss Lillian M. Tobin, a Chicago schoolteacher was painfully injured and George Burns of No. 430 Centennial street was badly bruised. Miss Lillian Burns was caught in a runaway and narrowly escaped serious injudy.

Miss Tobin and Miss Burns, both of whom are instructors in the Chicago public schools, who have been in Los Angeles only since Sunday, were out driving with Miss Burns's brother in a buggy. They were on the north side of the street driving west along East Ninth street near Ceres avenue, when an automobile in which two men were seated, whirled out of the cross street at a high rate of speed and struck the buggy.

The vehicle was thrown squarely in front of a Long Beach car outward bound and before the motorman could stop Mr. Burns and Miss Tobin were thrown out. Miss Burns remained in the partially wrecked buggy and clung to the reins while the frightened horse ran half a mile before it could be checked.

The injured were sent to the Receiving Hospital. Miss Tobin suffered a bruised right shoulder and a severe cut under the chin. Mr. Burns was bruised and shaken.

Eye-witnesses of the accident say the escape of the three from death or serious injury under the wheels of the car was little short of miraculous. Only the quick action of the motorman in stopping his car within a few feet when the buggy and its three occupants were thrown directly in front of him, prevented fatal results.

BREVITIES.

The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier; especially Sunday real estate announcements, which, in order to be printed, must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday nights. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, in a part by itself on Sundays involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential, in order to get the paper out on time to stop receiving real estate ads. at 10 o'clock Saturday nights. Dealers will confer a favor on The Times office if they will turn in Sunday copy on Fridays when possible; or, at least, a part of it, and the balance early on Saturdays. Sunday "Want" ads. will still be received by 'phone and over the counter until 11 o'clock Saturday night.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union office for H. J. Miller, Mrs. M. B. Smith, Miss Annie Erwin, Nev. Chief M. and M. Co., Frank Murphy, Miss Mary Wilcox, W. A. Kates, O. H. Harrison, Cal. Bee and Honey Co., Mrs. W. J. Irvine, Miss Martha Leslie, A. W. Collum, Perry Russell, Tom Tracey, S. P. Wiley, O. H. Schens, Wayne Darlington.

Bankrupt stock to be sold. The stock of drugs, chemicals, and other merchandise, situated at No. 318 South Broadway, will be sold in bulk to the highest bidder; sealed bids will be received until 10 a.m. Saturday, July 29. For invoice and other information inquire to L. R. Wharton, Trustee, room 217, O. T. Johnson Bldg.

The ladies' rest room on the top floor of the new wing of The Times Building is open daily from 9 to 5. Ladies from town or country will find this a convenient place to write, rest or read. Stationery provided for correspondence Both 'phones available. Take elevator in business office. All are welcome.

Headquarters for Arizonians and tourists, Hotel Rosslyn, 433 So. Main street. Meals 25 cents.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Postal Telegraph Company, No. 238 South Spring street, for W. E. Curtis, Mrs. Charlotte Kompel, Mrs. Emma F. Heavner, George Uhler, R. M. Hotaling, George E. Griswold, F. B. Faye, George R. Cleveland.

ONE NAMED; ONE UNKNOWN.

Coroner's Inquests Held Yesterday on Two of the Victims of Railway Accidents.

Eli Casey was the name of the man who was killed by a locomotive on the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway near Sentous Station Tuesday night. At least this name was found on the man's linen and, after a Coroner's jury had returned a verdict of accidental death, the man was buried under the name of Casey.

The other unfortunate victim of a railway accident on the same night, who was crushed by a Salt Lake train at the Aliso-street crossing, was not identified. A Coroner's jury made an investigation at Pierce Bros.' morgue and a verdict of accidental death was returned, but the name of the dead man could not be learned. The body was buried in a grave marked "unknown."

PERSONAL.

Two Good Pianos

best piano at an honest price. There is nothing fictitious about it. It is exactly what it is, because there is no need for masquerading. The enduring and extremely sympathetic, combining delicacy of expression with great volume. The Estey is a piano that is truly lasting, beautiful musical—an ideal piano for the critical buyer.

is a certain "goodness" about an Emerson piano which makes it distinctive. It is not the highest priced piano made. Its price is high enough to cover the best materials and workmanship, and yet low enough to arrest the attention of the most careful buyer. The Emerson is worth all it costs, but does not cost all it is worth.

DEFIED BY LIBRARY BOARD, WHAT'LL THE MAYOR DO?

The crucial moment in the library investigation that didn't investigate. "Will you produce evidence?" asks the Mayor. "No" replies the board's attorney, and it is all off.

WITH its thumb to its nose, the Library Board stuck out its tongue at the Mayor last night and refused to be investigated.

"Their refusal to do so (produce evidence) cannot but create the impression that the charges made by them are not well founded," said the Mayor in a statement issued afterward.

The board refused point-blank to produce any evidence in support of the discharge of Miss Jones. It openly defied the Mayor; contested his right to sit as a judge.

His Honor stared gloomily down at them, arrayed before him like naughty little boys, and called the investigation off without further comment.

Tremendous political sensation!

A challenge to the Mayor to discipline the board; will he call for the members' resignations today?

Miss Jones's attorney, Hon. Will A. Harris, insisted last night that this is the only course open to the Mayor.

The Mayor refused to state his intentions.

The Library Board went home with dignified tread; there were no scenes of violence.

An impressive delegation of club women, scores of them, marched up the stairs to the Council chamber—and then marched down again.

They began gathering half an hour or more before the investigation. In the sweetest gowns they peered in at the various offices until they found the right place and waited with fluttering excitement.

OPENING TABLEAU.

Just before the session opened a woman was standing alone in the Mayor's office, nervous, flushed with excitement. It was Miss Jones arrived on the scene. The door was thrown open. A man in corduroy entered. Tableau! It was Mr. Lummis.

Both advanced rapidly to the center. At 5:15; they have just shaken hands.

Mr. Lummis—But here a reporter came from the Mayor's inner office and Mr. Lummis retired.

The boy who stood on the burning deck must have walked with something of the slow and majestic tread with which Director Dockweiler marched in at the head of the board last night; women to the right of them volleyed and thundered.

The rest of the board ducked into their collars and slunk along in the wake, quailing under the glares of more than a hundred club women; not to mention the inconsequential and utterly unimportant male beings with them.

Among this charming bevy were Miss Susan B. Anthony and Rev. Anna B. Shaw, the latter a member of the same college sorority to which Miss Jones belongs—her burning wrath according.

Women sat around the two distinguished visitors drinking in their words, occasionally looking up with an air of scorn as much as to say, "There Mister Izzy Dockweiler; will that hold you for awhile?"

Director Marshutz simply couldn't stand it; he ducked. One scared look out of the corner of his eyes; mopped his brow; muttered something about being back in a minute, and scooted.

Miss Jones sat at one end of the half-moon of members' seats, charmingly gowned in white. Mr. Lummis stayed in the audience, standing in a corner crowded about with people.

Just as the trouble was about to begin, a young man came across the Council chamber with a large bunch of carnations which he presented to Miss Jones. [Applause.]

AND IT WAS OFF.

The Mayor entered with Assistant City Attorney Goudge. There was a crack of the gavel. The long-buzzed investigation was off.

The Mayor announced that, to save time, all testimony would be confined to seven charges made by the board against Miss Jones's absence without leave, lack of discipline, insubordination to the board, threats to resign, threat to accept another job, executive incompetency, inharmony in the management.

A pretty lad with rosy cheeks and curly hair got to his feet, out of the midst of the board which he represented. The flavor of sarcasm was in his voice. He was recognized as Oscar Lawler.

He said he wished to inquire if the board was to consider itself in the position of defendants in an action to condemn its action.

The Mayor looked down at him mildly and said: "It's only right, since you've made these charges, that you should have the first chance to substantiate them."

"Perhaps the acoustics of this place may be to blame, but I couldn't hear you," said the lad coldly.

"The reporter can read you what I said," replied the Mayor, two degrees lower in the thermometer.

This was the same Mr. McAleer to whom Little Boy Lawler used to refer almost tearfully during the campaign; this was the same Little Boy Lawler to whom the Mayor used to allude so fondly before that election.

Attorney Harris attempted to make a remark.

"I've got the floor," snapped the precocious Little Boy. Squabble. After the stormy skies were cleared again the Mayor remarked coldly to Lawler: "I guess you understand pretty thoroughly, Mr. Lawler, what we are here for."

"I demand to know who is to act as the judicial officer in this affair," retorted Lawler.

There was a long silence. At last the Mayor looked up with a half smile and said, "I thought it had been in all the papers. You knew I could get no assistance from the Council."

Lawler's tone grew sharper. "My experience with the papers has been that they don't make good judicial records. Are you going to be judge here."

"You seem to have a correct understanding of the situation," said the Mayor dryly.

OUT IT COMES!

With great eclat, Lawler then produced the long typewritten defi, which is printed below and read it out.

Politicians claim that, in spite of surface indications, it was a complete and crushing surprise to the Mayor.

When Lawler was done, the Mayor looked down at him and asked quietly, "If you have any evidence you can produce it now, Mr. Lawler."

"We have presented our position," said Lawler, firmly.

"Then I understand you have no evidence?"

Lawler replied with hot sudden anger. "We have evidence, but we object to proceeding before a judge, who is our own principal witness."

The Mayor faltered a minute, then said, "you can call me as a witness if you want to, Mr. Lawler."

To the Mayor's astonishment and alarm, Mr. Lawler began thundering oratorically, "do you mean that for nonce you will cast aside your judicial ermine and appear as a witness ——."

When he saw that the worst was over, the Mayor grinned.

He gently intimated that Oscar had better behave and stop his monkey business. "These people did not come here for pleasure," he said.

Which may or may not have been meant for a stinger.

"Notwithstanding the presence of so many of the fair sex," said Lawler, sarcastically, "I am not here for pleasure, either."

"Are you ready or not," snapped the Mayor.

"We are not," snapped Lawler.

"You have no evidence to offer?"

"Not at this time or before this tribunal."

ADJOURNED.

The Mayor wheeled about in his chair. "I am not able to compel them to go on. I am powerless to proceed any further with this hearing. I wish to say to these ladies and gentlemen, assembled for this hearing, that, as the board has refused to give any evidence, this meeting will stand adjourned."

There was a burst of applause. Some of the women were fiercely excited.

With her hat sagged down over ear, an agitated woman stood behind unhappy Foster C. Wright and hissed, "I'd dissolve 'em; that's what I'd do."

The Mayor would not say what he'd do. When asked for a statement, he said uneasily, "I'm going home to my sweetheart."

MAYOR'S CONCLUSIONS.

THINKS BOARD IN WRONG.

Late last night the Mayor issued the following statement:

On Monday last I addressed a communication to the Board of Directors of the Public Library, informing them that in response to public demand for an investigation of the action of the board in removing Miss Mary L. Jones from the position of librarian, I would hold such an investigation this evening at 8 o'clock, and requested the members of hte board to be present at that time, prepared to submit all the facts in connection with the action of the board in removng Miss Jones.

At the time appointed four members of the board with their attorney, and Miss Jones with her attorney, were present in the Council Chamber, and the investigation was opened.

In view of the fact that the board dismissed Miss Jones without a hearing, although according to the terms of the resolution removing her the action of the board was taken for good cause and upon numerous grounds specified in the resolution, I deemed it proper that the board should be required to submit evidence in support of the charges upon which they had acted in removing Miss Jones.

When called upon to do so, the members of the board to be present at that

When called upon to do so, the members of the board through their attorney refused to offer any evidence but their attorney read a communication signed by four members of the board in which it was asserted, substantially, that the action of the board in removing Miss Jones had been taken after conference with me and with my consent, and also that I had subsequently approved their action; that for their reasons and for the reason that the members of the board desired to call me as a witness, they objected to my conducting the investigation and declined to proceed or to submit any evidence whatever. I offered to testify if the members of the board desired to call me as a witness, but they still declined to proceed. My effort to hold an investigation was thus frustrated.

In reference to the statements contained in the communication above mentioned that the action of the board in removing Miss Jones had been taken after conference with me and with my consent, and that I had subsequently approved such action, I have to say that these statements are substantially true. I was informed by members of the board and believed that Miss Jones was about to resign and that it was necessary to select another librarian, and when informed of the selection of Mr. Lummis, I approved it.

Subsequently I was informed that Miss Jones had refused to resign and had been removed upon the grounds stated in the board's resolution of June 21. These grounds, if well founded, were certainly good cause for removal, and I was informed by the members of the board, and believed that the charges made were founded on facts and could be substantiated, and I therefore had reason to believe, and did believe, that the removal of Miss Jones was justified. I was perfectly willing, if called as a witness, to have testified that I believed the statements made by the members of the board to me in reference to their action in removing Miss Jones.

When it appeared that the action of the board had given public dissatisfaction, I made some personal inquiry into the facts, and as a result of that inquiry, and in response to a general demand for a public investigation of the stated grounds for Miss Jones's removal, I determined to hold such an investigation with the assistance of the Council, if that could be had, otherwise of necessity by myself alone, I being the only official who could conduct such an investigation with any sort of propriety. Some of the members had assured me that they were willing that a public investigation should be held and that the charges against Miss Jones could easily be proved. Miss Jones also expressed her willingness to submit to a public inquiry.

Under these circumstances, I was utterly unprepared for the attitude assumed by the members of the board this evening. I very much regret that the members of the board should have refused to allow this investigation to be made and the facts to be laid before the public. I thought it was my duty to hold a public inquiry in order that it might be publicly determined whether or not the representations made to me were in fact true, and I thought, and still think, that it was the duty of the members of the board to submit to such an inquiry. Their refusal to do so cannot but create the impression that the charges made by them are not well founded.

PASSED TO MAYOR.

LIBRARY BOARD'S DEFI.

July 27, 1905.

Hon. Owen McAleer, Mayor of the City of Los Angeles.

Sir: On or about March 30, 1905, Miss Mary L. Jones, then librarian of this city, informed

LEAVES WATCH IN VEST.

And Doors of Store Open—Creepy Disappearance of East Seventh-street Grocer Lang.

Queer and "creepy" is the disappearance of a little East Seventh street grocer.

Most mysterious disappearances are gentlemen with a thirst for sour mash and a bothersome wife; this is a real mystery.

A week ago Sunday John F. Lang, the grocer, was seen for the last time. The next morning his store was empty. He lived in the back room of the store.

In this room his trunk was found with his dress-suit case and all his belongings. His vest, with his watch in pocket, was still under the pillow.

Neighbors looked out for the place for several days waiting for Lang to come back. At last the place was attached by the Wholesaler's Board of Trade for small debts; yesterday the store's stock was sold out, with all the fixtures, by the Sheriff.

Lang had been there about four months. No one knew where he came from or really anything about him. He was morose and silent. He seemed to be about fifty years old. It was gossip among the neighbors that he was a spiritualist.

Fourth of July, neighbors heard him working around in the night and heard him leave the place before dawn. He went away leaving the back door open; the whole stock might have been stolen. He returned in two or three days, in the middle of the night.

He offered no explanation for his curious absence and made no comment when it was suggested to him that it was careless to have left the doors open.

About all that was ever got out of him of a personal character was a short remark one day to a neighbor that he had no friends in the world.

SOAP, NOT ANGELS CALLING.

It was not the angels calling him home, but soap in the water, that affected J. M. Simmons of No. 218 North Olive street. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital frantically begging to have the poison pumped out of his tanks. He said that he had come to his room, which had been locked all day, as usual, and incautiously poured a drink of water out of the pitcher. It was bitter as gall; poison! The police surgeons performed heroically upon him; saved his life. Some of the poisoned water was sent to the City Chemist yesterday; he found that it contained a dissolved cake of soap.

LARGEST GIFT FOR CHARITY.

Nearly a Quarter Million of Dollars to Sisters.

Great Home for Aged Poor Will be Built.

Donor, to Avoid Publicity, Withholds Name.

One of the largest, if not the largest, gift ever made to a charitable organization in this city was received yesterday by Bishop Conaty—nearly a quarter million dollars.

Into the coffers of The Little Sisters of the Poor, $225,000 was poured as a free-will offering by a friend who wishes to avoid publicity and has asked that his name be kept secret.

In February of this year, a branch of the organization known as The Little Sisters of the Poor was established on South Main street, and two small cottages were rented. These were soon filled with the poor and needy and the eight little sisters were kept busy.

The work has prospered ever since and the humble cottages have housed those who were in dire distress. Arrangements are being made for the renting of still another cottage.

At a time when the demand on the home was the greatest and when there seemed no possibility of supplying the demand, the munificent gift is received and the pressing need for more room will ere long be supplied.

The money will be applied to the building of a commodious home on Boyle Heights on a site already chosen about a quarter of a mile west of Evergreen Cemetery.

Plans for the building are being prepared by Architect John Parkinson and work will be begun as soon as possible. The structure will be substantial and accommodations will be provided for about 200 inmates. The building is to be ready for occupancy on January 1, 1907, and will cost $225,000.

The work of the Little Sisters is devoted entirely to the aged. A home is provided for persons who have reached the age of 60, and who are penniless. Both sexes are cared for.

GENTLE BULL ARTIST OF RENOWN COMES.

FELIX ROBERT,
The only French matador, at present visiting in Los Angeles.

DO YOU KNOW the difference between a bull fighter and a matador?

Here is a matador—Felix Robert of France, the only French toreador of renown on earth. Robert is one of twenty-two living matadors. All but he are Spanish, and all have received diplomas and medals from the Queen of Spain, attesting their skill. That's what makes a matador; the name is the degree that serves as final laurel to the art of killing horned cattle with one thrust.

Robert is at present living in Los Angeles, and is accounted a prime favorite among the French people here. Tomorrow he will leave for Mexico.

Robert has just come from the heart of the Southern Republic, where he won idolatrous fame in his profession. He played Escamillo a little bit, too, and his Carmen was Tetrazzini, the beautiful Italian opera singer who so charmed San Francisco during the early spring, and who was ecstatically compared to Sembrich and Melba.

It was Tetrazzini who gave him his greatest engagement, for when a tremendous athletic carnival was inaugurated at the City of Mexico, it was she who persuaded President Porfirio Daz to name Robert as the chief matador. This was done, and her toreador surpassed his own record in daring performance.

During the past winter the matador has given forty bulls their quietus, killing all but two of these with a single insertion of his slender and artistic sword.

They say that all good bull fighters are little fellows. If the statement is true, then the present subject has most of the physical qualifications. Slender, short, exceedingly well-formed and groomed with luxurious elegance he doubtless cuts a dashing figure in the knickerbockers, brilliant vest, jaunty cap and silken hose of the arena.

One of Robert's performances is to dodge an infuriated beast in the ring by sheer nimbleness, possessing no sword, no stick, no cape, and even having his feet tied together.

He has invented a sort of cuirass for the horses of the picadores which is now used extensively in Spain. It is made of many folds of paper, and extends over shoulders, breast and belly as shield. It is not impenetrable by the horns of a mad brute, but is in most instances so slippery that the bone battering ram, instead of going directly through, slides off and the horse brushes harmlessly by.

It is interesting to note that Robert is the only matador in the business who has taken pains to invent something to protect the unoffending horses, who are in the sport only because they have to be.

Robert is not a believer in the cruelty theory.

"It's cruel to fight with a tame bull," he argued yesterday afternoon, "because you couldn't get a domestic cow worked up to the fighting point in ten years. There should be no bull-battles except with the real wild beasts of the plains, ugly monsters that cowboys are afraid of, and whose genuine delight is in a battle to the death. That's the sort that we always try to use in real bullfights."

SALTON SEA CRISIS, FLOOD LAPS THE TIES.

THE Southern Pacific tracks at Salton stand much in the position of old King Canute. Inch by inch the level of the flood waters is rising, lapping the ties of the main line, and occasionally rippling over the rails. And all the time every available man is being pushed forward to complete the run-around track in time to prevent the delay of trains should the present main line be rendered inoperative by the steadily-rising waters. The shoofly will be eleven miles long.

Whether this work can be accomplished in time, the management of the Southern Pacific frankly declares itself unable to say. It is hoped that it can. The work on the temporary track is progressing rapidly. But at the same time the water is rising without a halt. Official reports yesterday indicated that it had risen two inches in the preceding twenty-four hours.

Should a high wind blow from off the inland sea the waves would be dashed completely over the rails, and the track would become impassable.

REASSURING REPORT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—According to telegraphic advices received at the office of General Manager Calvin of the Southern Pacific Company today, the company's tracks are in no immediate danger of overflow from the high water in the Salton Sea. The water is within two feet of the tracks, but there has been no appreciable rise in the water for some days.

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Park Commission yesterday planned improvement of Echo Park extension. The estimate of the commission for the new year provides for the employment of 100 more men, and an increase of 25 cents a day in wages.

Contractor for the new hospital for contagious diseases ran into cases of smallpox at the old pest house, and was scared out. Patients may be removed to temporary quarters and the old buildings burned.

Amos Hercules was yesterday found guilty by a jury in Judge Smith's court of murder in the first degree, and his penalty fixed at life imprisonment.

B. S. Fallon-Briggs, alias "Lieut." Falconer, bogus army officer, who has been prominently before the public for several months as a criminal and swindler, was sentenced to five years in San Quentin penitentiary yesterday.

AT THE CITY HALL.

FOR IMPROVING THE CITY PARKS.

ROADS AND A CONSERVATORY BUILDING PLANNED.

Commissioners Think They Have Done Close Figuring on Estimate of Expenses for the Ensuing Year. Would Employ One Hundred More Men, as Territory Has Increased.

What will be the appropriation for city parks during the ensuing year?

Will the Park Commission be enabled to carry forward the designed improvements—the new roads through Griffith Park and the new conservatory at Eastlake—and also increase the wages of the park employés?

These are questions which are attracting much interest among those especially interested in park development. The Park Commission is hopeful that its estimate of $156,000 will not be scaled down when the appropriations are finally made. Members of the board believe that they have shown close figuring in their estimates, and with the exception of the two proposed improvements of importance, which will require an outlay of $10,000 each, they claim that their budget of proposed expenditures will come close to that estimated by the former superintendent, Legrande, for the present year.

In spite of this, it is claimed that the Park Commission will in reality have more park space to keep up. Ela Park, Terrace Park, Occidental Boulevard, which is now included in the regular list of park properties, Everett Park, and Sycamore Grove are all new territory which will require constant attention during the ensuing year.

It will also be remembered that the City Council recently passed a resolution agreeing to raise the pay of park employés from $2 to $2.25 a day, in consideration of the fact that there are frequent losses of time during the winter rains.

The new estimate of expenses also provides for the employment of from eighty to one hundred more men in the parks, which it is claimed will be made necessary on account of the increased area and the desire to push ahead new work in the older districts.

Auditor Louis Schwaebe has declared that the figures presented by the Park Commission are reasonable, compared with the estimate made by the superintendent last year and the work it is proposed to accomplish.

In reality, last year the park appropriation was only $99,500.

It is claimed that the proposed road-making in Griffith Park is a matter of much importance, not only in making this beauty spot more accessible, but in the protection from fire which it will afford to the native timber. Every road, it is claimed, will be an additional firebreak, and the proposed expenditure of $10,000 on this work might be the means of saving from fire a wide expanse of valuable timber.

The building of the new conservatory at Easthake Park has long been desired. The old building is entirely inadequate, and Florist Gowan has frequently lost valuable plants through the condition of the old building.

The Park Commission wants that $156,000, and wants it badly.

MOUNTED PATROL.

WANTED IN ELYSIAN PARK.

At the meeting of the Park Commissioners yesterday forenoon, it was decided to place at once a mounted park policeman in Elysian Park. The large amount of territory to be covered makes it impracticable for a fotman to reach many sections of the park more than once a day. It has been found that there are many petty depredations in the course of a week, and frequently they cause much annoyance and inconvenience. It is also believed that public morals will be conserved by the more frequent rounds of the park police, as of late there have been many visitations of notorious characters to the wildnesses of Elysian Park. A mounted police is also expected to reduce the danger of loss of timber and shrubbery by fire. On several occasions lately the park watchman has driven out of the park persons who have established camps there. The new position carries a salary of $80 a month, and the patrolman provides his own horse.

The Park Commissioners decided to advertise for sale the boating privileges at Westlake Park and action on the purchase of the lion at the Eastlake zoo was postponed until the next meeting, as was also the appointment of an animal keeper.

The commission took up the matter of having a large drain constructed from the southern end of Echo Lake underneath the new children's playground to Temple street. The drain will cost about $800.

WESTLAKE'S DRAINAGE.

GOOD WORK IS COMPLETED.

Superintendent Morley has completed the work of draining an area of about an acre in the northeastern part of Westlake Park. This ground had become thoroughly impregnated with alkali from the drainage from the upper sections of the park, and was worthless for sod or shrubbery. Underground drains have been laid all through the tract, and they are accomplishing the purpose, so that the land will be redeemed, and replanted to lawn.

RUNS INTO SMALLPOX.

CONTRACTOR'S PREDICAMENT.

Olaf Johnson, who has the contract for the building of the contagion hospital on the site of the present pest house in the Chavez Ravine, had a startling experience yesterday. He took a force of men out to the place and prepared to tackle the job of burning down the shacks, but was astounded to find that there were six smallpox patients there. Johnson hastily called off his men, and rushed back to the city, where he underwent a formaldehyde bath and other purifying processes. He then went to the City Attorney for advice as to how to proceed. It is possible temporary places may be provided for the patients while the new hospital is building.

LIBRARIANS COMING.

WILL ATTEND INVESTIGATION.

Los Angeles is to have as its guests this week some noted librarians. Dr. Melville Dewey, dean of the Library School at Albany, and connected with the New York State Library, will arrive today, and will be a guest of the California Club. He will be accompanied by Anderson H. Hopkins of the Pittsburgh city library. They are returning from their visit to Portland and participatfon in the congress of librarians there, and from that point made the trip to Alaska. Miss Edith Tobit, public librarian of Omaha, Neb., is also in the city. Other librarians are expected to arrive today or tomorrow. Those now here will remain in the city until the investigation of the Los Angeles library muddle is closed.

POWERS RETURNS.

STUDIED NORTHERN METHODS.

Dr. L. M. Powers has returned from a three weeks' trip to Portland and other northern points, including San Francisco and Oakland. He attended the National Medical Association at Portland, and made studies there of methods in handling matters relating to city sanitation. He also pursued these investigations at San Francisco and Oakland. Dr. Powers declares that he will continue his crusade against the unclean dairies with renewed vigor, and he believes that much has already been accomplished for the betterment of city health conditions by the publicity given the work so far.

Caught in the Corridors.

W. H. Armstrong, proprietor of a restaurant adjoining the new Bilicke-Rowan structure at Fifth and Spring streets, made complaint to the Building Superintendent, yesterday, that his business was being injured by the carelessness of the contractors on the big building in blockading the street in front of the restaurant. The contractors will remove the obstructions at once.

Tax Collector Johnson and his force of deputies began yesterday to make out the 70,000 tax receipts for the ensuing year. The actual amounts cannot be filled in until the tax rate for the year is decided; but the descriptions, etc., will be placed on the receipts, so as to facilitate the work after the tax levy is made.

Building Superintendent Backus is preparing plans for more room in his overcrowded department. He will probably construct a gallery to run clear around the main office, and thus make provision for several more desks.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

FIRST DEGREE, LIFE TERM.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT IN THE HERCULES CASE.

Defendant Does Not Betray Even a Remote Interest When the Finding of the Twelve is Announced—Motion for Another Trial Likely on the Ground of New Evidence.

The jury in the murder case of Amos Hercules on trial before Judge Smith, returned into court yesterday after only twenty minutes deliberation with a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree and fixing the punishment at imprisonment for life.

When the verdict was returned the defendant showed not over the most remote interest in the case. He sat—as he had done during the greater part of the trial—drumming his fingers and vacantly gazing at them. Not a quiver of an eyelash, or a movement in his chair denoted that he had heard or was interested in the verdict just rendered.

Hercules is a puzzle. He was sent to the insane asylum a month or two after his arrest on the murder charge, and remained there for a long time. The jury was satisfied from the testimony that he was sane at the time he committed the crime, and that carries with it also the assumption that he is sane now. But of this some of the jail attendants are by no means certain. Hercules sits by the hour as still as a mouse and wrapped in his own melancholy gloom, and if he is merely shamming then the sham kept up for nearly two years stamps him as a man with a wonderful nerve to be able to control himself during such a long period of time.

Attorney Wilder asked the court for a short delay before passing sentence, and the time for sentence was thereupon continued until Friday of next week. At that time a motion for a new trial will be made, and, as a brother of Hercules will probably arrive in the city today, the motion will be based on newly discovered evidence.

LOST THE SEASON.

PANAMA RAILROAD BEING SUED.

Jacob Schwartz is in sore distress because the hot weather began about a month ago, and amid the crowd that clamored for ice-cream sodas and other cooling drinks he wandered like a lost spirit. He had laid his plans to have his share of this summer trade, but the Panama Railroad knocked his profits and now he wants damages.

On April 17, last, he avers that ten packages of machinery for manufacturing soda and carbonated waters were shipped from New York on the steamer "Seguranca," one of the line of steamers run in connection with the railroad across the isthmus. The shipment was made in the name of L. Furtenberg, plaintiff's consignor, and was shipped to Los Angeles to the plaintiff himself.

The steamer left New York on the 17th, for Colon, and the ordinary time for goods to arrive, the plaintiff says is about thirty days. But the thirty days have expired twice told, and now Schwartz avers that a big slice has been carved from off the summer season and while the machinery is valued delivered at $1600, such sum will not recoup him for his losses. Considering all the trade that he has lost and that before he can outfit himself again, the season will have ended, he asks judgment for $2100 in satisfaction of his claim.

LOVE THEIR EXCUSE.

ELOPING COUPLE ON TRIAL.

Justice Young held a curb-stone party yesterday and it lasted all day. Ladies in summer dresses occupied seats outside the court, on the side walk, and their escorts chatted and helped to make the time pass pleasantly.

Inside Edward Ellis and Mrs. Sarah Caldwell were being examined on the charge of adultery, both of them having left homes, where a husband and four children in the woman's case and a wife in the other, mourned the loss of their life partners. The crowd of people on the sidewalk were merely witnesses occupying the only witness-room sufficiently large enough to accommodate the crowd. The investigation was heard behind closed doors and will be continued again this afternoon.

Ellis lived with his wife at Santa Rosa, and Mrs. Caldwell resided not far away, at Cloverdale, with her husband and children. There are three boys and one girl, all pretty well grown up. The families were on friendly terms for years and there was no suspicion that Ellis and Mrs. Caldwell stood on other than the ordinary friendly terms. Some months ago Ellis told his wife that he was going to try his luck at Goldfields, and kissed her good-by, when leaving for San Francisco en route to the Nevada gold field. Mrs. Caldwell had told Mrs. Ellis that she was canvassing for a face powder, and that accounted for her temporary absences from her home.

Ellis and Mrs. Caldwell met at San Francisco and came together to this city. The woman is credited with being shrewd and business-like and though giving up much for Ellis, she took care to bring along with her a goodly supply of money. She purchased a grocery on Central avenue, stocked it and was doing a good business, when she and her companion were arrested. She then gave bail in the sum of $2500 for herself and Ellis, and at once left for San Francisco to make preparations for her trial. Yesterday the preliminary examination began.

ASTHMA INSPIRED HIM.

CRAMER USED HIS KNIFE.

William M. Cramer, a colored man who has worked for three years for Ca. Leonardt, was tried before Judge James and a jury yesterday on the charge of an assault with a deadly weapon. He slashed George P. Dexter with a knife, and did it accidentally and while suffering from what he called an "asthma spell."

Both of the men were working in the warehouse on Seventh street, on June 13, when the fracas took place. Dexter was bossing the job of filling sacks with cement, and because Cramer was lazy and refused to work, Dexter got another man in the warehouse to fill his place. In revenge the colored man slashed Dexter on the face, and then across the neck.

On the witness stand Cramer took a very airy view of the situation. He said that on the day in question he had got through with his bit of work before the others and was leaning against the car door, trying to get his breath. At times he was troubled with "asthma spells," and at that time he was so choked up that he couldn't answer when Cramer told him to get to work. Three distinct times he was spoken to, but he said that he couldn't answer. Then Dexter, he said, called him a nasty name that reflected upon his color and struck at him. He was standing with the knife in his hand that he had been using in cutting twine and forgot all about it when he struck back. Next minute there was a mix-up and if the knife in his hand did any damage he wasn't conscious of it.

The jury remained out about two hours trying to determine if there was any foundation for Cramer's claim of the "asthma spells," but the very thin explanation regarding the use of the knife told against him, and a verdict of "guilty" as charged was returned shortly after 5 o'clock.

LANDED AT LAST.

FALCONER GETS FIVE YEARS.

After having spent years in living by his wits, committing such crimes as he dared but always until now keeping within the bounds of misdemeanor, B. S. Fallen-Briggs, alias "Lieut." B. S. Falconer, bogus army officer and confidence operator, was sentenced yesterday to five years in San Quentin, having pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny.

Briggs stole a suit case from August Peterson while the latter was a guest at Hotel Broxburn. The theft was traced to Briggs, but by the time the police got ready to arrest him, the United States authorities "pinched" him in San Bernardino county for having impersonated a United States Army officer. Upon learning that the State authorities had such a good case against the prisoner, the United States officers surrendered him and he was prosecuted for grand larceny.

The once dapper, well-dressed "lieutenant" appeared in court yesterday in a frayed-out suit that had the appearance of being a second hand uniform. When asked to plead he requested ten minutes conversation with the court in private, but that was promptly refused by Judge Smith, then he pleaded guilty and sentence of five years was pronounced.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

THE MAYHEW DIVORCE. Mercy Mayhew was granted a divorce from Arthur Mayhew yesterday by Judge Bordwell, on the ground of desertion, and failure to provide. The parties married in Massachusetts in 1883, and in the year 1900 the husband left home. Upon this point, however, Mrs. Mayhew was rather undecided, and said that her husband had returned for a few weeks about a year ago and then had told her he was going to leave and never come back. The plaintiff now conducts the "Berkeley" at Long Beach.

LAND AND WATER. Everybody's Land and Water Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000, of which $300 has been subscribed. The directors are: W. G. J. S. Bentley, B. S. Garrison, M. E. Biggs, B. G. Hurlburn and D. O. Crookshank, all of this city.

WANTS DAMAGE. Jessie and W. P. Harding have begun a suit against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to recover $25,069.25 as damages and for expenses incurred. Mrs. Harding claims that she obtained a ticket at Zanesville, O., to Los Angeles and return, and made the purchase on August 15, of last year. The ticket was to be good until October 23, and when she arrived here she went on October 12 to have it validated at the office of the company. The agent, she claims, treated her with discourtesy and accused her of using a scalped ticket. He marked it "validation refused," and when she took the train to return east she was ejected at River Station.

THE McNUTT DIVORCE. Minnie McNutt was granted a divorce from Leon McNutt by Judge Oster yesterday, on the ground of adultery. The testimony was of an unprintable character and was heard behind closed doors. The husband was ordered to pay the wife $10 a month for the support of the child.

EXPLOIT WATER. Las Lomas Water Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000, of which $300 has been subscribed. The directors are: Agnes M. Maddock, Edna H. Maddock, Duarte; and Rusk Harris, Los Angeles.

OCEAN PARK LUMBER. The Sunset Milling and Lumber Company has incorporated to carry on business at Ocean Park, and with a capital stock of $50,000, of which $30,100 has been subscribed. The directors are: H. S. Hageman, Kathleen C. Hageman, O. A. Burchard, A. E. Hiles, Gertrude S. Hiles, Viola Burchard, and A. S. Williams, all of Santa Monica.

ORDERED OUT BY LOAFERS.

LOCAL UNION SHEET METAL MEN ON STRIKE.

Proprietors of Shops Affected Will Not Truckle to Dictates of Walking Delegates, but Get Other Workers. Real Mechanics Not in Favor of Walk-out.

Out on a strike are the members of the Los Angeles Sheet Metal Workers' Union because their "demand" on their employers has been flatly refused.

For several days the strike has been threatened and yesterday morning the men walked out of all but three of the sheet metal factories in Los Angeles.

Wednesday morning The Times stated the position of the proprietors of shops in this city and the attitude of "no surrender" has not been changed; there is a likelihood that the men will remain out for a considerable time unless their "demand" is withdrawn.

About seventy-five men are affected by the strike order, and among these are many skilled mechanics. They men have been earning $4 a day and have had steady work.

The trouble has been engendered by three or four walking delegates in the employ of the union who have incited the men to strike. The loafers who are paid for strutting about must "make a showing."

The union has threatened to "close up building operations," and in order to make good the threat the men have been ordered out. A striker said yesterday:

"We fellows are not in favor of this walk-out, that is the mechanics of the bunch are not. We are compelled to do as the rest have done. The men of the Union who live in Los Angeles are opposed to the strike, but these fellows who are 'floaters' have worked to cause dissension and now we are up against a lock out.

"Don't put my name in the paper. They would blackball me and I guess I would be in a worse pickle. This thing will not last long, I can tell you, because we are not going to lose good jobs just because these 'scrubs' want to strike for more pay and shorter hours. We would just as leave have the extra pay, but we don't want to lose our jobs trying to get it."

During a hurried conference of the employers yesterday afternoon a decision was reached whereby steps will be taken to bring to this city skilled mechanics who will be given work at once at the benches deserted by the unionists.

There is a determination among the owners and foremen of the shops to hold out for their rights, and they say the would-be dictators will not run them.

CANNON DENIES IT.

His Statement in Regard to the Alleged Insult Offered at Portland.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

PORTLAND (Or.) July 24.—Joseph G. Cannon, Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, placed in the hands of President H. W. Goode of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, a month ago, a complete denial of a story that was sent out from Portland early in June, to the effect that an affront had been offered to him at the ceremony of the formal opening of the exposition.

A few days after the exposition had been opened the story in question appeared in several newspapers in California, and in the East, and has since gone the rounds, in one form or another, of the newspapers of the entire country, and besides has been commented upon editorially in several quarters. Briefly summarized, the yarn was to the effect that at the opening exercises Speaker Cannon, while standing on the ceremonial platform, had applied ice from a water pitcher to his head, and had been taken to task at the suggestion of the President's wife for the alleged breach of etiquette.

When the newspapers containing the story reached Portland, Speaker Cannon was on a steamship in Alaskan waters. He was communicated with by wire at Skagway, and upon his return to Seattle on June 16, a representative of the exposition met him by appointment at the Washington Hotel, and explained to him what had been published. A copy of a newspaper containing the article was handed to Mr. Cannon, and he read it carefully, remarking as he threw it upon a table: "That story is rot of the worst kind, and is absolutely lacking in truth or the semblance of truth." To the request of the representative of the exposition for a formal denial of the story, Speaker Cannon said: "In all my long public career I have never answered a statement concerning me which appeared in the public prints. This time, however, in consideration of my high esteem for President and Mrs. Goode, I will repudiate this attack upon them and upon their hospitality of the City of Portland. In this connection permit me to say that back in Washington if a newspaper correspondent should concoct such an infamous yarn as this all the other newspaper men would band together and drive him from the capital." So saying, Speaker Cannon dictated the following letter and signed it:

SEATTLE, June 16, 1905.

Mr. H. W. Goode, President Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, Portland, Or.

My Dear Mr. Goode: Upon my return from Alaska today I find in one of the St. Louis papers an article headlined as follows: "Cannon in Row with Portland Fair. Retaliates on Officials. Claim He Declined to Deliver Speeches."

The dispatch referred to has reference to the opening of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition at Portland on the first of June.

I have never answered newspaper articles touching myself, but as this article alleges an affront to myself on the occasion of the opening of the exposition by Mrs. Goode and by Theodore Hardee, in simple justice to them it may not be inapt for me to say that there is no foundation whatever for the article in question. It is made out of whole cloth, and the occurrences therein described did not take place.

On the contrary, the treatment extended to me by yourself as president of the exposition and personally and by Mrs. Goode and the officials of the exposition, was uniformly courteous. Every attention was given to the gentlemen composing the Committee of Congress and to myself, officially and personally, that could have been desired, and I voice the sentiments of the whole party when I say we enjoyed the visit to Portland and were gratified at the success of the exposition.

With best wishes I am,

Yours sincerely,

[Signed] J. G. CANNON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

President and Mrs. Goode from the beginning have ignored the article published concerning the opening day, though they knew it was false in every particular, and though they have had in their possession for a month Speaker Cannon's repudiation of it. Their only reason for noticing it now is the fact that it has been so widely circulated, and particularly because it has been published in the Pacific Coast papers, thereby creating unpleasant impressions.

ORIENT IN ECHO.

Hundred Chinese Women and Children in Brilliant Costume Enjoy Picnic.

Seldom has Echo Park seen such a crowd of gaily dressed people as assembled there yesterday—a hundred Chinese women and children all in holiday attire. Some in American dress and many in their picturesque native costume with its brilliant hues. In fact, all the bon ton of Chinatown was there—so far as the female population was concerned—for no men were allowed. For days the hair dressers of Chinatown have been busy preparing for the great event and the fruits of their labors appeared to fine advantage in the immaculate headgear worn by some of the Oriental belles. Then there were sedate matrons trundling little olive-skinned babies in go-carts and hanging to their skirts were toddlers resplendent in the rainbow colored toggery of the Orient.

It was the annual picnic given by the ladies of the Congregational churches of the city to the women and children of all Chinatown, irrespective of creed of any kind. For six years it has been their custom to thus entertain their guests. Sometimes this annual out-door reception is given at one of the beaches and sometimes at one of the numerous parks in the city, but it is always largely attended. Nearly all are the wives and children of the distinctively upper class of Chinese—the wealthy merchants, court interpreters and business and professional men. Mrs. E. M. Findlay, superintendent of the Congregational mission and house-to-house visitor among the women of Chinatown, is always the leading spirit of these annual affairs. Yesterday, through the courtesy of Mr. E. P. Clark, a special car on the Hollywood line was tendered for the occasion. The Chinese guests and their American hostesses—in all about 150—met at the Plaza at 11 a.m., where they boarded their car for Echo Park. An elaborate lunch was served at noon, including an abundance of hot tea, without which no Chinese hospitality is complete. Representatives from the different Congregational churches—First, Bethlehem, Olivet, Plymouth, Park, Pico Heights, Brooklyn and others—waited upon their guests who were seated at long tables, handsomely laid. Afterward there were boat rides on the lake and the Chinese children—of whom there were fully fifty—were royally entertained by their little American friends with games and romps on the grassy sward.

PROVIDENT REORGANIZES.

Two New Directors and Change in the Secretary of the Building and Loan Association.

Following the settlement of the trouble between the Provident Mutual Building and Loan Association and the Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, brought about by the dismissal by the directors of G. H. Wadleigh, secretary and manager, there has been a reorganization of the Provident.

H. W. Hellman of the Merchants' National Bank has been elected a director, vice C. C. Boynton, resigned, and Niles Pease becomes a director, vice G. H. Wadleigh, resigned.

W. C. Crook, Jr., has resigned as secretary and J. M. Hunter has been elected to succeed him. Mr. Hunter is assistant cashier of the First Bank of Kern at Bakersfield, secretary of the Kern county Boad of Trade, and vice-president of the San Joaquin Valley Commercial Association. He will make his home hereafter in Los Angeles.

The board of directors of the Provident now includes L. W. Blinn, president; L. J. Christopher, vice-president; H. W. Hellman, Niles Pease, N. Bonfilio, A. M. Wilson and Dr. W. D. Babcock.

WHAT IS IT?

"Scotty" Sends Word He's Coming Back Soon and Will Bring a Quarter of a Million.

Walter Scott is due soon to return to Los Angeles, and when he comes he will bring a quarter of a million with him; so he "wirelesses" ahead.

Whether this fractional amount refers to dollars, doughnuts, recollections or just plain experience, it is impossible to say.

It is to Rol King of the Hollenbeck, that the information comes from "Scotty." It is believed in certain quarters that the Funeral Mountain "miner" has made good use of the extensive free advertising given him and has interested eastern capital in a Death Valley flyer. Should this be true it would appear that "Scotty's" special train is paying good interest on the investment.

New York has been ominously silent with respect to "Scotty" for the past two weeks, and the members of his retinue here will rejoice to hear that they will probably have another chance to follow keen on the golden trail that leads to free booze and lunches at the expense of the desert mystery, if—

SHALL THE DETROIT SEEK "TIMES" CUP?

BY STINSON JARVIS.

THERE was much discussion among the yachtsmen yesterday as to whether the big Detroit is eligible for The Times cup race tomorrow. Nobody seemed able to get hold of a copy of the original deed of gift and consequently the exact status of the racing scow from the Great Lakes could not at first be ascertained. Owing to the great honorary value set on the winning of this challenge cup, there were some who expressed themselves as very unwilling to forego any possible chance of success, and the fact that the Detroit is so much larger than the other racing craft owned in Los Angeles, led some yachtsmen to say that it was only spoiling the close competition among the other local yachts to allow the Detroit to compete. So high did the feeling run that it was stated to the writer with all the authority of ownership that one of the principal cracks would not appear at the starting line. It was also hinted at the same time that others of the local racers would be "backward in coming forward," and that the Detroit could, if she liked, go out and sail the course alone.

As the writer was asked by a number of people to settle the question in these columns, it may be stated positively that the Detroit is eligible for this particular race, as the top limit is thirty-five feet. Former Commodore Joseph Pugh explained that this is the only race of the year in which the Detroit has a legal right to enter and contest in the South Coast Yacht Club events, and he expressed the personal view that the boat ought to stand on her rights and sail for the trophy. He added that when a boat has only one legal chance of a club contest in these waters she ought to be accommodated by the other craft, no matter how poor their chances of winning may be.

This commended itself to others as a good, sportsmanlike view, although it was proved in San Diego last summer that the smaller craft built here are without a glimmer of a chance when sailing on regular time allowance against the larger boat. It is a well known fact that superiority in size, weight, and sail-carrying power are never adequately represented by the time allowance set out in the racing rules. In other words, for the chance of victory the extra size is always better than the time allowed for some.

Still, it is recognized that an owner is not called upon to depreciate the value of his craft by putting her into races in which she is certain to be widely advertised as a beaten boat. It is stated by some owners, and it is undoubtedly true, that very few of the rank and file of newspaper readers appreciate the physical differences which arbitrarily limit the abilities of racing yachts, and owners sometimes object to having a newspaper announcement that their boat has been defeated. Among experts, they say, this sort of thing would be all right, but not where the world at large is likely to get a poor opinion of a boat's qualities. Apart from the question of true sport, there is the market value of a craft to be considered, and men in this position sometimes claim that a yacht's good record is just as necessary in case of a later sale as is the record of a race horse.

However, it may be said that at a late hour last night Mr. Erkenbrecher, the chief owner of the Detroit, stated to this writer that he will not enter the Detroit in Saturday's race. Erkenbrecher did not seem aware of the discussion going on all day in other portions of this city, and he stated very mildly over the 'phone that he has promised to take Mrs. Erkenbrecher to Catalina on that day and will not compete in the race. This news came as a surprise to those who had been "kicking," and it is a question now whether the Detroit will not be urged to compete. It is certain that high club authority holds the opinion that Erkenbrecher should take any race that he is legally entitled to enter for, and probably the end is not yet. Those who have records and market values to be kept in cotton, wool and tissue paper have a perfect right to say whether or not their boats shall run, but it is really difficult to see that any boat in this neighborhood possesses a record that is worth a second thought. They have all been beaten in turn, and not one of them can command high figures because of the untarnished condition of her escutcheon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John A. Freit, apprentice jockey, who was considered most promising until August Belmont put him under the ban, has brought suit against the millionaire turfman for $100,000 damages. Belmont had published notice that Freit had quit his employ without leave, and warned all turfmer against employing the boy.

TRANSFER OF PITTSBURGH.

BAN JOHNSON PLACES BAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Without denying that there has been considerable negotiating, looking to the transfer of the Pittsburgh team from the National to the American League, it can be stated on the best of authority that the transfer will not take place.

President Ban Johnson knows that such a transfer would precipitate the bitterest baseball war in history, and has no intention at present of killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

JOHN L.'S VENTURE.

SWELL MUSIC HALL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John L. Sullivan, the ex-champion, who has been appearing at a local theater for the past two weeks, announces that he is going to make San Francisco his permanent residence. At present he is at Sheehan's Beach Tavern helping Jack McCormick, who is engaged in training for the coming fight with Gus Ruhlin.

Sullivan says he intends to open one of the swellest music halls in town. It will be situated on Mason street about two blocks from Harry Corbett's, in the heart of the tenderloin. John L. expects to draw large sporting patronage, as San Francisco is now the pugilistic center of the country. The grand opening of Sullivan's resort is advertised for Saturday night, August 7.

At present, most of the sporting contingent make their headquarters at Belvedere, the big music hall owned by Eddie Graney and Jimmy Coffroth. Sullivan expects to cut into this Belvedere patronage.

PIERCE IS WELL PIERCED.

LOOLOOS FIND THE BUSHER A VERY GOOD THING.

Is Hit Hard and Often After the Locals Wake up—Pitcher Wright Has Visitors Safe from the Beginning. Graham Enthuses the Fans With Very Pretty Running Catch.

Los Angeles, 6; Oakland, 2.

Umpire Bray stopped a foul tip with one of his ankles on Wednesday and yesterday they had to put in two ball players as umpires and they naturally made a kind of a joke out of the game, as players generally do when they look at the same things from another direction. They were not any worse than Bray is sometimes so no one was cheated much. These phony umpires were Catchers Spies of Los Angeles and Byrnes of Oakland.

The principal joke of the game was Mr. Pierce, who is a bush pitcher from somewhere up north. He does fairly well at times and then at intervals he is no better than the worst. He was trounced yesterday in good shape and after the locals got started on him there was no trouble in making any amount of runs.

There were no particular features about the contest for Oakland couldn't hit Wright and the Looloos stabbed Pierce so deep that the Oakland fielders had all the exercise they wanted chasing the ball. Flood and Kelly, both at second base, did good work and Graham in left field for the visitors made a fine, running right-handed catch of a long fly next the fence that drew forth applause from the 1000 fans present.

The Oaklanders made their two runs very easily on two errors of Brashear, a double by Francks and a long fly to Moss, former Wisconsin champion. All others remaining in the tournament are of the young-lad class, so prominent in eastern tournaments.

Pairing for the third round tomorrow morning follows:

Martin vs. Fairbanks, C. C. Egan vs. Bokum, Phelps vs. De Moss, Sawyer vs. W. Egan.

HITT HOLDS DOWN TACOMA.

LATTER EASILY SHUT OUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Hitt held down the Tacoma men to four hits today, and they did not materialize until the last four innings. Tacoma was easily shut out in consequence, as the locals played an errorless game.

Chicago, 4; hits, 8; errors, 2.
Philadelphia, 9; hits, 10; errors, 3.
Batteries — Weimer, Pfeffer and Kling; Sparks and Dooin.
Umpire—Johnstone.

PITTSBURGH-BOSTON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, July 27.—Leever pitched a remarkable game for Pittsburgh today, allowing Boston only two hits and giving no free bases. Young was hit more freely. Attendance 2400. Score:

Pittsburgh, 2; hits, 9; errors, 1.
Boston, 1; hits, 2; errors, 3.
Batteries—Leever, Peitz and Gibson; Young and Moran.
Umpire—Emslie.

BROOKLYN-ST. LOUIS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BROOKLYN, July 27.—Hanlon's men took today's game from St. Louis by bunching hits in the fourth and fifth innings. In the first part of the seventh, the visitors had the bases filled three times, but sharp fielding prevented their scoring. Attendance 7000. Score:

Brooklyn, 4; hits, 6; errors, 3.
St. Louis, 3; hits, 8; errors, 1.
Batteries—Mitchell and Ritter; Taylor and Grady.

NEW YORK-CINCINNATI.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—For the fourth time this week, the local Nationals defeated the Cincinnati team today, winning the entire series. The visitors played a ragged game. Hahn was put out of the game for disputing the umpire's decision and Harper replaced him. Attendance 6000. Score:

Cincinnati, 3; hits, 11; errors, 4.
New York, 9; hits, 13; errors, 1.
Batteries—Hahn, Harper and Schiel; Witse and Bresnahan.
Umpires—Emsewine and Klem.

Minor Baseball.

The Christophers will play another game on Sunday at Arcadia with the Tufts-Lyon team, which won last Sunday by a close score. Notwithstanding the fact that the Tufts team has won eighteen straight games, there is considerable rivalry between these two teams. Next Sunday the Christophers will have their team strengthened and will present a stronger front than before. The line-up will be as follows:

Christophers.	Tufts-Lyon
Howard-Bryson pitcher.	Ford-Ferrais
Colbath catcher.	H. Mangerins
Terry first base.	Perodotti
Coppock second base.	Hayes
Ferguson third base.	Ferrais
Wilson shortstop.	P. Mangerins
Treosti right field.	Benkert

The Bankers team and the Barker Bros. club will play a match game tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Harvard school grounds in the western part of the city. The Barkers are considered as one of the best amateur teams in this city, but as the Bankers beat the Edison Company club by an 18-to-4 score last Saturday, they are very willing to take a chance with the Barkers.

GAME TODAY.

This will be another ladies' day at the ball grounds, and all the fair fans will be admitted free to grounds and grand stand. Dolly Gray will probably pitch for Los Angeles, and possibly Ham Iburg for Oakland. Game will be called at 3 o'clock.

GUILDS LAKE REGATTA.

FEATURE SPORTS AT PORTLAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 27.—Entries for the open regatta on Guild's Lake at the Lewis and Clerk Exposition next Friday and Saturday, have been completed. The feature of the programme will be the sculling races between E. Gloss of the Portland Rowing Club and Alexander Pape of the Dolphin Club of San Francisco and a four-oared match race between the Portland Rowing Club and the Nelson Club of Victoria, B. C.

GARVIN'S SUPPORT RANK.

SEATTLE WINS WITH EASE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 27.—Garvin received rank support in today's game, and Seattle won with ease. Six errors in the field helped the visitors. Kreitz was tried out behind the bat, and the visitors stole bases on him at will. Blankenship even stealing home. Umpir: Davis fined Householder, and expelled him from the field for being too loquacious. Score:

Seattle, 5; hits, 9; errors, 1.
Portland, 1; hits, 6; errors, 6.
Batteries—C. Hall and Blankenship; Garvin and Kreitz and Van Buren.
Umpire—Davis.

NEW BLOOD IN DRIVING CLUB.

SLOW CLASS MATINEE DRAWS A CONSIDERABLE ENTRY.

New Talent to Perform, and Many Gentlemen's Roadsters to be Seen. Scheme Proves Successful in Calling New Members Into the Club. Large Entry List.

Slow class matinées which are to be inaugurated by the Driving Club tomorrow afternoon at Agricultural Park have already proved successful in at least one particular—that of drawing into the harness game a little new blood. Horse fever is always progressive; the diagnosis is easy by certain pathognomic symptomata, and the prognosis invariably favorable to the acquirement of as speedy a stable as pocket will permit, to paraphrase the scholarly lingo of some of our medical friends who compose apparently the most influential part of the Driving Club directorate—Dr. William Dodge Dr. M. L. Moore, Dr. C. W. Bryson, Dr W. W. Hitchcock, Dr. Ralph Hagan—and so on, ad infinitum.

Among the newcomers who will start Saturday are the Riverside horseman, B. R. Smith, who will drive Harry H., Jr., a big sixteen-hands horse said to be sired by speed, and dammed by track records—not by anything else.

Curtis Colyear will have in his high-class trotter, Maggie McKinney, and another promising McKinney filly will be driven in the 2:40 trot by C. F. Nowling. E. E. Sherwood of San Gabriel has entered his good youngster Zenobia by Zombro, and J. Walker, recently voted into the club, means to make his début with his bay filly Lassie in the 2:40 class.

Over twenty-five head of horses are entered and it is thought the programme will be productive of much good racing. Most of the entrants are gentleman's roadsters.

The following members are to officiate: Dr. M. L. Moore, H. N. Henderson and Charles Saddler, judges; J. A Fairchild, Dr. J. de Barth Shorb, R. B Moorehead, timers; A. W. Bruner will start the horses.

SHEEPSHEAD FUTURITY.

BIG BUNCH OF ELIGIBLES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One hundred and thirty-two colts and fillies are eligible for the Futurity, worth between $45,000 and $65,000 to the winner, to be run at Sheepshead Bay August 26. The list was made public today, but the weights have not yet been assigned.

Among the leading eligibles are Accountant, winner of the Brighton Junior stakes; Don Diego, Esoteric and First Water, al lwinners that have shown class, and Hooray, Jacobite, Jerry Wernberg, Lost Chord, Osiris, Quorum, Timber, Vendor and Woolwich, all of which have either won or run prominently in several races.

J. R. Keene has four eligibles, in Early and Often, Kuroki, Nogi and Oyama. Of these, Early and Often has won one race. Oyama has sported the colors but once, in the Brighton Junior, when he ran out, after threatening to spreadeagle his field in a tremendous burst of early speed, and was finally pulled up. Nogi and Kuroki have not yet sported silk. Both are said to be better than either Early and Often or Oyama.

Oaklawn, Will Shields's colt, believed by many turfmen to be near the top of the year's two-year-old class, is not eligible for the Futurity.

HENSHEY STARTS ON THE LONG RIDE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George A. Hensley, accompanied by Capt. H. D. Ryus of Los Angeles and A. H. Piepenburg and Gus Siegfried of this city, started from the Chronicle Building at 10:15 o'clock tonight with a letter to the Los Angeles Times, in an effort to break the record for the Los Angeles-San Francisco run and to win the Chronicle cup offered by Fred A. Jacobs of the Rambler automobile agency for equalling his time with a $1500 Rambler car. Hensley drives a White steam car, especially fitted for the run, and will be assisted at the wheel by Ryus and Piepenburg. Siegfried goes as a mechanic.

A crowd that filled nearly the entire space at Market, eKarney, and eGary streets gathered to witness the start, in addition to a dozen cars filled with the friends of the contestants and those interested in the run. The start was also witnessed by L. A. Nares, who made the present record of 24 hrs. 50 mins. in a Pope-Toledo car. G. A. Böyer of the Pope-Toledo agency, Fred A. Jacobs, who holds the record for medium-priced cars with his Rambler at 29 hrs. 31 mins. and is also donor of the cup and G. A. Hawkins of the White agency.

Hensley's party started by way of the ferry and Alameda side of the bay in a White steamer costing $2650, the limit of the price named by Jacobs in offering the trophy.

After the Pope-Toledo made the present record, it was stated in behalf of the White people that Hensley would make the run in one of their cars in twenty hours, and July 19, Jacobs deposited a check for $250 with the Chronicle, which he offered to wager with Hawkins of the White agency or anyone else that the Hensley car would not beat the time of 24h. 50m. made by the Pope-Toledo. Hawkins declined to wager any amount on the time his car would make, and the check has not been covered. Hawkins offered to wager that his car would beat the $1500 Rambler, provided it started at the same time as the Hensley car, which offer Jacobs accepted, provided White first established its ability to beat the Rambler time by winning the Chronicle trophy, but stipulated that the agreement must be made the day of the start of the Hensley car. Hawkins did not accept this offer.

The Hensley party will follow the route of the Nares party, going by way of Natividad and Soledad and cutting out Salinas. Hensley, Ryus and Piepenburg returned early in the week from a trial trip over the route made to familiarize themselves with the course. The run will end at the office of the Los Angeles Times, and the conditions of the run are that the letter given to Hensley at the time of his start shall be delivered to The Times within a specified time.

AND HENSLEY STOPS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Hensley automobile party, which started from the Chronicle Building at 10:15 o'clock tonight in an effort to break the San Francisco-Los Angeles record, abandoned the trip at San Leandro, owing to a broken engine. Hensley telephoned to the Chronicle that a small bolt had been placed in the engine, and had wrecked it to such a degree that he deemed it unwise to continue the run. He said he would return to San Francisco, and start again tomorrow night in a second trip. He claimed the bolt was placed in the engine before he started.

IN CONDITION FOR BIG MILL.

KELLY PICKED TO TAKE AWAY THE DECISION.

Bots Contestants in Tiptop Condition, and a Rattling Battle is Looked for—Some Lively Betting, With Kelly the Favorite—How to Get There.

Local sports were having a dreadful time yesterday. The Rialto from the first booze parlor to the last bridge of sighs was buzzing with bets and mental speculation regarding the respective abilities pugilistic of Messrs. Hugo Kelly, and Thomas Burns, two gentlemen whose faces are not their fortune, but whose mitts are—and they are not ballplayers either, although slugger hitters.

Kelly rules a ten to eight favorite in considerable gambling about town, nearly all the cigar stands doing a lively brokerage business. On the "dope", the men figure at least as close as that price, but as has been pointed out in these columns heretofore, there are other things than past performances that must be taken into account in picking fight winners.

Burns will have whatever advantage there is in the weights—not over two pounds. Up to last night the men had not settled their difference of opinion, but Manager McCarey anticipates no trouble of a serious nature over the disagreement. Still he would probably have rested easier had the men signed away the argument yesterday.

There will be nothing to choose between them as regards condition of the men. Each has trained in his own peculiar manner, and both are fit in every sense of the word.

Kelly is a fighter of a new style here. He is a sturdy, withal gracefully built youth—physically as perfect in his proportions as a Greek god by Phidias. Essentially a "borer-in" he has learned many of Tommy Ryan's tricks, and is a fighter, rather than a boxer, always prepared to hit with punishing force. At this peculiar style of milling, Kelly, by as good a judge of fighting as Jack Root, is declared a world beater. Hugo is the style of a man, who is likely to get a decision if both are on their feet at the end of the twentieth round as seems on the whole, probable.

Burns is a big, strong fellow, and a hard nut to crack. He, too, has a rushing style and mixes up plenty of haymakers with his short arm jolts. Such fellows are often hard to get at, and harder still to "cop," so on the whole a decision seems to be about what the Fates have in store for Mr. Kelly.

Kelly for the decision is therefore the official "dope." It may be bad—quite frequently is, but wouldn't be "dope" if it were always right.

The new pavilion of the Pacific Athletic Club is located at the corner of Chavez and Queirolo streets, down by the Llewellyn Iron Works. East Main street, Lamar street, Eastlake Park and Downey avenue cars all reach it. Naud junction being the stop.

McCarey has ribbed up two first class preliminaries, and time will be called sharply at 8 o'clock as a big delegation of out of town sports are in the city today "to attend lodge this evening," and "to spend the night with Tom, or Dick, or Harry as the case may be, according to the gullibility of wifey. It is a shame to plug their game, but the truth always hurts, and will out.

ZOLOCK VALUABLE.

OWNER ASKS BIG PRICE.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 27.—Ben Davis of this city, owner of the famous trotter Zolock, today received a telegram from the Boston Globe inquiring how much money would be necessary to buy Zolock. Davis replied as follows: "Fifty thousand dollars is the least that buys Zolock." The horse is now at Fresno, where last Friday he easily won two heats in 2:05¼ for each heat.

INDIANS BEATEN.

RIVERSIDE WINS GAME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, July 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It took eleven innings for the Riverside baseball team to beat the widely-heralded Sioux Indian bunch this afternoon, but they did it. A lucky run at the end of the eleventh did the business. It was the best exhibition of the national game seen here in many a day, and the improvised grounds at the Grant school were filled with a wildly-cheering mass of fans. The Riverside team was made up of Elks, two or three has-beens resurrected from the memory of a dim past, and a couple of High School boys. It was an illy assorted lot as to uniforms, but they played the game. Franz Hosp, who was recently tried out in a Los Angeles league game, occupied the box, and Bert Newcomb, for years a stand-by behind the bat, wore the mask.

It was in the last half of the third that Riverside gave the Sioux a real awakening. With bases full, Hosp smashed a terrific grounder to left field, and let Tompkins and Council in, and Skinner followed on a three-bagger and later scored. A couple of bucks tallied in the next half. Nothing more was doing until the second half of the fifth, when Hosp and Skinner came in on Hudson's hot grounder. It was clearly the Indian's turn and they tallied in one, two, three order. At the end of the eighth it was 3 to 4, the Indians having the long end. The Indians failed to score in the first half of the ninth. With the full bases Newcomb let Hosp in and Skinner came in on Hudson's fly. This tied the score. There was no scoring in the tenth, and Skinner saved the day in the eleventh by scoring on Newcomb's hot liner to left field.

If the Russians had stuck to their traditional tactics of masterly retreats they would now have had the Japs a long ways from home and a good many of them a long time dead.

In the past the Equitable Society settled pensions on several of its employés, but under the new management it is not believed that either James Hazen Hyde or Chauncey Depew will be similarly treated.

"The American way" of doing almost everything becomes all the time more popular in Europe. The way we keep out of wars, however, does not seem to have fully caught on, over there, but they'll come to it by-and-bye.

The young man at the seashore should not fail to figure on the possibility that the girl who calls him pet names is merely under the influence of the moon and the water, and may call him a lobster after the season is ended.

An attempt is being made to revive interest in the once favorite poem, "Backward, Turn Backward, O Time, in Thy Flight." It is obviously a last despairing effort to induce people to read the evening newspapers.

The question as to what the sad sea waves are saying is not nearly so important at the present juncture as the question that faces the man who bought into the boom in the vicinity of the waves herein previously referred to.

The Ixwi Lobonfu, the leading Kaffir journal of South America, pays the following beautiful tribute to our new Secretary of the Navy: "Mr. Charles Joseph Bonoparte eo sleng agente e khoio ea molao, le setloholo sa Napoleon Bonaparte, o entsoe Mongoli oa United States."

There's just a little too much fog down here lately, and the only way to account for it is that San Francisco is pushing her danged old climate over on us in the hope that she may attract some of the attention that the world has been giving this heaven-favored and much-praised area.

The Kaiser may grow old and die without leaving behind him a name to be spoken with that of Frederick or Charlemagne. But it will be because the opportunity never came to him. The stuff's in him, if the chance comes, but it's all in the chance. Who would ever have heard of Ulysses S. Grant if there had been no Civil War in America?

None of the princes whom Norway invited to occupy her throne dared take the job, because the Kaiser wouldn't give his consent. Now the Kaiser has evidently decided to place one of his own princes on that throne without asking anybody's consent. And if that doesn't prove that the Kaiser is the boss of Europe, there's no use trying to prove anything.

Charles F. Lummis has come back from the hills and the remote recesses of his well-beloved wilds, and has told the directors of our City Library the kind of a library he thinks we ought to have. And, say, if ever a clear, lucid, sane, workable, useful bookshop was ever stacked up, it's the one that Charlie has in mind. Mr. Lummis not only knows something, but he also possesses the ability to think of it.

To Topolobampo, Agiabampo, Guaymas and Mazatlan—aye, and to many a port beside, the stately ships will sail from the white sweep of the surf-booming sands of the Los Angeles water front. You'll see the flag of every nation here on these beloved shores of peace. The Pacific is the arena of the world's future activity, and it is upon the waters of that mighty ocean that we ripariously abut.

We don't believe the Kaiser advised the Czar to go on fighting. We shall wait a little longer before taking any stock in that kind of a report. It is far more likely that the Kaiser advised the Czar to quit for awhile, build up a new navy, settle things inside of the empire, and then, some fine day when the Jap is standing before the mirror thinking what a deuce of a fine-looking yellow man he is, just land right in the middle of his back and kick the wind out of him before he knows what struck him.

A steamship line from the free, sun-kissed harbor of San Pedro to the Gulf of California? Yea, verily. And to many another gulf, and bays a-plenty afar on foreign shores, shall the ships sail out of that same great harbor and back again, anon, into its welcoming arms of shelter. She was scooped out and breakwatered for the purpose of doing a shipping business, was that harbor aforesaid (sun-kissed as previously mentioned) and you can bet the last bean in the bag that that's what's going to happen.

We think our esteemed St. Petersburg contemporary, the Novoe Vremya, is somewhat unreasonable in its opposition to giving up a single kopeck to the Japanese, in order to bring about an accord. A kopeck amounts to only the half an American penny. Give them a wheelbarrow full of kopecks, if necessary, and let this shooting business stop.

THE PEACE COMMISSIONERS.

The plenipotentiaries of the two great empires of Russia and Japan will hold a so-called peace conference at Portsmouth next week. They are the most distinguished statesmen of their respective countries, and are empowered, not merely to discuss the terms of a treaty of peace, but to negotiate it, and it is probable that the result of their deliberations will be ratified by their governments. If peace should not be the outcome there will be great disappointment among the people of the countries immediately concerned, and also in the whole civilized world. Naturally great interest is manifested in the personnel of the envoys entrusted with these extraordinary powers.

The Russian plenipotentiaries are Count Sergius de Witte, President of the Council of Ministers, a body consisting of the heads of departments in the Russian government, and Baron de Rosen, Ambassador to the United States. The former is the highest civil official in the government, and the latter the most distinguished person in the diplomatic service. Japan is represented by Baron Jutaro Komura, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Kogora Takahira, at present officiating as Minister to the United States.

Count Witte may be regarded as the leading liberal statesman of Russia. For the last dozen years he has been one of the strongest personalities in the government. He has taken no part in the repressive measures against the Jews or the working classes, and is today the hope of Russian liberals. As he well knew the unpreparedness of Russia for war at the outbreak of hostilities, he was opposed from the first to precipitating the conflict, and as Japan was well aware of his attitude in this regard her government has a friendly feeling toward him, and it is believed that his counsels will have great weight at the conference.

The associate of Witte, Baron Rosen, comes from a distinguished family and has been in the diplomatic service of Russia for many years. He was formerly consul-general at New York, then charge d'affaires at Washington, and was Minister to Japan at the outbreak of hostilities. He was appointed Ambassador to the United States in May last as the successor to Count Cassini.

Baron Komura was educated in this country, being the first Japanese student to receive a degree from Harvard University. He was Ambassador to St. Petersburg when the war broke out, and was then sent as Minister to China. He has been instrumental in promoting the cordial relations now existing between the two great Oriental nations.

Minister Takahira, the associate of Komura, succeeded the latter as Minister to the United States, and still holds that position. He was educated at the Imperial College of Tokio. In 1885 he represented his country at the capital of Korea as consul; in 1887 at Shanghai; and in 1888 became consul-general at New York. In 1892 he was Minister to The Hague, and later, Minister to Italy, and then to Austria-Hungary. He has thus had a wide experience in both Asiatic and European diplomacy, and is quite a linguist, speaking English and other European tongues with fluency.

Each of the envoys will be attended by secretaries whose knowledge and experience in affairs of State and in the diplomatic service will facilitate the work of the Peace Commission. Count Witte will be attended by a personal friend, M. Korojovitz, formerly secretary of the Russian legation at Peking, and one of the ablest of the young diplomats. It is given out that Aimar Sato is the official spokesman of Baron Komura while the peace negotiations are pending. The discussions will be conducted in absolute secrecy, and nothing will be known of them till the final result of the conference is announced.

Of course speculation is rife as to the demands which will be made by Japan, and the concessions which can be granted by Russia. Tentative suggestions have been put forth to the effect that Japan will require an indemnity of $2,500,000,000, but will be induced to accept $1,000,000,000; that Japan will demand suzerainty over Korea as a sine qua non; that control of that portion of the Siberian railway within the Province of Manchuria shall be abandoned by Russia; that the Island of Sakhalin shall be formally ceded to Japan; that the fortress of Vladivostok shall be dismantled, that Japan shall have the right to collect customs dues in Manchuria—at least for a term of years—till the relations between the three powers of Russia, China and Japan shall have been definitely determined.

Doubtless the fortunes of war will compel Russia to accede to some of these demands however unwelcome to her people. Financial considerations will play an important part in the negotiations. When the fiscal agents of Russia's closest ally, France, decline to make any further loans unless peace is declared, it is plain that a powerful money lever is brought to bear upon the negotiations. As war cannot be prosecuted without money, Russia is confronted with a condition which may largely modify the terms of peace. On the other hand, the Japanese government is offered all the money it wants, and has recently effected an internal loan for $250,000,000.

Fortunately, both governments desire peace, and the moral sentiment of the world is in favor of a cessation of the war. Civilized nations of the twentieth century cannot look with indifference upon the dreadful and useless slaughter of human lives incident to the clash of arms between two contending armies which have not been exceeded in numbers in ancient or modern times. Aside from humanitarian considerations the commerce of the world is suffering in consequence of the prolonged hostilities, on sea and land, involving the entire eastern frontier of the Asiatic continent.

In the memorable words of Grant, "Let us have peace."

FATHER OF THE NAVY.

A widespread and more or less acrimonious discussion has sprung up during the past few weeks as to whom should properly belong the title of "Father of the American Navy." This revival of an old argument was, of course, occasioned by the renewed interest awakened in it by the discovery of the bones of John Paul Jones and their removal to America after having lain unknown, unhonored and neglected in a forgotten cemetery in Paris.

Without detracting, or attempting to detract from the credit and glory that belongs to Paul Jones, Esek Hopkins, Conyngham or any of the other splendid sea-fighters who scourged the British on the ocean, as well as within the narrow seas, during our Revolutionary War, there can be no question that none of these men can rightfully be claimed as the "Father of the American Navy." The title belongs alone to John Barry, and his claim to it is as clear as the records of history have ever made anything.

The American navy began when, on October 13, 1775, Congress ordered two armed cruisers to be fitted out. The largest of these was the Lexington, and she was placed in command of John Barry December 7, 1775. The commission of Esek Hopkins is dated December 22, 1775, later than Barry's, and, anyhow, Congress never approved that commission. The Continental navy began the day Commodore John Barry took command of the Lexington. At the close of the Revolutionary War Barry was in command of the whole navy of the united colonies. Washington commanded on land, but Barry commanded at sea. He captured the first prize of the war—the Edward, off the coast of Virginia, and brought her into the harbor of Philadelphia. He fought the last battle of the Revolution with the Sybelle March 10, 1783. He commanded our first cruiser and our last ship during the war of the Colonies against Great Britain. At the close of hostilities Washington appointed him head of the new navy of the United States.

"Jack" Barry was a great fighting man, and his record on the sea is second in daring, accomplishment and picturesqueness to that of Paul Jones alone. When the revolution broke out he owned the finest merchant ships in America. He also was possessed of a large private fortune. He gave them both to the cause and shed his blood in that same cause with a bravery never exceeded. Let justice be done to all. Let the truth be told. And when this is done, Commodore John Barry stands as the Father of the American Navy.

An Attractive Sign.

"I wish," said the good, old parson, "that I could devise some plan whereby the lost sheep could be induced to wander back into the straight and narrow path."

"Well," rejoined the suburban resident, whose wisdom was the offspring of experience, "why don't you tack up a 'No Trespassing Allowed' sign on the church door?"—[Detroit Tribune.

An' wot he don t' my old man I tell ye wuz a shame.
Me mudder said afore dad died he earnt two bucks a day,
An' dat guy's dad, me mudder sez, got most of my dad's pay.
Now dat guy has a house uptown, an'
he wouldn't play wid me;
An' why it's so, his dad's got dough.
An' dat's wot does it, see?

When my pop died, me mudder sez,
She went to dat guy's dad,
An' wot he said to help her troo just med me mudder sad.
Dad's funeral cost fifty bucks; now
mudder scrubs all day
T' git de stuff to pay his Nobs, wot tuk me dad away.
When I git big enuff to shine, I'll git

More Than He Could Stand.

At a review in Berlin some years ago the Kaiser impatiently reprimanded old Gen. Von Meerscheldt for losing his wits at a critical moment.

"If Your Majesty thinks I am getting too old, I beg of you to allow me to resign."

"No, no," replied the Emperor, "you are too young to resign. Indeed, if your blood didn't course through your veins quite so fast you would be a more useful army leader."

On the evening of that day the Kaiser and the general met at a court ball. The general was talking to some young ladies.

"Ah, Meerscheidt," cried the Emperor, "that is right; get ready to marry. Take a young wife, then that excitable temperament of yours will soon vanish."

The general bowed low as he retorted:

"I beg to be excused, Your Majesty. A young Emperor and a young wife would be more than I could possibly stand."—[Tit-Bits.

How Paul Jones Countered.

"What! Paul Jones the pirate!" must have been the shocked reflection of many an honest Briton on hearing that the United States was about to pay belated honors to the famous "renegade." He himself, by the way, rather neatly countered the English government's denunciation of him as a pirate. He replied that he had looked in the dictionary and found a pirate defined as "an enemy of mankind," and "as England was then at war with the whole of America, the greater part of Europe, and much of Asia not to speak of a bit of Africa, she in point of fact came as near being the enemy of mankind as could well be conceived, and that England was therefore the pirate, and not Paul Jones."—[London Chronicle.

AN EMPEROR'S SPITE STATUE.

RECALLS WOMAN WHO MADE FACE AT MONARCH.

The Hideous Effigy is Still to be Seen on a House in Berlin—Conscious Wooden Statue in Tokio. Anvil Erected as a Memorial to a Blacksmith.

[Pearson's Weekly.] A huge hideous face of a woman is fixed on a house in Berlin, and is known as "The Head of Spite." The Emperor William I. had it erected as a warning against rancorous ill will.

The Emperor stopped one day at a blacksmith's to have his horse's shoe refixed. Next door was a rival blacksmith, and the daughter of this man of muscle put her tongue out and distorted her face, which was never very pretty, with a horrible grin, in order to show her contempt for the King.

His Majesty took no notice of the insult at the time, but the next day he ordered a well-known German sculptor to produce in wood a monstrous face of a woman with a tongue lolling out of the mouth.

The Emperor himself superintended the fixing of this strange ornament above the doorway of the blacksmith's shop, where the ill-bred woman resided, and there it has remained ever since.

One of the largest and most curious statues in the world stands in Tokio, Japan. It represents Hachiman, the God of War, and is made entirely of wood. The head of the figure is large enough to accommodate twenty persons in its interior, and is fitted with an automatical arrangement corresponding with the human brain. Hachiman holds in his right hand a woden sword thirty feet long, and in his left a golden ball twelve feet in diameter.

STATUE TO ROB ROY.

A statue to Rob Roy, nine feet high, and made of wood, was erected some years ago on the projection of a cliff fifty feet above the River Culter, near Aberdeen. The figure, which is one of the sights of Scotland, is painted with the colors of the Clan Macgregor.

Brussel's most famous statue represents a nude boy standing over a fountain. It was erected by a nobleman, whose lost son was found wandering near the spot. Louis XV decorated the statue with the Order of the Holy Ghost, and today it possesses nine costumes belonging to nine different periods. On fete days the boy is attired in a uniform of the Civil Guard.

A statue to William Wheelwright, the famous engineer and shipbuilder, stands in a square in Valparaiso. This is one of the few monuments erected to Englishmen in foreign parts. Wheelwright began life in a poor way, but he ended by organizing the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, which has ever since been the greater power on the whole Pacific Coast of South America.

TAJ MEHAL MAUSOLEUM.

The most expensive memorial that has ever been erected is undoubtedly the Taj Mehal, at Agra, in India. It was built as a mausoleum for the remains of Arjamed Banos Begum, a wife of the Emperor Shah Jehan, better known as "The Exalted of the Palace." The Begum died in 1629, and the building, which was started in the same year, and not completed until 1648, is said to have cost $3,000,000. The materials are white marble and red sandstone, and the main feature of the memorial is a great dome, which swells upwards to nearly two thirds of a sphere, and tapers at its extremity into a spire crowned by an enormous crescent.

The Begum's memorial is numbered amongst the wonders of the world, and Bayard Taylor writes of it:

"The Taj Mahal at Agra is a poem. Did you ever build a castle in the air? Here is one brought down to earth and fixed for the wonders of ages; yet so light it seems, so airy, and, when seen from a distance, so like a fabric of mist and sunbeams, with its great dome soaring up, as all-very bubble about to burst in the sun, that even after you have touched it, and climbed to its summit, you almost doubt its reality."

An old anvil coated with enamel, topped with a large horseshoe, and set in a base of solid granite, stands in Bellville, Ill., in memory of Moehle, a blacksmith. At the same anvil Moehle toiled for the better part of his life, and during his existence he looked upon this mass of metal, which had been presented to him by the old blacksmith to whom he was apprenticed at Pilot Knob, as his greatest treasure. After his death his fellow citizens had it turned into a monument.

STATUE OF LIBERTY.

On Bedloe's Island, outside the harbor of New York, stands the famous Statue of Liberty. The statue, which is 150 feet high, is placed on a pedestal 177 feet high, and is, therefore, 327 feet above the sea level. It is not like most monuments, inasmuch as it is composed of innumerable pieces of iron and copper, separately hammered into shape, and then riveted together. The head of the statue is 14 feet high, and will hold 40 people, with room to spare, while the torch, which is several feet above will accommodate 16 persons. This colossus was presented to America in 1884 by the French republic, the funds for its building being entirely subscribed by the people of France.

The Statue of Liberty was made in the ironworks of MM. Gaget Gauthier et Cie, of Paris, and over 400,000 pounds of copper and iron were used by them in its manufacture.

When a favorite dog, cat or other domestic pet, belonging to a person of royal rank, dies in China, its sorrowing owner has its body inclosed in a coffin of polished oak, elaborately carved, and buried in the animal cemetery behind the summer palace, at Peking. This burial ground is the largest and best-kept in the Far East, and the monuments that have been raised to commemorate the affection and fidelity of humble friends of Emperors and Empresses are of gold, silver and ivory. Some of the statues, as statues they are, are worth many thousands of pounds each.

Hundreds of dogs have been buried in the cemetery, and they occupy the place of honor both in the number of valuable monuments and in the tributes engraved on them.

The old Egyptians erected a number of huge sarcophagi and mausoleums especially to hold the mummified bodies of sacred cats.

In many cases these buildings are more decorative in workmanship than those which were erected to hold the mortal remains of Kings and Queens.

Reciprocity Defined.

"Mistuh Pinkley," said Miss Miami Brown, "what does you understan' is de meanin' of de word reciprocity?"

"Well," was the answer, "you take de chicken coop. De chicken inside is layin' foh de man dat owns her; the man is layin' foh me 'cause he knows I's layin' foh the chicken. An' dat's reciprocity."—[Washington Star.

Georgia's Highest Court Makes Ruling Adverse to that of Judge Parker.

[New York Tribune:] The highest court of Georgia has recently handed down a decision which must be of considerable interest to New Yorkers, in view of the great attention attracted to a similar litigation in this State a few years ago which ended in a different way. One of the noteworthy opinions of Alton B. Parker, when he was Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, was that in the case of Roberson against the Rochester Folding Box Company. Miss Roberson was a young woman in private life, whose picture, taken solely for her friends and never published by her, was reproduced for advertising purposes without her consent. She brought action for infringement of her right of privacy. Justice Davy of Rochester gave judgment in her favor, and he was unanimously sustained by the Appellate division, but the Court of Appeals, by a vote of four to three, reversed the decision. Chief Judge Parker, writing the opinion, held that no right of privacy existed except such as could be protected by the law of libel. No equitable relief could be afforded for the patent outrage, and, if the evil was to be reformed, it could only be by legislation. Judge Gray wrote a vigorous dissenting opinion, concurred in by two other judges, in which he upheld the young woman's right of property in her own likeness. Now the Georgia court takes the same view in the case of Pavesich against the New England Life Insurance Company.

The company obtained a photograph of Mr. Pavesich, who was a good-looking, well-set-up man, and published it in a newspaper beside the picture of a disreputable-looking person, to illustrate the man who insured and the man who didn't. Mr. Pavesich was naturally the victim of much unpleasant ridicule from his acquaintances, and he brought suit declaring the advertisement to be a "trespass upon the plaintiff's right of privacy." A demurrer was sustained, but reversed on appeal, the highest court taking the ground positively that the right of privacy was one of the absolute rights of the common law, and that, if a person desired seclusion, he might not be exhibited in a public place except as demanded by the law of the land. If personal liberty embraced the right of publicity—of freely appearing before the public for any social, business or other reason—it embraced the correlative right of privacy. Judge Cobb takes note of Chief Judge Parker's opinion, and thus squarely combats it:

"We are utterly at variance with him in his conclusion that the existence of this right cannot be legitimately inferred from what has been said by commentators upon the legal rights of individuals, and from expressions which have fallen from judges in their reasoning in cases where the exercise of the right was not directly involved. . . . The true lawyer, when called to the discharge of judicial functions, has in all times, as a general rule, displayed remarkable conservatism; and, whenever it was legally possible to base a judgment upon principles which had been recognized by a long course of judicial decision, this has been done, in preference to applying a principle which might be considered novel. It was for this reason that the numerous cases, both in England and in this country, which really protected the right of privacy were not placed upon the existence of this right, but were allowed to rest upon principles derived from the law of property."

When the judges disagree the layman can hardly hope to fathom the mazes of the law. But the Georgia law ought certainly, by some means or other, to be the New York law. If equity is less adaptable to circumstances and less able to deal with new forms of torts in New York than in Georgia, then statute law should supplement its deficiencies. New York should be as progressive as any State in all that makes for decency and the safeguarding of citizens. It is nothing short of outrageous that modest women who in no way put themselves before the public are in this State liable to be dragged into notoriety by any adventurer who thinks he can fill his pockets by exploiting them. Even Judge Parker, though he thought that Miss Roberson was entitled to no relief and that she might, perhaps, have been expected to feel complimented by the evidently sincere flattery of the advertiser, nevertheless, while courting publicity, objected to the photographers and passionately asserted his right to as much privacy as suited his convenience.

Old Zebe's Vote.

Ex-Representative James Hamilton Lewis, now of Chicago, tells the following story of the late Gen. Fitzhugh Lee: "It was when he was a candidate for Governor against Gen. Mahone, the day following the election, which left the count in uncertainty. He came down by the way of the University of Virginia and ran amuck of our old janitor. He said: 'Zebe, did you vote for me yesterday?' Zebe replied, 'Yes, Massa Fitz. I voted yesterday.' 'I know, but did you vote for me? Now, honor bright, Zebe, tell me the truth.' To which Zebe said: 'Well, boss, the truth is, I'm a member of de church; I can't tell no lie. No. I didn't vote for you, Mass' Fitz, but they count it for you, jes' the same.'"—[New York Tribune.

Alliance With a Wolf.

King Oscar of Sweden is playing a very dangerous game of bluff in apparently concluding an alliance with the German Emperor, as a means of terrifying the Norwegians. To call in the kaiser would be comparable, as an act of policy for Sweden, to one of the Roman emperors in the decadence who called in the Vandals to help him against enemies. The Goths and Vandals in their assistance wrecked the empire for themselves.

As between Sweden and Germany on the other, the freedom of Norway could not stand long. In the meantime people could hold out with coast towns would be safe, at best they could hope would have a chance to keep up a state of war in the interior, as the Cubans kept up against Spain.

But when Germany came to sate herself out of Norway, the situation of Sweden as the German foothold on the peninsula would be as much to her as it would be to the Norwegians.

The only safety for the Scandinavian kingdoms lies in a defensive alliance of all three of them, with friendship of Great Britain and sincere respect, not the "support" of the German. [New York Mail.

PLAYHOUSES AND PLAYERS.

What We Will See.

The syndicate, whose local theater is the Mason Operahouse, under the direction of H. C. Wyatt, is planning to send some big attractions to Los Angeles next year. A great part of the heavy bookings has already been finally decided upon, though in some instances dates are not definitely fixed. The official "season" will open earlier this year than ever before, and the first to visit us will be our old friend Sam Kendall, who has a comedy piece that he calls "Weatherbeaten Benson." While Kendall could not by any stretch of the imagination be considered as actor, he is a human, friendly fellow, whose humor has a wealth of sunny optimism.

After this, the Mason Operahouse will be open almost continuously until June, 1906. Many of the attractions which have hitherto played only three nights and a matinee—in fact, most of them—will now give us week stands, and some of the biggest shows are to remain in Los Angeles two weeks.

No announcement could give greater pleasure to the intelligent theater-goer than that which heralds Richard Mansfield, America's greatest actor. For the first time in ten years Mr. Mansfield will deviate from his usual western route, and will spend a week in Los Angeles during the coming season.

The Savage English Grand Opera Company, which spent a week here last February, is to come back in February, 1906, and is planning to stay two weeks.

Other plays and players now booked are Wilton Lackaye, in "The Pit;" Eleanor Robson, in Zangwill's "Merely Mary Ann;" E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe, in Shakespearean repertoire; Nance O'Neil, in repertoire; Maxine Elliott, in repertoire; Alberta Gallatin, Viola Allen, Louis James, William H. Collier, William H. Crane, Ian Goodwin, Charles Hanford, Florence Roberts and Andrew Mack.

Of musical spectacles we will apparently have a surfeit. Here are some—all—that are coming: "The Beauty and the Beast," "The Sultan of Sulu," "The Girl from Kays," "The Chaperon," "The Sho-Gun," "The Prince of Pilsen," "Piff-Paff-Pouff," and "Babes in Toyland."

Special mention might be made of George Ade's brilliant comedy "The Sultan's Widow," which was the humorous hit of New York last season, and which is booked for a week here. Another merry one is genial May Irwin, in "Mrs. Black is Back."

"The Hur," an old thing in other towns, but never seen here, is to remain two weeks, as with its enormous mechanism and 200 actors it has been found unprofitable to move it for much shorter stands.

LOCATION OF DESERT GUIDES.

TO PLACE TWENTY-EIGHT SIGN POSTS.

Spring Will be in the Southeastern Part Where Lie the Burning Sands of Death—Inyo County Was Ready to Act in April, but Red Tape Caused Delay.

Twenty-eight guideposts are to be placed in Kern county to guide travelers in the desert, that being the number of locations decided upon by the Board of Supervisors. The county will be first to file an application with the State Department of Highways for signs. The posts are to be entirely of metal, so that no one through stupidity or criminality, will be able to destroy them for the purpose of kindling a fire, because it is easier to cut down a post than to gather the underbrush. The directions will be perforated on the metal crosspieces so that they will not be affected by time or weather. The territory affected covers part of three out of five of the supervisorial districts in the county. The largest number will be placed in the first and second districts which comprise the southern and eastern parts of the county. In the first district, which includes Randsburg and the territory covered by the borax fields in the county and the scene of the tungsten discoveries, the most desolate portion, there will be twelve posts erected. These will be located on the following roads:

Airbone Cañon fork, one; Desert Spring fork, one; Red Rock Cañon, Garlock and Goler fork, one; Randsburg to Coyote Holes, two; In Wells and Coyote Holes, one; Station fork, one; Nadeau road, two; Borax road, two.

Fifteen signs will be put up in the second district, which comprises the eastern border along the northern portion of Los Angeles county and the desert country around Mojave. The placement of these is to be along the following highways:

Little Mile House to Randsburg, one; Rose Springs to Los Angeles, one; Saltdale to Death Valley, two; Tehachepi to Sand Cañon, one; Oak Creek to Los Angeles, one.

The remaining ten signs will be placed at points in more northern portions of the county, some of which are very isolated and difficult to travel, although not as a rule as desolate as the more southerly portions.

GUIDES FOR DEATH VALLEY.

Acting Secretary Gurley of the Chamber of Commerce has just received a reply to his circular letter from A. N. Johnson, secretary of the committee created by the Inyo County Supervisors to arrange for signs in Death Valley and at other points on the desert. Mr. Davidson states that the board is fully awake to the importance of the matter, both from a humanitarian standpoint as well as from that of economy, and will at the earliest possible moment see that all the desert roads in the county are furnished with proper signs." The board meets quarterly and at the April meeting appointed the two members whose districts cover the desert a committee with full power to act. When communicated with, however, the State Department of Highways replied that as the law did not take effect until the first part of May, nothing could be done before that time, so that several months of precious time were wasted by the red tape, but at the July meeting of the board a communication was received from Commissioner Ellery reporting that a requisition be made for a proper number of posts and a map prepared as to their purpose and location. This is to be done as soon as the necessary data can be secured in Death Valley to determine the locations desired.

This is a little shoe we have just received.

Made of all patent colt on a new and very clever last; welt soles, Cuban heels, three large eyelets and wide ribbon ties. It is certainly a beautiful shoe for $3.50.

We are showing an unusually strong line of women's $3.50 summer oxfords, most of them exclusive styles with us.

HIGHEST PRICE YET.

Seventeen Hundred Dollars a Front Foot Paid for Spring-street Lot South of Seventh.

John T. Smith has sold to Jennie H. Lockhart, a lot 60x165 feet on the west side of Spring street between Seventh and Eighth at the quoted consideration of $102,500. This is at the rate of $1700 per front foot, which is said to be the highest price ever paid for a lot on any street south of Seventh. The buyer is reported to have made the purchase for a permanent investment. The deal was negotiated by the J. C. Heyler Company.

Such values so far south indicate great confidence on the part of the buyers that this city will continue to grow rapidly, creating new business, which must find room far from the present center of business. South of Seventh street was far removed from the center a few years ago, but the center has spread out amazingly in all directions.

FOR LARGE WAREHOUSE.

W. B. Merwin reports the sale of the southeast corner of Alameda and Banning streets for J. C. Cain to M. A. Newmark & Co. The lot has a frontage of 100 feet on Alameda street and a depth of 200 feet. Price $27,500. The property is improved with a small brick warehouse and a two-story frame building. It is especially well located for a wholesale house, as it will have the advantage of the switch soon to be laid on Banning street, and of the Southern Pacific Railway on Alameda street. M. A. Newmark & Co., intend building a large warehouse on the property. The price is $275 per front foot. It is a valuable corner.

New York's Idol Factory.

Probably the only idol factory in the world is now located in the city of New York, where the idols of all countries are reproduced and new ones manufactured. India gets the largest shipment, but from some countries even farther East comes an ever-increasing demand. The average foreign shipment varies from a couple of hundred to a thousand images every thirty days. By far the largest number of idols are made of plaster, coated, oiled and polished to resemble old bronze. —[Bangkok Times.

Men's Night Shirts

The $1.25 and $1.50 Grades at 65c

(On Sale Saturday)

Richly trimmed nainsooks, oxfords, and madras cloths—garments that we'd have to sell at $1.25 and $1.50 if we had bought in the regular way.

But these had served the maker's purpose as samples and he wanted them out of the way.

Some of them are badly rumpled and somewhat dusty, we freely admit—but you can well afford to pay ten cents for laundering when you save 60c to 85c on each one.

(On sale Saturday morning at right of main entrance.)

$1.50 Soft Shirts at 95c

If we could always get such values at these we'd sell more shirts than any half dozen stores in town.

In excellence of materials, correctness of fit and general appearance they surpass the usual run of dollar-fifty shirts. Neat blue and black stripes and figures—modest patterns that will please every well dressed man.

THE swiftest scholarship race that has ever been run is that now in progress in the big arena of Southern California. Every day adds to the score that is being run up, the total yesterday reaching 806,828 points.

After the first twenty-six days last year the score totaled 622,532, a gain in 1905 over 1904 of 184,296 points. At this time in the contest last year there were fifty contestants, against sixty-two this year.

At this time last year the highest score was 41,994, as compared with 54,134 this year, a gain of 12,330.

This year beats last by having nine more students with scores above one thousand credits. Five more students have scores above 20,000 than at this time in 1904.

These figures indicate that Southern California is growing in population and that The Times scholarship contests are keeping pace in popularity with the development of the country.

Among the high scores reported yesterday are the following: Mabie Soule, 4550; Bruce Moore, 2340; Garl Ewing, 1872; St. Clair Morton, 1635; Minnie Ponedel, 1872; Helen Pitner, 1310; Blanche Cunningham, 1290; Audrey Newton, 2493; Lonnie Gorham, 1640; Anna McNaughton, 1285; Hazel Doyle, 1226; Rex R. Gile, 1790; Earle Weller, 1189; Gesiena Brunjes, 1640; Tessie Tag, 788.

The following changes in the relative positions of the contestants occurred: Vivian Bassett, from 5 to 6; Bruce Moore, from 6 to 5; Garl Ewing, from 9 to 10; Minnie Ponedel, from 10 to 9; Albert Copran, from 12 to 13; Jessie King, from 13 to 14; Audrey Newton, from 14 to 12; Louise Sherer, from 16 to 17; Myrtle Graham, from 17 to 18; Lonnie Gorham, from 18 to 19; Gesiena Brunjes, from 19 to 16; Tessie Tag, from 26 to 27; Carrie Macloskey, from 29 to 31; Karl Marks, from 31 to 30; Elsie Jean Brebner, from 39 to 40; Ernest W. Stein, from 40 to 39; Charlie Yglesias, from 42 to 43; Thomas Green, from 43 to 42.

PERSEVERING MYRTLE VARNEY.

A product of the fields, orchards and gardens of California is Myrtle Varney, the scholarship candidate of Toluca.

By her parents, when she was a mere twig of a child, she was transplanted from the uncertain clay hills of Western Nebraska to the fertile soil of Sunny California. Here she has flourished. Only for too much strain during the last three years at school it might be said that Myrtle Varney is as strong as the other products which she has been growing up with on her father's little farm.

Toluca is a small place, but has much to be proud of. The quality of its boys and girls is a sufficient reason for its self-esteem. Often it is in the small places where perseverance, self-denial and concentration are practiced by young people and character formed which makes for the most permanent success. There seems to be ever influence in small towns near a city to inspire youth with ambition and self-reliance. And it is from country settlements that the most of the leaders in the world of business and society come.

The story of Myrtle Varney is an illustration of the inconveniences some young people endure in order to obtain an education. To reach a high school she was compelled to walk nearly a mile, then to ride by stage for five miles over Cahuenga Pass. This delivered her at Hollywood, whose High School she attended last year. The journey of nearly ten miles by foot and wagon every day consumed time which should have been devoted to study. Home work occupied Myrtle in the morning and evening before leaving Toluca and after arriving from school, for it would not be the dutiful and appreciative daughter that she is to leave the cooking and housecleaning to a mother of eight children. But the strain of work and travel and study was too much for a high-strung constitution. Before the High School term came to its close Myrtle Varney broke down. The two years previous overwork and overstudy had taken her out of the grammar school. Just before the final examinations of both years she had been compelled to give up her studies. But overcoming the embarrassments—always keen with children—of dropping back in lower classes, she resumed her studies and finally graduated from the grammar school of her home town.

GUSSIE MARCUS,
Entered contest at the start, but until yesterday detained at home by sickness.

A ten-acre homestead producing mixed fruits is not sufficient to maintain and educate a large family. So Myrtle Varney proposes to do something that will relieve her father of the cost of her education. The good people of Toluca are coöperating with her in her efforts to win a scholarship, as are also the residents of Burbank, four miles away, and some interested friends in Fernando, nine miles distant. The merits of the Varney family are known in all these towns and in all the country round about for they have lived there a good many years. From far-off Imperial coupons and subscriptions are voted in her favor.

A clerical position in Imperial is open to this young lady as soon as she qualifies herself in bookkeeping. She is anxious to get a business course, for which she is well prepared, then to fill the position in Imperial and grow up with a promising country.

OUT TO WORK.

Gussie Marcus, detained from active participation in this contest until yesterday, is now out to work every day until the contest closes. Miss Gussie was nominated by numerous friends before the contest opened. She intended to give royal battle to her rivals Not yet quite 16, Gussie is still quite small for her age. But to remain in the contest when sickness kept her indoors for four weeks and see other contestants running away from her proves that though small, she is grit through and through. Determination and courage it will require on her part to persevere in the work when she goes from place to place and finds that some other contestant has been there before her and committed the possible subscriber to a promise. But Gussie Marcus is of the stock that never gives up.

Here is what one of her patrons, Dr D. W. Edelman, says of her:

July 27, 1905.

Scholarship Manager, Los Angeles Times. Dear Sir: It is with pleasure that I recommend Miss Gussie Marcus a contestant for one of your scholarships. She is a bright, clean, careful good girl, and if successful in your contest, I am sure will be a creditable winner. Respectfully,

D. W. EDELMAN, M.D.

Morris Goldenson, another supporter of Gussie Marcus, writes gracefully and forcefully in her favor as follows:

LOS ANGELES, Cal.

July 27, 1905.

Scholarship Manager, The Times: Miss Gussie Marcus, who is now trying hard to win a scholarship through your generous offer, is a very refined young lady. You will find that she will try and mutually favor The Times as well as herself. I will at any time cheerfully respond to any inquiries that may be made respecting her ability or character. I wish her success in all her undertakings. Very truly yours,

MORRIS GOLDENSON.

WRAPPER BOY ENCOURAGED.

Robert Lee Scott, the wrapper boy who has very little time for canvassing for coupons and subscriptions, is getting more help since the sketch was published about him a few days ago. His widowed mother is still confined to her house taking care of a sick brother, so that Robert has no blood relative to labor in his behalf. Today he received the following kind letter:

LONG BEACH, July 25, 1905.

Robert Lee Scott, 714 Clara street, Los Angeles. My Dear, Noble Lad: After scanning the daily contest list for a deserving scholarship contestant I am finally rewarded in no other person but yourself. After reading the article in today's Times reviewing your daily routine of life in such a worthy and noble cause as a helper of your mother, I accord you the greatest respect. You are gradually reaching the top of the ladder, and with patience and perseverance, I fully believe you will get a scholarship. We are here for only a few months, but will assist you all we can. Enclose forty-one coupons, and will send more later; also some subscriptions, although they will not be for a year. Wishing you success in your undertaking, I am most respectfully,

MRS. A. M. LOBAUGH.

MYRTLE VARNEY,
Deserving girl who seeks a course in a business college.

PRIZES AT STAKE.

CASH PRIZES ARE ADDED.

The contestant having the highest score at the close of the contest will have first choice of the following scholarships. The second highest will have second choice and so on to the bottom of the list. From time to time the list of scholarships will be enlarged as the number of contestants multiply. The Times already has one and in some instances two scholarships in every one of the following institutions. Every school is considered excellent in its line:

REDONDO, THE BEAUTIFUL

With the kindest consideration and loyalty to every town and beach resort on the Coast of Southern California, we beg to say that the City of Redondo is a live one. The careful, serious investors, capable and in the habit of thinking twice, have Redondo well before them. They know what the double tracking of a broad gauge road to Redondo means (they happily learned by watching Long Beach,) and they know such a great work cannot be done in one day. They are asked to consider the unlimited, magnificent, rich back country which Redondo has to support it. They know Redondo is only seventeen miles from Los Angeles. They know of the beautiful rolling hills, the streets laid out according to the topography of same, the shade trees with which the city is blessed, the attractive beach running for miles along the front, the fine bathing and famous fishing grounds, the sightly bluff lots, the fine residences already completed and building, the desirable class of citizens, of the past quiet record and future live possibilities of Redondo as the City of Commerce and industry, for they realize the power and will to do of the Man behind, that has been conclusively proved in Los Angeles City.

They well know who purchased the townsite, wharves, etc., and that work of importance will be performed at once. All the property which was purchased at Redondo ten days ago will double just as soon as the actual work now outlined and promised is performed, which should be soon enough. A new local road is now building through Redondo, business houses and residences are now being erected, and more are to be built at once, and those who directly purchased and who now purchase direct and hold the Huntington property, which they acquired with the idea of making a solid and substantial investment, are asked to watch carefully the growth and transformation of that city.

Come and investigate carefully. We will gladly drive you over the city and surprise you with its beauty. The future of Redondo is exceptionally bright to the investor and home seeker.

MINES AND MINING.

DREDGING FOR YELLOW METAL.

STATE MINING BUREAU ISSUES BULLETIN ON WORK.

Collection of Mexican Mining Tax Explained—American Dollar Must Not be Called "Peso" Any More. Big Concession on Soda Beds in Sonora—Alaska Tin.

"Gold Dredging in California" is the title of a bulletin just issued by the State Mining Bureau from data collected by Mineralogist Lewis E. Aubury. The book comprises 120 pages and seventy illustrations showing the methods of dredging as carried on in this State.

Most of the dredging is now going on in the northern part of the State on the Feather and Yuba rivers, and Butte county produced by dredging $1,475,749 during 1903. This total was an increase of $608,054 over 1902. Mr. Aubury anticipates a large increase in the area to be worked in the future. What is now considered available amounts to 20,050 acres. A complete geological record of the dredging lands is given and the author is of the opinion that the same will be more valuable for agricultural purposes than before.

The first attempts at dredging in California were made during the fifties, but failed for reasons pointed out in the book. Similar work was carried on in New Zealand about the same time.

Methods of operating dredges, cost—including different classes of mechanics employed—and price of land are given.

MEXICAN MINING TAX.

Mexican Finance Minister Limantour has issued a circular explaining the method of collecting the mining tax under the new law. The circular is addressed to the director of the stamp revenue. In it the Minister says that "when the claims (pertenencias) of one and the same company are embraced under a single title deed, the tax shall be collected from the outset at the rate of 6 pesos for the first twenty-five claims, and 3 pesos for each claim in excess and that, when the property of a company is constituted by various mines, each covered by a separate title deed, the tax shall be collected at the rate of 6 pesos per claim for each group, if the area of said group does not exceed twenty-five claims, or, in the form above mentioned, if it does exceed said number, but always separately for each group, which, however, does not prevent the interested parties from having recourse to this department and demonstrating, with a view to the assessment of the tax, that the claims (pertenencias) covered by different title deeds are, nevertheless, contiguous to one another, and in such cases the decision that may be reached will in due course be communicated to you."

To avoid confusion in the use of monetary terms the Mexican Treasury Department has issued an order requiring that a distinction between United States and Mexican money shall be made plain and forbidding the use of the term "peso" to express American unit of value. To designate this the English word will be retained and not translated, the Spanish equivalent being applied exclusively to the Mexican coin. The dollar mark is also reserved to designate the Mexican coin, the "peso," and the American coin, if abbreviated, will be expressed by "dls."

SONORA SODA CONCESSION.

L. C. Balch has obtained from the State government of Sonora a concession, leasing and operating extensive soda beds found in the Altar district. The tract involved covers about 1200 hectares to be paid for annually at the rate of 91 cents per hectare. A deposit of $3000 is required as a guarantee that the exploitation of the lands will be carried out according to the terms of the concession.

BRITISHERS BUY TIN.

A British company has just purchased for $5,000,000 the tin properties owned by San Franciscans in the York district of Alaska. The mines have been proven to be excellent properties and it appears to be a fixed policy of the British tin miners to get control of all of this metal that is found anywhere in the world. There are a number of properties owned by them that are not being worked and have been shut down ever since their acquisition. Whether this is to be done in Alaska is not known yet.

We are always, 24 hours of the day, ready to attend to complaints.

TOWN MEETING FOR THE ROAD.

SAN BERNARDINO ENTHUSES OVER RIALTO PROJECT.

Substantial Business Interests of the City Have Taken an Active Part in the Movement for the Building of the Proposed Trolley Line. Will Discuss Mountain Line Also.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 27.—The Rialto-San Bernardino Electric railway project will be the object of a mass meeting here tomorrow night. The idea that San Bernardino is as greatly interested in seeing the project go through as are the Rialto people is gaining ground here. The substantial business interests of the town have at last taken the matter up in earnest, the result being that Friday night there will be a joint meeting of the Board of Trade and Merchants' Association, to which every taxpayer in the city has been invited.

Rialto contributes $200,000 annually to the business interests in San Bernardino through trade. This season the colony has shipped 900 carloads of citrus fruit to the eastern market, which have netted the growers in the neighborhood of $337,500, and this enormous sum will be increased with each passing year. As the colony prospers, its tribute to San Bernardino as the trade center of this valley will grow, and, this being so, the Rialto people believe that San Bernardino should assist in raising the $5000 bonus asked for by Seth Hartley to assist in building the proposed electric line.

The movement to interest all the people of this city has the indorsement of the banks and business men.

The meeting tomorrow night will also take up the matter of securing free rights-of-way up the mountains for the electrical railway proposed to be built by the Arrowhead Reservoir Company.

AGED MAN FOUND DEAD.

Eugene Gaston, who for the past nine years, has been making his home at the County Hospital, was found dead at an early hour this morning. The body was discovered beneath a tree on the hospital grounds. Though not considered to be an invalid, the old man was very weak. Indications point to death being the result of a hemorrhage. He had been missing since Tuesday, and probably had been dead since then.

"BOSTON" IS FLIGHTY.

Arthur Vallens, alias "Boston," the Santa Fé striker who is in the County Jail being held on a highway robbery charge, created a big disturbance in that bastile last night. He acted as if insane. Dr. J. W. Aldridge, the county physician, was summoned, and, after Vallens had been ironed, which was done only after a terrific struggle, the physician administered a hypodermic injection. It is the belief of the officers that he is feigning insanity, with the expectation that he will be sent to the County Hospital where his chances for escape would be better than in the County Jail.

SAN BERNARDINO NOTES.

The trial of Fred Eldridge was resumed in the Superior Court this morning. He is charged with forging the signature of the general foreman of the bridge and building department of the Santa Fé at Needles to a railway pass.

Dr. N. McFarlane is no longer Santa Fé physician at Daggett. The company, for some reason, has dismissed him, and has taken up his annual pass. He went to Daggett by the Salt Lake last night. He says he will sue the company. He claims that he performed surgical work for the railroad in payment for which the company gave him an annual pass, and this is to be the basis of his suit. He has taken a leading part in the crusade against the liquor men at Daggett.

RIALTO.

SOLICITING FOR THE BONUS.

RIALTO, July 27.—A circular letter is being issued to non-resident owners of property here, asking them to subscribe toward the $5000 bonus for the projected trolley road from San Bernardino to this settlement. The letter speaks of the present opportunity as one through which realty here may be made worth more and says that the object "can be accomplished only by the united efforts of all the property holders of the tract."

The statement is made that "a contribution of 1 per cent. of the value of ranch property, will secure the building of the road, and to us it seems bad business policy to let this opportunity pass."

HUNTINGTON BEACH.

CONCERTS AND DANCING.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 27.—Afternoon and evening concerts at the pavilion opposite the pier will be given, commencing the first of next week. Scott's Orchestra of Redlands will probably be engaged, and regular evenings set apart for dancing. The ocean side of the pavilion can be closed at will with glass windows. It has a fine floor.

Six cars of ties and rails went through here today for the Newport extension of the Pacific Electric Railway.

The officers of the Huntington Beach branch of the Fraternal Brotherhood and the Talbert Lodge of that order contemplate a consolidation. Cards suggesting this to the members have been issued and it will be taken up at the first meetings of the two lodges.

FULLERTON.

RURAL DELIVERY CHANGES.

FULLERTON, July 27.—Special Agent M. De La Montanya of the Postoffice Department has been here the past week changing the three rural routes so that a better service can be given and more families served. Instead of S. D. McKelvey, carrier No. 3, going to the Puente wells, he will serve the people at the Brea Cañon and Union oil leases in the cañon, and will cover all of La Habra Valley the same as now, serving two or three new families on his route. This will give him the same mileage, making no change in his salary, which is $720 per annum.

Mrs. Cora Vail, carrier on route No. 2, to the oil wells, will continue to serve the companies in the Santa Fé oil district, but not in Brea Cañon. Mrs. Vail has the hardest route in the county as it is very hilly and rough and the way it was laid out she only received a salary of $612 a year. She will be given new territory in upper Placentia so that her salary will be increased to $720 a year and will no longer have to travel over the heavy grades between the Santa Fé wells and Brea Cañon.

Carrier Charles Curtis, on route No. 1, will probably serve the people who reside south of Commonwealth avenue mostly and will serve at least twenty families south and southwest of town who were not on any direct route before.

CITY TO GET PERCENTAGE.

EDISON COMPANY READY TO PAY SANTA ANA.

Dating from Five Years After the Granting of the Franchise in That Town the Grantee Is to Turn Into the Municipal Treasury Six Per Cent. of Its Gross Earnings.

SANTA ANA, July 27.—City Attorney Heathman, acting under instructions of the City Trustees, is taking steps to collect about $1500 from the Edison Gas & Electric Company as the city's percentage from the operation of lighting franchises here during the past year.

The Edison company is doing business under a franchise granted in 1899, by which it was to enjoy five years of freedom from tribute to the city and after that time pay 6 per cent. of the annual gross earnings. The five-year limit expired on June 5, 1904, so that on June 5, 1905, the first year's tax was due.

Officers of the Edison company state that the money will be forthcoming without protest as soon as the exact amount can be determined.

INVOLVES DRAINAGE DISTRICT.

The recently incorporated Talbert Drainage District is made defendant in a suit filed today by the Mills Land & Water Company to prevent diversion of irrigating waters from ranch properties belonging to the latter. The complaint stipulates that for years past the Mills Land & Water Company had irrigated its lands with waters from a stream adjoining its holdings, and that the construction of the new ditches by the Talbert Drainage District threatens to divert this water, and if carried to completion will cut off forever its riparian rights to the irrigating supply. A temporary injunction is asked for to stop the drainage district canal, and a permanent injunction to safeguard the Mills Company's interests in the future. The suit will probably make a test of the extent of the powers of the drainage district in digging canals and diverting water from ranch properties, whose owners are adverse to the scheme.

CEMETERY PROTEST.

A storm of protest has been raised among property owners and residents on North Main street against the proposed establishment of a new cemetery half way between Santa Ana and Orange on the Hargrave ranch. A party of local promoters, numbering about twenty, has worked up the details of the plan, arranging for the formation of a joint stock company to buy the twenty-one acres. An option has already been secured on the place and the original projectors are making efforts to close the deal as promptly as possible.

Meanwhile residents adjacent to the new graveyard-to-be are doing everything to block the success of the scheme. Formal protests have been lodged with the owner of the ranch and a petition to the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce is contemplated, asking that body to use its influence against locating the cemetery in such a place. The objectors point out that a cemetery on Main street would practically mean an invasion of the residential section and would cause a deterioration of property values there.

The promoters on the other hand urge that a new graveyard will be an residential section and would cause a early necessity and that inasmuch as any location will be opposed by adjoining property owners, the Main-street site offers no more objection than would any other.

MARRIAGES IN MULTIPLE.

Justice of the Peace Smithwick's office was invaded last night and today with swains and maidens seeking to plight their troths. With one exception they were from outside points, coming here to avoid the attention of their friends. Last night ceremonies were performed for James W. Planet, aged 36, and Isenna Planet, aged 28, both of Santa Ana; for Custer McComas, aged 27, and Rose D. Smith, aged 20; both of Los Angeles; for Harry Ridgway, aged 56, and Mary E. Disbrow, aged 53, both of Los Angeles. Today Alonzo E. Booth, aged 22, and Eulilia Parsons, aged 19, both from the Angel City were made happy.

SANTA ANA JOTTINGS.

City Engineer V. L. Steward returned with a pair of crutches yesterday from his vacation trip to the Portland fair. While visiting friends in Astoria he was kicked in the leg by a vicious horse and as a result is denied the use of the injured member.

C. Harter, aged 76, passed away Tuesday night at his home near McPherson and was buried this afternoon.

Pharmacists throughout the county are filing their credentials with the county clerk in accordance with the provisions of the new State law.

CORONA.

NEW BANK ORGANIZED.

CORONA, July 27.—The First National Bank of Corona, with capital stock of $25,000, has organized with the following officers and directors: Ernest H. May, president; Dr. W. Edward Hibbard, vice-president; John P. Key, cashier; Wilson C. Patterson and A. J. Ware. The new institution will be ready for business early in August.

CIRCLE CITY BRIEFS.

During an operation following a lingering illness of typhoid fever, Mrs. Marie Andrews Dill, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Andrews of Corona, died in Greenwood, B. C., Tuesday, aged 28 years. Mrs. Dill was formerly a teacher in the Corona schools. She was well known here as a prepossessing and brilliant young woman. She had lived several years in Canada, since her marriage to Edwin B. Dill of Corona.

At a meeting of the City Trustees Tuesday evening temporary Street Superintendent A. P. Kelley was asked to hold over until the next regular meeting, August 4, when a permanent appointment will be made. No candidate for the office has as yet appeared.

WHO'LL GET THIS CHILD?

STRUGGLE OF CUSTODY ON IN RIVERSIDE COUNTY.

Grandparents, Who Live in Winchester, Say the Father, Into Whose Keeping the Lad Was Committed When His Parents Were Divorced, Is Totally Unfit to Have Him.

RIVERSIDE, July 27.—Waiting for the courts to dispose of his case, little five-year-old Harold King is under the care of Deputy Sheriff Brown and his wife at the County Jail. The child's parents were divorced a few months ago, and the mother's parents are endeavoring to get him away from his father, to whom he was awarded. The case is a well-known one here. Today the judge ordered a stay of proceedings for two weeks, when the petitions of the grandparents will be heard. Until then, the child will remain in the custody of the Sheriff.

In their petition, H. H. Lindenberger and his wife, well-known citizens of Winchester, ask for custody of their grandchild, saying that the father is totally unfit to have a child in charge; that his character is such that the boy would suffer by the association, and that he has no property, or other means of supporting the lad. The petition also states that the mother, Etta L. King, as a result of the cruel treatment at the time of the child's birth, is mentally deranged, and therefore the petitioners want him in their charge.

King, while his wife was still in bed, and when the child was but a week old, is alleged to have moved her and the baby away, among strangers, and deserted her. The woman was destitute for several days, until strangers came to her aid. Then King declared his intention of deserting both mother and child and refused to have any more to do with them. The Lindenbergers took the child, and had him ever since. They think that they have the first right to the child, as the mother is incapable of caring for him, and his father is unfit to do so.

IDYLLWILD ROBBERY.

A mysterious robbery case was reported by telephone from the Idyllwild resort in the San Jacinto Mountains this morning, and Deputy Sheriff Dunham of San Jacinto was sent out to investigate. The message was that a man had been held up near there, beaten severely, and relieved of a gold watch and $50. A second message came soon after, reporting that the victim had not been beaten, but drugged. His name is Gault, of Pasadena, and later reports indicate that his money went astray while he was intoxicated. The true state of affairs still remains to be ferreted out.

IMPROVING FIRE SYSTEM.

A new set of fire apparatus has arrived, and is ready to be installed in the new building that is going to be finished soon. There are ten new boxes, to be placed at various points about town, and a powerful storage battery, to be placed in the new building. As the present power at times is far from satisfactory, the new system will be a big improvement. In addition to this, a new series of fire hydrants is being placed on the west side of town. It will be completed in about two weeks, and will improve the fire-fighting facilities of that section. A few of them are in already, and have been tested. They are connected with the new twelve-inch main from the reservoir on Rubidoux Mountain, as well as with the regular six-inch city main. The twelve-inch main has a strong pressure, and the hydrants will be installed along its course—down Tenth to Locust, and down Locust to Fifth, where it subdivides.

CRUELLY DESERT SMALL CHILD.

INHUMAN PARENTS LEAVE LITTLE ONE IN BARN.

Fillmore Constable Finds Little Girl and Compels Heartless Ones to Take Her Back—Humane Society May Act in Behalf of the Little One. Death of Pioneer.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, July 27.—There was a cruel attempt at desertion at Fillmore, in this county, this week. Monday a family traveling in a wagon drove into the town of Fillmore and pitched their camp near the barn of Constable Trotter. Later the outfit moved off and an hour afterward Mr. Trotter had occasion to go to his barn, where he found a little girl about 8 years of age sobbing as though heartbroken. In answer to questions she said she had been one of the party of campers, but that her parents had left her and told her to stay there. The case was a strange one to the constable and he immediately started out to overhaul the travelers and make inquiries. He caught them a few miles down the road and they coolly told him that they had abandoned the child, because she could not be controlled by them. They thought that she ought to be in the reform school. The officer was thunderstruck at the unfeeling conduct of the parents and made them return and take the little one along with them. Officers along the road toward Santa Barbara, whither the family was headed, have been warned to keep a lookout for the heartless outfit and see that they do not abandon the child at some other point. The Humane Society of this city is on the watch for the crowd and will make it warm for the parents if they attempt a desertion here.

PASSING OF PIONEER.

Mrs. Anna M. Sheridan, a pioneer resident of this city, passed away at an early hour this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Newby, in her eighty-first year. The deceased had been in feeble health for many months, but up to the last day she was up and about the house. Her daughter was with her late last night and left her sleeping peacefully and at 6 o'clock this morning found her still in the same position and sleeping the last sleep. She had quietly passed away without awakening Mrs. Sheridan was a most popular woman and had many warm friends in the community. She was a widow, her husband having died some years ago. He lost his life in the wreck of the "Los Angeles" off Point Sur in 1894. Mrs. Sheridan was Anna Byrne, of Louisville, Ky., where she was married in 1843. A year later with her husband and babe she removed to St. Joseph, Mo., then a cluster of log houses. The family resided in that city until 1873, where six other children were born to them. At that date they removed to Ventura county, where the family has since made its home. Seven children survive, four sons and three daughters, Mrs. J. F. Newby, Mrs. Julia Hare and Mrs. F. W. Baker of this city, J. J. Sheridan of St. Joseph, Mo.; E. M. Sheridan, Times correspondent of this place, Sol. N. Sheridan of the Honolulu Advertiser, and Frank Sheridan of the San Francisco Bulletin.

VENTURA BRIEFS.

C. H. Bailey has brought suit against the Bank of Ventura to compel a reissue of lost stock of that institution. Mr. Bailey is now a resident of San Francisco, but formerly resided here, and is a man of considerable means. In 1895 he acquired fifty shares of the capital stock of the bank, valued on the face at $100 per share, but worth now considerably more. Three years ago the certificate held by Mr. Bailey was lost. He now asks that the court compel the bank to reissue the certificate without cost to the defendant.

Mrs. Josie Machado, who fled from San Diego, and who is wanted there to answer a charge of adultery, was arrested in Oxnard last night by the sheriff and placed in jail here. An officer from San Diego will arrive this evening to take her back to that city. The officers here have been on a hunt for the woman, who is about 25 years of age, and prepossessing, for several days.

Supervisor Sloeson, of the government reservation, has received information from Washington that pasturing sheep on the reservation will not be allowed.

SANTA BARBARA.

FORESTRY MAN TRANSFERRED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, July 27.—Col. B. F. Crawshaw, who has for seven years been forest supervisor, and only lately transferred to other duties in the forestry service, has been transferred from the forestry department to the immigration service. He will leave within a few days for Texas where he will begin his new duties, in an effort to protect the international lines from invasion by Chinese under the new Chinese exclusion laws.

Col. Crawshaw was the first forest supervisor of the Santa Barbara reserves.

SANTA BARBARA BRIEFS.

D. G. Cook of St. Louis is staying at the Potter.

The Chamber of Commerce is seeking to have a United States weather bureau stationed here.

A party of automobilists from Fresno were in the city yesterday. They arrived late Tuesday night, having come down the coast in three large automobiles, two White steam touring cars with cape hood and canopy tops, and a Pierce Arrow. In the party were: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Eden and daughter, Miss O. Eden, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Chance, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. NEW MASONIC TEMPLE.

Corner-stone Will be Laid Tomorrow With Appropriate Formal Exercises by Grand Lodge.

The Hollenbeck Masonic Temple Association will lay the cornerstone of its new edifice Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Motley H. Flint, deputy grand master of the California Free Masons, will officiate at the ceremonies which will be conducted by the Grand Lodge, with the Los Angeles Commandery of Knights Templar acting as escort.

The presentation will be made by Leo Youngworth, present master of Hollenbeck Lodge. Charles L. Logan will deliver the oration. Music will be furnished by a band of twenty pieces, assisted by the Masonic quartette, conducted by Prof. William Chick.

Masons from all over Southern California have been invited to attend. The Grand Lodge will convene at the lodgeroom of Hollenbeck Lodge at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon. Refreshments will be served after the exercises.

Twain's Statue to Adam.

"It is long ago—thirty years. Mr. Darwin's 'Descent of Man' had been in print five or six years, and the storm of indignation raised by it was still raging in pulpits and periodicals. In tracing the genesis of the human race back to its sources, Mr. Darwin had left Adam out altogether. We had monkeys, and 'missing links,' and plenty of other kinds of ancestors, but no Adam. Jesting with Mr. Beecher and other friends in Elmira, I said there seemed to be a likelihood that the world would discard Adam and accept the monkey, and that in course of time Adam's very name would be forgotten in the earth; therefore, this calamity ought to be averted; a monument would accomplish this, and Elmira ought not to waste this honorable opportunity to do Adam a favor and herself a credit."

Whereupon two banks came forward and proposed that such a monument should actually be erected (at a cost of $25,000,) of indestructible material, as a business advertisement of the town. "It would be the only monument on the planet to Adam, and in the matter of interest and impressiveness could never have a rival until somebody should set up a monument to the Milky Way." How it would attract visitors—and customers! Mark framed a humble and beseeching memorial to Congress for help; the two bankers came forward with the promise of $5000 and $2500, respectively, but somehow Adam is still without a statute in Elmira.—[Harper's Weekly.

A disastrous fire occurred yesterday morning at Firnie, B. C., destroying many buildings of the town, including the Fernie Free Press office and the Northern Pacific office. The loss is $50,000.

AN UGLY THREAT

A Tinsmith Alarmed by the Trembling of His Limbs.

Finds Out How to Regain Control of His Nerves and is Freed From the Greatest Anxiety.

It is a much easier task to meet the attack of an open enemy than to dwell in constant dread of an assault in the dark that is vaguely hinted at and may come at the first unguarded moment. Hints of possible nervous break-down may well terrify any workingman, for his command over his nerves is a large part of his capital. Mr. William Browne, of No. 1019 Lincoln street, St. Joseph, Mo., is an expert tinner in the employ of the National Biscuit Co. He tells the following story of a trying experience:

"In the spring of 1902," he says, "while I was regularly working at my trade, I grew somewhat careless in my habits of eating and drinking, and finally found that my appetite was fickle, a bad taste lingered in my mouth, my nerves twitched and were beyond my control, my kidneys were out of order and cold sweats would break out over my body at odd times. Perhaps, while I stood talking with someone, this trembling of the limbs, and profuse sweating, and a severe chill would seize me. I became alarmed at my condition and, having read an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I got a box and began to use them. They helped me at once. After I had used one box the twitching of the nerves, the trouble with the stomach and the cold sweats stopped and have not reappeared, and my appetite is good. I have told several friends that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are all right and I recommend them to everybody."

Much has been said and written recently about medicines that contain alcohol, and, while most of the criticism has been unnecessarily alarming, it is evident that a remedy in pill form is certain to be free from objection on this score. Furthermore, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are absolutely guaranteed to be entirely harmless to the most delicate constitution and may be taken without fear. They have cured thousands of cases and if you will write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., stating your trouble, you will receive a frank reply. If the pills will cure you, proof will be furnished; if they are not suited for your trouble, you will be honestly told so.

The Beneficial Effects

Of My Treatment are at once noticed and are progressive and permanent.

I get at the exact cause and my treatment personally given touches the very core of chronic conditions.

I Have For Years

contended that personal treatment is the only reliable method of effecting a cure of chronic diseases and the good results I obtain more than verify this statement.

Functional Decline

My treatment for weak men accomplishes more in two to four weeks than could ever be hoped for by guessing through the mail. I see and know that each treatment has its effect. Good results cannot be had in any other way. The methods I use are the most rational, direct and certain, whereby functional difficulties may be removed.

STRICTURE—Urethral obstruction, I effect a complete cure by removing all inflammation, soreness and diseased membrane; my treatment is the most effective and brings immediate results.

CONTRACTED DISEASES—I cure in a few days' time; when allowed to become chronic they are destructive to the reproductive system; stricture is a direct result of improper treatment. I remove every vestige of poison, and the cure is permanent.

BLOOD DISEASES, kidney and bladder troubles, ruptures, piles fistula and nervous conditions brought on by dissipation, excesses and wrong living.

My offices are the best equipped and my facilities are unsurpassed.

Vital Decline Can be Cured

Vital decline, commonly called weakness, is the result of a diseased condition. The disturbing cause is nearly always found in the prostate gland, where the nerve center is located. The prostate becomes affected by one or more local diseases. Indigestion, carcoele, varicocele, etc. We published years ago the first information ever given out on prostatic troubles as the cause of vital weakness; since that time our theories have been adopted by all the best Eastern specialists, and at the same time every pretended specialist copies our advertisements, knowing absolutely nothing of our successful means for relieving men of this trouble. No one but a thorough specialist can succeed in curing these conditions. Anybody can advertise, but the genuine specialist only can satisfy the patient and give him value received.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR FORMER PASADENA OFFICIAL.

Mayor Waterhouse Declares That A. T. Dickey, Erstwhile City Electrician, Has Been Grafting and Begins Criminal Proceedings Against Him.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 28 South Raymond Avenue, July 23.—Mayor Waterhouse called at the office of the District Attorney in Los Angeles yesterday and after a conference with Mr. Fredericks obtained a complaint against A. T. Dickey, until lately the City Electrician of Pasadena, for embezzlement. Later in the day the Mayor swore to the complaint before Justice Congdon, and a warrant for the arrest of Dickey was issued.

Before Dickey was retired from office some suspicions regarding his administration had been afloat, and Mayor Waterhouse quietly investigated and discovered a good many discrepancies in the affairs of the City Electrician's office. When charged with wrongdoing Dickey strenuously protested his innocence, but ultimately his irregularities were carried right home to him, and when brought again on the carpet before the Mayor yesterday morning, he confessed to having embezzled $300. Whether that sum is the extent of his peculations has not yet been revealed, and it will need a thorough overhauling of the books of his office.

The specific charge of felony upon which a complaint was issued to Mayor Waterhouse was based upon a comparatively recent act of peculation by Dickey. It is alleged that on April 10 he collected for the city $10 from one Durrand, and thereupon issued a certificate showing that the wiring had been installed, inspected and approved. This certificate or receipt was obtained from Durrand, but upon reference to the stub book it was discovered that this particular stub had been torn out. The $10 had been shoved by Dickey down in his jeans.

A number of other similar cases have been traced to the reckless City Electrician, and during his term of office he avidently was making a handsome income out of the city, apart from his official salary.

It is apparent that Dickey is either very reckless or a very hardened offender, for it was only a few months ago—February 18 last—that Judge Conrey instructed counsel for Mrs. Dickey, in her application for divorce, that he call the attention of the District Attorney of San Francisco to the fact that Arthur T. Dickey, the defendant in the case, had been, as it appeared, guilty of gross perjury.

In spite of the fact that he had written a letter dated April 12, 1902, to his wife at Monrovia, in which he had used the most affectionate terms, three days later he began suit against his wife in San Francisco charging desertion. While on the witness stand Dickey was reported to have testified that his wife had gone to Portland, from there to Seattle and Tacoma, and from there had returned to her home at St. Paul. A little later Dickey is charged with having said that his wife went to Chicago, and inasmuch as she could not be found in Chicago, the usual legal notice of the case was published in the papers at that point, which, naturally enough, Mrs. Dickey, in Southern California, didn't see. Dickey got his decree of divorce on August 25, 1902, and his wife when she learned of it took steps to have matters straightened out.

The exposé of Dickey's crookedness in connection with his divorce proceedings is said to have been a decided factor in leading up to his present undoing. Mayor Waterhouse is rigid in his ideas of probity whether in a man's home or his public relations, and when it became public property that Judge Conrey had stated that his acts constituted "as clear a case of perjury as had ever come before the court, it did seem to the Mayor anomalous that Dickey should play such a part in his private relations and be a model of straightforwardness in his public capacity. Investigation followed, and with the result as stated.

MORE CAREFUL NOW.

As an outcome of the alleged disclosures revealed in the circumstances surrounding the case against former City Electrician A. T. Dickey, City Auditor Kernaghan has decided to discontinue the practice of countersigning demands in blank by the wholesale. According to what appears to have been long established precedent, blanks were already countersigned by the Auditor and had simply to be filled in by an official to make them good. Auditor Kernaghan, in a communication to the offices of City Treasurer, City Electrician and Boiling and Plumbing Inspector, calls attention to the matter as follows:

"I beg to say that on coming into office on June 20, last, I found a custom prevailing in the Auditor's office of signing licenses and permits in blank. I did not wish to act hastily in the matter, but my conclusion is that after having considered the matter that the licenses and permits when money is to be paid to any officer or board, should be countersigned in this office before they are issued. You will please see that the documents referred to that are issued from your office are countersigned by the Auditor or his deputy before they are finally issued, but after they are filled out."

SAFE BLOWERS OPERATE.

A daring attempt to break open the safe in the depot office of the Salt Lake, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway on West Colorado street Sunday night, was not discovered yesterday morning. When the agent went to work yesterday morning he found that a hole had been drilled partially through, near the combination, and a quantity of powder in the safe and a candle were found on the floor. The would-be crackers apparently had been frightened from their job by the proximity of the car to the main business street. No small amount of money was in the safe at the time.

SPECTACULAR RUNAWAY.

A buck horse, flecked with foam, dashed through the business section of Pasadena at break-neck speed about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and after the exciting and spirited chase of two officers and a fire commissioner, who last seen was still running out Lamanda Park. The horse, which was a young and beautiful animal turned into Colorado street and south, with only the hames and part of the harness on, the lines and a piece of the neckband and the horse's hoofs, which were prolong his fright with each jump. The ownership of the animal has been learned.

Former City Electrician A. T. Dickey of Pasadena.

SCOFIELD FOUND GUILTY.

Early in Justice Congdon's court yesterday afternoon adjudged Edward Scofield guilty of witnessing the cock fight at the Hunter ranch during which J. B. Frye was killed a year ago last May. The complaint was sworn to by Humane Officer N. W. Zimmer of the S. P. C. A. and the trial yesterday was the finale of a long series of continuances and one change of venue. Judge Congdon will pronounce sentence Saturday.

PASADENA IN BRIEF.

Deputy City Engineer Ramel, whose resignation was placed in the hands of the Mayor simultaneously with that of his chief, declares he was approached by Mayor Waterhouse with a request that he remain in office for thirty days longer, which he refused to do.

Miss May Sutton, the tennis champion, who has captured the Old World's honors, is expected home early in September, and a big public reception is being planned in honor of her homecoming.

Fred H. Hayes, the Pasadena plumber, who disappeared from home last Monday under peculiar circumstances, was located yesterday evening in a West Seventh street lodging-house in Los Angeles, where he had been left by a stranger, who went away. The landlord identified the missing man by a card in his pocket, and telephoned Mrs. Hayes, who left immediately for Los Angeles. It appears the man was drugged and robbed for his money, somewhere on the Arcadia road. His physical condition is such that he could not be removed to Pasadena, and he cannot remember what has happened to him.

Mrs. Judson S. Gibbs of South Pasadena, residing on Fremont avenue, near the Raymond Hotel, has fears for the safety of her husband, Dr. Judson Gibbs, who left about two months ago for an exploring trip into the desert and has not been heard from since June 22.

Judge Albert P. Gladden, who is a guest at the Guirnalda Hotel, was slightly injured by falling from an electric car on Colorado street yesterday evening. Drs. Newcomb and Rowland attended him.

Dr. Stanley Black was chosen City Health Officer at a meeting of the Health Board last night.

Mrs. Zettella Green of North Madison avenue has asked for a warrant for the arrest of her son by a former marriage, Carl Hoffman, charging that he struck her during an altercation over his alleged infatuation for a young woman with whom he has been going.

CATALINA ISLAND.

ISTHMUS INCIDENTS.

AVALON, July 27.—In addition to the Tuesday and Friday barbecue excursions to the Isthmus this season, the steamer Hermosa makes a daily trip in the afternoon. She carries an orchestra which furnishes music for dancing at the pavilion there from 7 to 9:30 p.m., returning to Avalon at 11 o'clock. This afternoon in addition to the regular travel, a party of Metropole Hotel guests went up there. They were: Mrs. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Van Landingham, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Marchand, Mrs. Morgan and daughter, Mrs. Robinson, Miss Payne, Miss Stewart, Miss Louise Nixon Hill, Messrs. C. H. White, Frank Warner and D. Ryerson McDonald.

Miss Elizabeth Gregory is entertaining a number of guests at her cottage on Summer avenue, among them Miss Isabella Curl of Los Angeles, R. D. Clark and Miss Endora Clark of Macpherson, Kan., and Miss Belle Crowell of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Magee and Miss Dorothy Magee are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Monlux of Poppy Lodge.

J. H. Blackwood, manager of the Belasco Theater, Los Angeles, and Thomas Oberly, leading man of the same theater, are enjoying a vacation at the Metropole.

David Louven, wife and children, Misses C. Ebert, Birdie Wiel of St. Louis and Silvia Vireck of Altadena are guests at the Metropole.

Mrs. W. S. Tupper and Mrs. H. M. Field of Los Angeles are at the Metropole.

Dr. D. K. Dickinson is spending a month's vacation here with his family. Yesterday, besides members of his family, he entertained with a launch ride Mrs. W. E. DeGroot, Mrs. E. M. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Marchand, Miss Payne, Miss Baum, Frank Warner and Louis Tolhurst.

William Buhlert and wife of San Francisco are guests at the Grand View.

COVINA.

BOARDING-HOUSE BLAZE.

COVINA, July 27.—A smart blaze caused by an explosion of gasoline in a rear room of the Shank boarding-house gave the members of the volunteer fire department a quick run shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Shank, the owner of the property, was cleaning a carpet with gasoline, the room being dark, and forgetful of the fumes of the gasoline, she thoughtlessly struck a match to light a candle, causing an instant explosion. She succeeded in throwing the can of gasoline through the window before it ignited and this act probably saved the house and her own life. The actual damage was slight.

VENICE.

VENICE, July 27.—N. O. Nelson spoke at the assembly this morning on "What Kind of a Church Would the Workingman Attend?" He said the primitive church was a preparatory school for the return of Jesus to rule over the earth.

"The oppressed, disconsolate, poor, credulous working people accepted a brief hell on earth to avoid hell eternal," he said. "As a worldly institution the church has assumed other functions than salvation; it is a social altar, a society, a cult. Class conditions and class consciousness rule in church as in business. The classes are apart—the intellectuals and well-to-do on one side, the working people and poor on the other. They can unite only when conditions are equalized. The reconciliation can come only through economic and social equality.

"A church of this world, such as Jesus had, a society of like conditioned and like minded people, acting upon their relations to each other and toward an ideal brotherhood and fraternity and goodness, such a church administered by themselves and guided by a ministering mind on their level, with their aspirations will be welcomed and supported."

Mrs. Dorothea Hayden presented a programme of lyrics this morning. Miss Marthine M. Dietrichson sang the songs of her own northland.

Other features of the day's programme were the band concerts, the address by President Mills, and the soprano solo in the evening by Miss Helen Tappe.

"Madrid: The Evolution of Freedom," was the subject of Mr. Raymond's lecture tonight. He portrayed the golden age of Spain in the fifteenth century, and said that since that time Spain is an example of decadent civilization. The policy of expulsion—Spain for the Spaniards—beginning with the expulsion of the Jews in 1492, of the Moors in 1570 and 1609, has resulted in industrial, political and intellectual ruin. All the progress made in Spain has been in spite of the Spaniards and by strangers.

Tomorrow morning Mrs. Raymond will tell of the Russian people as revealed in their fairy tales. At the evening session Miss H. C. Palmer of New York will give a reading. This will be followed by Mr. Raymond's lecture on "Brussels: The Conflict With Clericalism." This is to be the closing lecture of the series given by him on foreign capitals.

WITH THE GONDOLAS.

Martin & Rockwell are soon to begin work on the construction of a three-story brick building on Lion and Canal avenues. This will be the first business house in the canal section.

"When Johnny Comes Marching Home" took the popular fancy at tonight's concert given by Arend's Venice Band in the amphitheater.

MONROVIA.

MORE NERVES THROUGH FOREST

MONROVIA, July 27.—The protection of the San Gabriel forest reserve is enhanced by a telephone line which now connects Pine Flats with the Monrovia Home Telephone Exchange. Another line will reach from Monrovia through the Deer Park trail to other rangers' camps, to Rincon and from Rincon to Pine Flats, which will enable warning to be quickly given of any incipient fire. The forest supervisor's office of Los Angeles will be quickly notified in case of any accidents in the reserve.

COMMUNITY'S OLDEST HUNTERS.

Two venerable residents of San Gabriel, Ike and Tom Cooper, are up the West Fork of the San Gabriel at the ranger's camp, where the latter has been very sick. The two men went out on a hunting and fishing trip. They are well known as living in the oldest adobe at the old mission town for the past sixty years.

PREACHER EMBARRASSED.

The churches of Monrovia are preparing for a big Bible tent meeting. They will spread the canvas on the corner of Orange and Myrtle avenues, and welcome all denominations. The custom of the summer has been to hold union services of the churches in the evening and out of this grew an amusing mistake of Rev. Graves of the Baptist Church. Sunday evening he looked through his audience and saw a man in somber garb and went at once and invited him to sit with the ministers. The man demurred, slightly embarrassed, and finally explained that he was not a preacher, but an undertaker of El Monte.

POMONA.

'COTS LIGHT, BUT GOOD.

POMONA, July 27.—The apricot crop here has been light this year and the weather has not been favorable for drying, which is about finished now. The Pomona Deciduous Fruit Growers' Association dried 150 tons of green fruit, J. J. White, 75 tons and A. G. Whiting and W. L. Benson as many more. The quality has been the best ever dried here. Loud & Gerling, who have evaporated hundreds of tons in former years, have done nothing this season on account of lack of fruit.

A. L. Archer left last night for a trip to Fort Worth, Tex.

Dallas McClintock, the Pomona boy who was injured in the Bennington explosion at San Diego, is reported as comfortably recovering.

Mrs. A. C. Abbott and daughter will leave for Catalina in a day or two.

Ira C. Carter has gone to Avalon to spend several days with W. F. Boardman of San Francisco.

Morris Keller suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home on South Thomas street last night.

SAN PEDRO.

ANNEXATION DISCUSSED.

SAN PEDRO, July 27.—An important meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held at the City Hall last night for the purpose of discussing the proposed annexation of East San Pedro. Delegations from Terminal and East San Pedro were in attendance and the matter was carefully discussed.

It developed during the discussion that the sentiment of the east side is very much in favor of joining issues with San Pedro and adverse to Long Beach. One of the important objections to annexaton with Long Beach lies in the fact that that city has a very large bonded indebtedness while San Pedro's indebtedness is small.

A committee was appointed to consider the advisability of calling an election to annex not only East San Pedro but the whole of Terminal Island. The sentiment of the residents of the East Side is very much averse to a division of authority and jurisdiction relative to the water front on the inner harbor of San Pedro Bay.

It is probable that before the matter of annexation is finally settled a complicated legal tangle between the rival cities of Long Beach and San Pedro will ensue. The Board of Trustees of this city have already instructed City Attorney Kerr to bring an injunction against the city of Long Beach and the papers will be filed within a few days.

SANTA MONICA.

BUY AS AN INVESTMENT.

SANTA MONICA, July 27.—H. H. Cotton, C. H. Hamilton and C. J. Fox of Los Angeles have invested an amount said to be $12,000 in a frontage of one hundred feet on the west side of Third street just north of Oregon avenue. An eight-room house and two cottages are the improvements on the property.

John J. Stine and Miss Mary Burdick of Pomona were married at the residence of Mrs. C. Crampton on Second street last night. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. O. Jennings.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Tobin of Omaha, who are summering on Third street, died this morning.

George H. Hutton has returned from his Alaskan trip. He went as far as Dawson City, in the interest of the Keating estate.

Local Option for Maine.

Maine's liquor law enforcement commission is busy going from county to county stirring up things. The result is the arrest of many liquor dealers and the imposition of many fines. The outcome of all this activity is likely to be a strong sentiment calling for the resubmission to the people of the whole question of the prohibitory policy. The spectacle of having a commission do the work which the Sheriffs are paid to perform is not generally relished. The ultimate result may be that Maine will come to the local option law which prevails in Massachusetts. There is no doubt that the present order of things constitutes such a farce as does not command the respect of the people.—[Springfield Republican.

Our Ability to do.

Mr. Rockefeller expounds our duty to the Deity by saying that "our requirements are only as He hath given us ability to do." Of course our abilities vary. Some of us are able to do the whole United States, and some must be content with doing a small fraction of the community, while others regard themselves successful if they can do their immediate neighbor. We think Mr. Rockefeller, who seems to speak for the Deity, will grant the assurance of the Lord's favor if we "do" the best we can according to our cramped opportunities, for opportunities as well as abilities must be taken into account.—[Chicago Post.

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Uterine Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Mrs. M. E. Shotwell

Can we dispute the well-known fact that American women are nervous?

How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly;" or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep, you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability. Spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the ovaries and between the shoulders. Loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia. A tendency to cry at the least provocation. All this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. M. E. Shotwell, of 103 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I cannot express the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, headache, loss of appetite. I could not sleep and would walk the floor almost every night.

"I had three doctors and got no better, and life was a burden. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has worked wonders for me.

"I am a well woman, my nervousness is all gone and my friends say I look ten years younger."

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick and weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

LIBRARY BOARD DEFIES.

the president of the Board of Library Directors of her intention to resign, and stated that the board could look for a new librarian at any day. There was some protest upon his part against the summary manner in which Miss Jones treated the matter of the severance of her relations with the library, regardless of whether or not arrangements had been made for a successor.

After confrence between yourself and members of this body, in which the affairs of the public library, the conduct of the then librarian, and the foregoing, as well as her previously expressed intention to resign, were discussed in detail, it was determined that efforts should be made to secure the services of some person qualified for the position, with the result that the appointment with your co-operation and concurrence, tendered to Mr. Charles F. Lummis, who, after considering the offer for upwards of twelve days, informed us that he would in the event of a vacancy, accept the position.

Miss Jones was formally advised that arrangements had been made which would enable the board to make the change in the office of librarian, but that in order to give her ample opportunity to arrange her own affairs, her successor would not enter upon the performance of his duties until September 1, 1905. To enable her to secure employment elsewhere, provision was made for her attendance at the meeting of the American Library Association to be held at the Portland Exhibition before that date, without cost to herself, and it was suggested that she tender her resignation to take effect on the date named, to which she at the time assented, stating that she had always declared that she would resign at any time when requested so to do by any two members of the board. It was thereupon agreed that she should formally present her resignation at the meeting to be held on June 14, 1905, on which date she appeared before us with a request for postponement until June 21, which was readily granted, and on the latter date she positively declined to hand in her resignation.

The experience of this board has satisfied its members that it was essential to the best interests of the library and its patrons that a successor to Miss Jones should be appointed, but with a desire to act with the utmost deliberation and circumspection in the premises, we had previously detailed the entire situation to you, including the grounds upon which the determination for a change was based, and sought from you, as Chief Executive of the city, your advice, which you very kindly and readily granted, and assured us of your full concurrence in our judgment. Upon receipt, therefore, of said declination from Miss Jones, the board, being thoroughly assured that it was vested with full authority so to do, on said last mentioned date, adopted a resolution in which some of the grounds for its action were recited, removing her from the office of librarian. This resolution was officially communicated to Miss Jones, and Mr. Charles F. Lummis was formally appointed to fill the vacancy created thereby.

It will thus be observed that, notwithstanding the fact that this board is authorized by City Charter to remove the librarian for good cause, and that the courts, in construing a similar provision, have held that it not only fails to require any hearing or proceeding, but strongly implies that the removal shall be summary and without any antecedent proceeding, and, notwithstanding the further fact that our negotiations with Mr. Lummis were occasioned by the expression to the board by Miss Jones of her intention to resign, we did not proceed summarily to act upon our own well-established opinion that there was good cause for her removal, and that the service would be benefited thereby, but proceeded with the utmost deliberation and with your distinguished consideration and approval of the correctness of our course, backed by the opinion of the City Attorney that it was entirely regular.

Considerable public sentiment having been aroused, members of this body, from time to time, after the removal of Miss Jones, consulted with you in reference to the matter, and on all of said occasions were informed by you of your hearty concurrence in our every action, and your approval thereof, and, while we have never, at any time shrunk from the fullest and most complete investigation, we have been constantly assured by you that our action having been, in your opinion, thoroughly justified, no public investigation was necessary and none would be had. Consequently your determination for such investigation, published on Tuesday last, was somewhat unexpected, and as we were not consulted concerning the same, and have had no opportunity for the presentation of our views in regard thereto, we take this occasion of presenting to you some suggestions which perhaps have escaped your attention.

There are and can be but two propositions involved in this matter:

First—Was the removal authorized by law; and,

Second—Was it prompted by proper motives.

As to the first, the City Attorney advises in the affirmative.

As to the second, the only method of establishing such motives is by an inquiry into the circumstances surrounding our action, and as you were fully advised as to every step taken in the course of the proceeding, and were freely consulted in regard thereto, your judgment having been adopted and acted upon, you are an important and well-nigh indispensable witness for the purpose of establishing the motives which inspired our action, and inquiry which would simply develop facts already within your personal knowledge would be an idle ceremony.

Then again, we respectfully call Your Honor's attention to the fact that under the law Your Honor has not the power to secure the issuance of any subpoenas or other process which would compel the attendance before an investigating body of such witnesses as are acquainted with facts concerning the administration of the public library, but who, for business, personal, or other reasons are nevertheless unwilling to appear, but whose testimony it is absolutely essential to secure in order that all the facts may be fully and properly presented to the investigating body, and to the end that the public may have the benefit of learning all of the facts which prompted the library board in making the change hereinbefore referred to.

We do not, and we know you do not, shrink from the fullest and most complete investigation of any act which is now brought in question, but we respectfully suggest that in view of the embarrassment which might be occasioned by your being called as a witness in a matter over which you are presiding as judge, that other arrangements be made than one apparently now contemplated.

In conclusion, we invite the fullest investigation of the matter in question, or of any other act of our administration, but respectfully submit that when such investigation is had we have the moral and constitutional right to require that it take place before a lawfully constituted tribunal, vested with full power to secure the production of evidence, the attendance of witnesses, and in the conduct of whose proceedings the rights of all parties will be equally protected, and whose conclusion when reached will be determinative of the matters in controversy.

Very respectfully,

[Signed] SIEGFRIED G. MARSHUTZ,

Vindicated too Often.

A man named Bill was always getting in trouble. "But," he would say to his friends, afterward, "I was vindicated. Wicked men said cruel things about me, but I was vindicated." After this had happened seven or eight times, an old fellow said: "Bill, I quit you right here. You have been vindicated oftener than becomes an honest man."—[Atchison Globe.

REMEDY FOR HAY FEVER

After Trying Other Treatments Hyomei Was Used with Perfect Success.

J. F. Forbes, a well-known western railroad man, whose home is at McCook, Neb., writes: "I have never had any relief from any remedy for hay fever, even temporarily, until I discovered the merits of Hyomei. I always recommend it when occasion requires."

There is no offensive or dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. This reliable remedy for the cure of all diseases of the respiratory organs is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that the air taken into the throat and lungs is like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts, where hay fever is unknown.

The fact that your druggist agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei without success, should inspire confidence in its power to effect a cure. A complete outfit costs only $1.00 and extra bottles but 50 cents.

If you cannot get Hyomei from your druggist, it will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, $1.00, for complete outfit. 50 cents for extra bottles. THE R. T. BOOTH CO., Hyomei bldg., Ithaca, N. Y.

Universal interest was manifested in the security at yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, with the result that the bidding was widely distributed, though the oil stocks and the miscellaneous list claimed most attention. Transactions were heavier than they have been in many days and covered a wide range of securities.

Associated made another decline, closing at 95¾. Central went off 2 points; but Continental gained ¼. Mexican Petroleum went up several points; Reed Crude lost one point; Union Lands ¼ and United Petroleum 1¼.

Butte Lode and Greene Consolidated both stiffened.

American National Bank lost ½, but Broadway Bank and Trust gained 2 points, closing at the highest offerings.

San Diego Home Telephone bonds and United States Long Distance Telephones each went off a point.

Edison Electric preferred went up ¼, but the common lost a point. Los Angeles Home Telephone gained 1¼, and Santa Monica Home Telephone went down ½ points, closing at 99 without offerings. United States Long Distance Telephone closed at 62, though sales on the exchange were made at 63 and on the street at 64.

The sales were as follows: 20 shares of Home Telephone at 67¼; 30 United States Long Distance Telephone 63 and 25 shares on the street at 64; 2417 Mexican Petroleum, 81 to 84¾; 2 bonds Corona Power and Water, 93¾, and 9 on the street at the same figure; 3 Home Telephone bonds, 95; 5000 Johnnie Consolidated, 12¾ to 13¾; 10,000 Associated at 95¾ to 96¼.

A GREAT FUTURE. "In all my experience as a member of stock exchanges and boards of trade, it looks to me, that with the excellent class of securities which you have listed here, that the Los Angeles Stock Exchange has a great future, before it. These securities are away below what similar securities in the East sell at, but that is because money is higher here."

This was said yesterday afternoon by L. D. Miller, who for many years has been a member of the Chicago Stock Exchange and of the Board of Trade of the same city. Mr. Miller came to Los Angeles a short time ago and is so favorably impressed with the condition of things here, and with Southern California in general, he has decided to take up his abode here. Mr. Miller is a broker and will be admitted to membership on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange in a few days.

ASSIGNMENT OF NOTE. The Supreme Court of Kansas held, in the case of Manley vs. Park, that one who holds the full legal title to a promissory note by assignment is entitled to maintain an action thereon against the maker although he has no beneficial interest in the proceeds, and the assignment was made to enable him to realize on the claim in the interest of the original payee. —[Bradstreet's.

STOCK CONVERSION. In an action for the conversion of certain shares of capital stock by the defendant, the Supreme Court of Minnesota held (Humphreys vs. Minnesota Clay Company) that the complaint stated a cause of action although it failed to allege the value of the stock in addition to the damages sustained by the plaintiff. The court further held that the value of an article is ordinarily to be proved by its market value, but where it has none, what it sells for in a bona fide transaction is relevant to prove its value.—[Bradstreet's.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The receipts for July 26 as reported by the Produce Exchange were: Eggs, 92 cases; butter, 13,150 lbs.; cheese, 11,280; fresh potatoes, 95 sacks; sweet potatoes, 7 crates, 10 sacks; onions and beans, none.

Local ranch eggs were selling at 26 cents; extra fancy, 27.

Butter is moving freely despite the higher prices, some of the dealers being obliged to draw upon storage to meet the demand. No Coast has been coming in for a day or two and none is expected until tomorrow, which has strengthened the demand for valley, and the market at the price quoted.

Plums were in good demand and steady at 1.75 for Satsumas and almost, and 75 cents for peach plums.

Fancy apricots were moving freely at 75 cents, but common stocks were jobbing at 50 cents.

Peaches were slightly improved in tone, jobbing at 60 to 1.00.

There was no marked change in apples, stocks moving freely at 60 cents in picking boxes and 1.25 in peach boxes.

Bartlett pears were jobbing at 1.00 to 1.15.

Watermelons met a good buying interest at 2 cents, and cantaloupes were easier at 1.00 to 1.50.

Tropico strawberries were steady at 1.50, and Monetaus were weaker at 75 to 1.00. Raspberries were about steady at 9 to 10 cents, and blackberries at 1.25 to 1.50.

Thompson's seedless grapes were only in moderate demand and stocks were jobbing at 1.10 to 1.25; extra fancy, 1.30.

Lemons were extremely scarce and in strong demand, stocks moving freely at 2.50 to 2.75.

Bananas were in strong undertone, at 4 to 4¼ cents.

A shipment of 24,000 pounds of Herkimer county, New York, full cream cheese arrived, and was jobbing at 14 cents. The cheese is showing an improved feeling.

Potatoes continue weak at the prices quoted, but there is a good deal of poor stock on the market.

Onions are firm with very little stock arriving.

Tomatoes were jobbing at 40 to 50 cents; cabbage 30 to 40 cents; cucumbers 25 to 35 cents; peas 4 to 5 cents; beans, 3¼ to 3½ cents; chiles 11¼ to 12 cents; eggplant 2 to 4 cents and weak.

Poultry is arriving in abundance and dealers reported the market weak.

The fish market was oversupplied with barracouda, but small fish were scarce. Northern receipts were light, crabs plenty.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, July 27.—Something of inanitation appeared at times in the stock market today, but notwithstanding this appearance, the total sales for the day reveals small increase in the actual volume of the market. The only movement of special stocks of secondary importances was what gave color to the speculation, and it will be seen that many of the most prominent stocks on the exchange were dealt in to small extent and that the majority of the list as a whole was wholly overcome. Without any widespread general interest in the market, spotty movements, such as those of today, are naturally interpreted as coming from professional operations of no more or less artificial character.

The uplift of prices was accomplished, however, without meeting any important pressure to realize, with the notable exception of the Erie stocks, which were subjected to the profit taking which has proved inevitable in all recent advances on the publication of good news. But while the Eries themselves were backward the placing of the second preferred stock on the dividend list by yesterday's declarations of a full year's dividend was undoubtedly the primary cause of encouraging the attempt to initiate a movement for a rise. When the action of the Erie directors is considered as a supplement to the increased dividends in Reading, Baltimore and Ohio and Amalgamated Copper and the retention of Illinois Central of what has been called an extra disbursement and designed to celebrate a notable occasion for the company, there is presented quite a comprehensive array of evidence of the confidence existing among railroad managers in the stability of the conditions which have lifted the profits of operation so as to enable increased disbursements to stockholders. While some of the western railroads shared in the upward impulse, the stocks of the eastern and southern trunk lines were the conspicuous features of the strength, the so-called differential lines enjoying the widest movements. The intimation that the money control of these railroads was asserting itself to force a settlement of the war of rates which has been in force for some time was believed to afford a basis for today's movement. No attention was paid to reports of additional quarantine measures against the spread of yellow fever in the South. Further opinions of damage to the crops were without effect unless in restricting the activity of the market. Foreign exchange reacted sharply, in spite of the hardening of London discounts, and some attention was paid to reports of peace prospects and especially to the rise of Russian bonds in Paris. The taking of the day's profits involved some inroads upon prices in the last hour of trading, but the closing tone was firm. Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $3,198,000. United States new 4's advanced ¼ on call.

Clark and Willis G. Emerson are at the Palace Hotel. Miss J. W. Drunson, Miss Alice K. Parsons and Miss Grace A. Drunen are at the St. Francis.

Bland and Delightful.

It seems to be as natural for Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte to think clearly and act justly as it is for a fish to swim or for a bird to fly. He has early begun to exhibit to the country the edifying spectacle of a public officer disposing of the business of his office according to the simplest rules of common sense and square dealing, and with a disregard of political influences and interests that is childlike, bland, and delightful.

For instance, he has just reinstated Civil Engineers J. W. G. Walker and F. R. Harris at the posts from which they were not long since removed or transferred at the request of contractors who complained that their inspection of work and supplies was annoyingly rigid. In stating his reasons for reversing the former department order Secretay Bonaparte says:

"The engineers Walker and Harris have been vigilant and conscientious in discharge of their duties and have held the contractor to the specifications.

"This contractor thus repeatedly requested that these supervisors of its work be replaced by others, and the department finally complied with his request. Whatever might have been the merits of such action, if taken spontaneously or under other circumstances, I am compelled to look upon it as unfortunate when thus induced and under the circumstances actually existing. In my opinion its moral effect would be probably undesirable for contractors for government work and supervising officers, and, on the whole, unsatisfactory both within and without the service."

That is old-fashioned, sound, straightforward talk. It is good enough to have been written by the superintendent of a private manufacturing concern thinking only of the interests of his employers. To men with a "pull" a Secretary of the Navy who behaves in that way must be a highly objectionable being.—[New York Times.

Rockefeller's Biographer.

But it is impossible that Miss Tarbell should be a full and fair biographer of John Rockefeller. She has too much Pennsylvania crude oil in her blood to admit of it. To show Mr. Rockefeller as he is is a job for a writer of genius; a great portrayer of human character, and entirely calm and unbiased in his attitude. Did you ever read Joseph Conrad's tale of Falk, the man who would live? Falk was a natural monopolist, a man without malice or enmity, who saw things as they were and tried to see to it that the best man should win. He was an honest, worthy man, with a strong yearning after respectability. He had a misfortune. Drifting for months on an unmanageable ship, he was compelled to kill and eat a good many of the crew. It hurt his feelings, but he had to do it. If he had not done it, they would have eaten him, which would not have been right, because he was the best and ablest man aboard and the fittest to survive. Mr. Conrad leaves all sensible readers full of sympathy for Falk and glad of his subsequent success and happiness.

We believe Mr. Conrad is a much more competent and suitable writer to tackle Mr. Rockefeller than Miss Tarbell will ever be.—[Life.

Right Kind of Immigrants.

The swiftest process of the laws should be enforced and undesirable immigrants should be excluded, but any question of the desirability of an immigrant should be settled without regard to his race or origin, but on the consideration of his individuality and personality. Then, with laws which interpose no barrier in the way of any man who is likely to become a good citizen, he should be helped to place himself in such a locality and environment that he may have the best possible chances to work out his own salvation and through that the salvation of the whole American nation.—[Boston Transcript.
